300 To Solicit Homes

Child Group To Hold Drive

One of the youngsters helped by the Columbiana County Retarded Children's Council drops a donation into the "Wishing Well" as a prelude to the fund-raising drive planned here next week.

Mrs. Steinmetz is chairman of the door-to-door canvass starting Monday, the first in the city by the council. Another "Wishing Well" is on Main St., Wellsville.

Atty. Paul Tobin of East Liverpool is county chairman.

Some 300 volunteers will conduct the canvass here next week.

Some 15 team captains have been named to set up their soliciting staffs in the various school districts and residential areas. They are:

Mrs. Virginia McDaniels, Taft; Mrs. Wilma Fletcher, Glenmoor; Mrs. Janet Warner, Lincoln; Mrs. Mary Mathey, Pleasant Heights; Mrs. Bernice Deem, LaCroft; Mrs. John Clutter, Klondyke; Mrs. James Johnston and Mrs. Catherine McCall, McKinley, co-captains.

Mrs. Ralph Macal, Horace Mann; Mrs. Betty Davis, Dixonville; Mrs. Wilbert Howell, Neville; Mrs. Martha Dingess, Garfield; Mrs. Lawrence Bickel, Shadyside-Radio Heights; Mrs. William McNutt, Calcutta, and Mrs. John Trainer Jr., Westfield.

James McKinnon, leader, and scouts of Explorer Post 7, will conduct the solicitation of the downtown area.

The volunteers will canvass the homes at their convenience.

This will be the fifth county campaign with $16,000 needed to carry on the council's work for the coming year. Lisbon already has contributed over $1,500; East Palestine's total reached $685 and Salem and Wellsville campaigns were being conducted this week.

The drive 5 years ago raised $2,000. The council's program has expanded since then and it is hoped to add a fourth class of 12 children. The state helps with grants on a per - pupil basis, but only after approval.

Three classes have been operated — at East Liverpool, Salem and Lisbon — but the school will be centralized next term with all 36 children attending classes in the Elkton School building leased from the Beaver Local School District.

The council operates 3 station wagons in hauling the children to and from the classes and they averaged 1,200 miles a week last term.

Spunky Sees 30 Years In Penitentiary

Elusive Desperado Back In Jail, Just As Gabby As Ever

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Gordon (Spunky) Firman, 21, is back in jail again and as gabby as ever, despite a bullet wound in his hip.

"I guess my new address will be on Spring Street, Columbus, Ohio," he told a newsman Friday night after his return from Tuscarawas County.

He meant the state penitentiary. Firman also said he expected about 30 years in sentences on charges in Butler County.

He is charged with kidnaping four teenage boys in Hamilton Aug. 16 and forcing them to go with him to Nelsonville. The car was wrecked but the boys unharmed.

"That wasn't a kidnaping," Firman declared Friday night. "I did not force them to accompany me."

A sheriff's deputy said, however, that Firman forced the youths to accompany him at gunpoint.

Sheriff Paul Pell and prosecutor Robert Marrs returned Firman here by plane Friday from New Philadelphia, near Sherrodsville where Firman was captured.

Firman was shot in the hip by a patrolman in the capture. He grimaced in pain as he was helped from the plane and a burly deputy, Sgt. Burton Gabbard, carried the prisoner to a waiting car.

Although Firman has said he is from Steubenville, he told interviewers Friday night West Virginia is his home state.

But he refused to say if he had been in West Virginia since his escape from the Coshocton County Jail July 26.

Firman's capture came after Mrs. Roberta Wilkin of Sherrodsville wondered why her mother,

Bergholz Man Jailed On False Spunky Clue

STEUBENVILLE — A Bergholz man is in Jefferson County Jail today under six-month sentence for giving false information in the Gordon (Spunky) Firman manhunt.

Ernest Morrow, 49, was also fined $100 and costs at a hearing Friday night in Bergholz mayor's court on the charge filed by the Wintersville State Highway Patrol. Morrow pleaded guilty.

Officers said he called Thursday night, claiming Firman was in a home nearby, shaving and cleaning up. Numerous officers converged on the area and Morrow readily admitted he gave the information falsely.

Officer Considers Himself Lucky

This Pair 'Got Their Man' Despite Spunky's Threats

By CHARLES CRONIN

"I was lucky Spunky wasn't armed with a gun or I probably would have been shot," Charles Amato, 24-year-old special officer on the Wellsville police force, said today after his capture of the hopscotching fugitive Friday in a vacant farm house at Sherrodsville.

AMATO escaped with only scratches of the arm when Gordon (Spunky) Firman lunged at him with a sickle in the farm house that was being searched by the Wellsville officer and James Miller, chief deputy from the Columbiana County sheriff's office in Lisbon.

Amato had been off duty at the time of Spunky's capture which ended a month's search in Southern Ohio communities by police.

While showing Deputy Hyman Wellman of Lisbon the location of Mudtown near Salineville, he joined the search when a radio alarm went out that the fugitive was surrounded near Sherrodsville.

The officers can credit their natural inquisitiveness to the capture of Firman who had been hiding in the upstairs of the farmhouse.

HER HOUSE surrounded by 30 gun-toting policemen, Mrs. Ivy Daugherty told law officers that the building was empty but Amato and Miller later decided to investigate anyway.

A neighbor grabbed Mrs. Daugherty from the porch.

Finding no one downstairs, the two began a room-to-room search of the upstairs. While attempting to open a sewing room closet, Amato heard soft noises of Spunky sliding along a bathroom wall.

Whirling, he was confronted by the fugitive who had earlier sworn he would never be taken alive.

"Spunky, don't make a move," Amato ordered. Spunky had his right arm cocked with a sharp sickle in his hand.

"I'll kill you," Firman declared and lunged at Amato with the sickle. As it grazed his arm, Amato fired his cocked .38-caliber snubnosed pistol, with the bullet smashing into Spunky's right hip.

"JIM, I SHOT him," Amato yelled at Miller, who was searching an adjoining room. Deputy Miller rushed to the room where the shooting took place and ordered, "Rocco, drop that sickle." (Rocco is Firman's pen name.)

Red Czechs Lead Army, Report Says

Secessionist Says U.N. Force Wouldn't Let Him Defend City

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Three hundred troops of Premier Patrice Lumumba's Congo army today captured Bakwanga, capital of the fortnight-old "mineral state" of southeastern Kasai Province, the leader of the secessionist region said.

Albert Kalonji, chief of the breakaway state, said Lumumba's forces had entered his capital at 8 a. m.

He claimed they were led by three officers of the Communist Czechoslovakian army and that the forces included some troops from Guinea, which was contributed to U. N. forces in the Congo.

He also charged that Tunisian troops of the U. N. force in Bakwanga prevented his army from defending the town.

He said all communications between Katanga and Bakwanga had been cut now but it was known that Tunisian troops had disarmed the Bakwanga garrison, confiscated its weapons and prevented it from using the radio station and airfield.

Kalonji refused to admit that the capture of Bakwanga meant the end of his state and said that the remainder of his 800-man army would fight back from other parts of his "republic."

He said he left 10 members of his cabinet in Bakwanga and it was not known what had happened to them.

Kalonji, who flew from Bakwanga to Elisabethville Wednesday, was asked if he would return to his state. He replied: "That depends on the circumstances."

Kalonji appealed to all forces of the free world, especially the United States, Britain, France and the independent states of former French Africa, to send volunteer detachments to help in the fight against "Lumumba aggression."

"I asked Belgium to help, but this appeal has had no results," he said.

Kalonji said he also had asked

County Fair Gate May Hit 28,000

LISBON — Attendance at the Columbiana County Fair may reach 28,000 by the time the curtain goes down tonight on the colorful 115th annual rural spectacle. The Fair Board had hoped for at least 40,000 with the ideal weather.

FRIDAY'S ESTIMATED attendance with paid admissions, passes and children under 12 entering free was set at 4,500 with 1,000 paying into the grandstand for the tractor pull and "Highlights of Broadway" stage show presented for one night.

Steady fairgoers said the show was the best entertainment presented in the past five years. Each act was a headliner in itself, patrons said.

A pony-pull this morning entertained the crowd that was growing as noon approached.

Harness racing started at 1:30 p. m. with eight final heats. A livestock and machinery parade tonight at 7 and a grandstand program at 8 will close the five-day event.

Class A — Bill Kinser of Beloit, first; Homer Laughlin of Lisbon, second; Ed Karlan of Salem, third; Richard Courtney of Damascus, fourth, and Sam Stryffler of Homeworth, fifth.

Class B — Rayney French of Minerva, first; Dennis Karlan of Salem, second; Bob Moser of Hanoverton, third; Gene Kitzmiller of Alliance R.D. 4, fourth, and Bob Withers of Beloit, fifth.

Class C — Bill Kinser, first; Lester Sanor of Salem, second; Ray Sanor of Salem, third; Dennis Karlan of Salem, fourth, and Clarence Barton of Beloit, fifth.

Class D — Marvin Dye of Alliance, first; Kenneth Shoeni of Beloit, second; Gary Martin of Columbiana, third; Jess Martig of Beloit, fourth, and Tom Wallace of Homeworth, fifth.

Prizes in each class were $15, $10, $7.50, $5 and $2.50.

FLOWER WINNERS were Wayne Weingart of Canfield, 50 firsts; Mrs. F. Jay Moore of Lisbon, 12; Mrs. Walter DeRhodes of Leetonia R. D. 2, 11; Ruth Bye of Lisbon, 10; Vincent Judge of Lisbon, 8, and Mrs. J. E. Henderson of Salem R. D., 2.

In grain, seeds, hay and grass silage judging, Willis Rupert of New Waterford won 17 firsts; Margaret Greenisen Salem R. D. 3 and Mark Rupert of New Waterford, one each.

The trophy outstanding poultry achievement, furnished by the Citizens Savings Bank of Columbiana, went to Pat Clark of Salineville R. D. 1.

The plaque for outstanding dairy achievement went to Carol Ritz of East Rochester. It was given by Edwin Copeland.

Weather To Be Nice And Satellite Visible

Pleasant weather is forecast for the next-to-the-last weekend of the summer season and fair skies tonight should make good viewing of the Echo I satellite.

The Ohio weatherman said tonight will be clear and cool and Sunday will be sunny and warmer.

The temperature will hit a rather warm range of 77 to 83 today and tonight's low will be 57 to 62.

Friday's high was 86 degrees and the overnight low 71, according to Dam 8 at Newell.

To get back to the Echo balloon, its first visible pass tonight will be from 9:39 to 9:55, high in the northern sky, west to east, and again from 11:45 to 11:55, west to southeast and high in the north, disappearing in the earth's shadow.

OAS 'Dodges' U.S. Charges Of Cuba Chief

Shaping Resolution Condemning Mr. K Of Rocket Threats

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Latin American foreign ministers today hammered out a draft resolution which would sidestep U.S. charges against Fidel Castro but condemn Nikita Khrushchev for making rocket threats in defense of Cuba.

A compromise worked out by four nations faced possible changes and even bitter debate before being finally approved by the 20 ministers of the Organization of American States.

The proposal specifically denounced the Soviet premier for threatening to rain rockets on the American mainland if the United States intervenes in Cuba.

The United States had called for an outright condemnation of Communist penetration of the Western Hemisphere and charged that Castro was an ally of the Soviet bloc.

The Cuban leader has pledged friendship for the Soviet Union and Red China in defiance of any move by the OAS to rebuke him.

The draft was drawn up by a working committee of ministers from Mexico, Chile, Uruguay and Colombia after a gruelling four-hour session that lasted until 2 a.m.

The proposal was slated to get an airing later today before a 10-nation committee named by the Organization of American States to prepare a final resolution on extracontinental menaces and subversive activities.

Later it will go to the full Council of Ministers meeting here. A widely divided vote may result if the draft fails to meet Cuba's objections.

The move for a compromise came after the 20 OAS ministers split over U.S. demand that they condemn Castro's leftward march for piercing the wall of hemispheric solidarity against Communism.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter ran into opposition with some nations holding out for a watered down draft which would merely condemn "extracontinen-

More U.S. Funds To States

Senate Pushes For Okay Of Medical Care For Aged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders drove for final passage today of a compromise Social Security bill providing increased federal grants to the states to help the needy aged pay for medical care.

Once it is sent to President Eisenhower for his approval, the principal barriers to adjournment of Congress next week will have been cleared away except for a Senate-House deadlock over minimum wage legislation.

The House passed the Social Security measure Friday before recessing until Monday.

But the Senate was called into Saturday session not only to complete action on that bill but also to pass on a disputed resolution expressing disapproval of presidential appointments to the Supreme Court while Congress is not in session.

Republicans have protested that the resolution could be taken as a reflection on President Eisenhower, who gave Chief Justice Earl Warren and two other Supreme Court justices recess appointments.

Chief feature of the Social Security bill is the provision for 200 million dollars a year in federal grants to help finance a limited medical care plan for elderly persons unable to meet their expenses.

Major liberalizing changes in the Social Security system contained in the original Senate bill were eliminated or watered down by a Senate-House conference committee, leaving only some minor revisions for the most part.

Objections voiced by senators disappointed with the compromise showed progress of the bill in the Senate where leaders had hoped to whip it through Friday night.

Earlier, however, the Senate had followed the lead of the House in passing a compromise $3,722,350,000 foreign aid appropriation bill despite a last-minute protest by Eisenhower that it was inadequate for the nation's security.

The vote in the Senate was 57-24, with 5 Republicans joining 52 Democrats in voting for passage. Five Democrats and 19 Republicans voted against passage. The House passed the bill without a roll call vote.

The total in the bill was $559,354,000 less than Eisenhower had asked for. But it was nearly half a billion dollars more than Congress voted last year for military and economic aid to other nations.

Day Before Massillon Game

Parade Sept. 8 To Help Launch Grid Season Here

A parade heralding the arrival of another football season will be held in downtown East Liverpool on Sept. 8, just 24 hours prior to the Potters' opening game at Massillon.

Sponsored by the Blue and White Nonpareil Club, the parade will include bands, floats and convertibles bearing the coaches and team members.

While the event will kick off the football campaign, a sendoff for the Potters also is planned by the club on the Diamond before the team makes the trip to Massillon on Friday, Sept. 9.

Scheduled for 6:30, Thursday's parade will begin at Memorial Auditorium, proceed on Walnut to 5th St., down 5th to Jackson St., along Jackson to 6th St. and then to the American Theater, where the Potter squad will attend a movie.

Free candy will be distributed to youngsters along the parade route. The Little Building will be decorated.

In conjunction with its annual campaign, the Nonpareil club will sponsor a booth on 5th St. where memberships may be purchased.

A total of 650 letters went into the mail yesterday as part of the drive.

George F. Mueller, chairman, said an additional 180 letters will be mailed Monday. The letters include patron and $2 membership tickets.

The goal is 1,000 members. By purchasing membership tickets, fans can help the club in its endeavors to promote better sporting facilities and programs for East Liverpool youth, Mueller said.

Tickets will be issued next week for sales by 25 co-chairmen assisting in the drive.

Several bus loads of fans are expected to follow the Potters to Massillon. East Liverpool will receive 50 per cent of all tickets sold here.

Frank C. Dawson, Nonpareil treasurer, is parade chairman.

Elderly Man, Girl Die In Ohio Pike Accident

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A westbound automobile crossed the medial strip of the Ohio Turnpike Friday night and was hit by an east-bound car. An elderly man and a 7-year-old girl died in the accident.

Howard Smith, 72, of suburban Boardman, was alone in the westbound car. State patrolmen said he may have become ill and lost control of the vehicle.

Barbara Mae Riggs was killed and four persons in the other auto were injured. They were Orville Riggs, 35, of Ashtabula, the driver; his wife Muriel, 32; their son Bobby, 8; and Barbara's mother, Mrs. Isa Riggs, 41. Their car caught fire after the collision.

The accident occurred between the Pennsylvania line and the interchange at Ohio 7.

Numbers Man Freed; But Where's Johnston?

One "numbers" figure was released from jail today but the unanswered question still is "What happened to Nig Johnston?"

Dewey Morris of R. D. 2 was released from city jail after serving a 10-day term for possession of "numbers" slips. He was given the jail term and fined $350 after pleading guilty Aug. 18 to the charge filed by Patrolman W. E. McDaniel.

Harry R. (Nig) Johnston of Baum St. still is at large after fleeing the city rather than appear before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a similar charge to which he had pleaded guilty.

Johnston was scheduled to appear Aug. 19 to be sentenced following a physical examination he requested to show he was suffering from ill health. However, the medical tests failed to show anything wrong with his health.

U.S. Swimming Team Cracks World Record

The time shattered the listed record of 4:10.4 set by Australia on Aug. 22, 1958. Today's clocking was also under the pending record of 4:09.2 recorded by a four-man team of the Indianapolis A.C. at Toledo, Ohio, last July.

Today's foursome was composed of backstroker Bob Bennet of Encino, Calif.; breaststroker Paul Hait, San Jose, Calif., butterfly man Dave Gillanders of Royal Oak, Mich., and freestyle anchor swimmer Steve Clark of Los Altos, Calif.

HER HOUSE surrounded by 30 gun-toting policemen, Mrs. Ivy Daugherty told law officers that the building was empty but Amato and Miller later decided to investigate anyway.

A neighbor grabbed Mrs. Daugherty from the porch.

Finding no one downstairs, the two began a room-to-room search of the upstairs. While attempting to open a sewing room closet, Amato heard soft noises of Spunky sliding along a bathroom wall.

Whirling, he was confronted by the fugitive who had earlier sworn he would never be taken alive.

"Spunky, don't make a move," Amato ordered. Spunky had his right arm cocked with a sharp sickle in his hand.

"I'll kill you," Firman declared and lunged at Amato with the sickle. As it grazed his arm, Amato fired his cocked .38-caliber snubnosed pistol, with the bullet smashing into Spunky's right hip.

"JIM, I SHOT him," Amato yelled at Miller, who was searching an adjoining room. Deputy Miller rushed to the room where the shooting took place and ordered, "Rocco, drop that sickle." (Rocco is Firman's pen name.)

Red Czechs Lead Army, Report Says

Secessionist Says U.N. Force Wouldn't Let Him Defend City

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Three hundred troops of Premier Patrice Lumumba's Congo army today captured Bakwanga, capital of the fortnight-old "mineral state" of southeastern Kasai Province, the leader of the secessionist region said.

Albert Kalonji, chief of the breakaway state, said Lumumba's forces had entered his capital at 8 a. m.

He claimed they were led by three officers of the Communist Czechoslovakian army and that the forces included some troops from Guinea, which was contributed to U. N. forces in the Congo.

He also charged that Tunisian troops of the U. N. force in Bakwanga prevented his army from defending the town.

He said all communications between Katanga and Bakwanga had been cut now but it was known that Tunisian troops had disarmed the Bakwanga garrison, confiscated its weapons and prevented it from using the radio station and airfield.

Kalonji refused to admit that the capture of Bakwanga meant the end of his state and said that the remainder of his 800-man army would fight back from other parts of his "republic."

He said he left 10 members of his cabinet in Bakwanga and it was not known what had happened to them.

Kalonji, who flew from Bakwanga to Elisabethville Wednesday, was asked if he would return to his state. He replied: "That depends on the circumstances."

Kalonji appealed to all forces of the free world, especially the United States, Britain, France and the independent states of former French Africa, to send volunteer detachments to help in the fight against "Lumumba aggression."

"I asked Belgium to help, but this appeal has had no results," he said.

Kalonji said he also had asked

Senate Pushes For Okay Of Medical Care For Aged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders drove for final passage today of a compromise Social Security bill providing increased federal grants to the states to help the needy aged pay for medical care.

Once it is sent to President Eisenhower for his approval, the principal barriers to adjournment of Congress next week will have been cleared away except for a Senate-House deadlock over minimum wage legislation.

The House passed the Social Security measure Friday before recessing until Monday.

But the Senate was called into Saturday session not only to complete action on that bill but also to pass on a disputed resolution expressing disapproval of presidential appointments to the Supreme Court while Congress is not in session.

Republicans have protested that the resolution could be taken as a reflection on President Eisenhower, who gave Chief Justice Earl Warren and two other Supreme Court justices recess appointments.

Chief feature of the Social Security bill is the provision for 200 million dollars a year in federal grants to help finance a limited medical care plan for elderly persons unable to meet their expenses.

Major liberalizing changes in the Social Security system contained in the original Senate bill were eliminated or watered down by a Senate-House conference committee, leaving only some minor revisions for the most part.

Objections voiced by senators disappointed with the compromise showed progress of the bill in the Senate where leaders had hoped to whip it through Friday night.

Earlier, however, the Senate had followed the lead of the House in passing a compromise $3,722,350,000 foreign aid appropriation bill despite a last-minute protest by Eisenhower that it was inadequate for the nation's security.

The vote in the Senate was 57-24, with 5 Republicans joining 52 Democrats in voting for passage. Five Democrats and 19 Republicans voted against passage. The House passed the bill without a roll call vote.

The total in the bill was $559,354,000 less than Eisenhower had asked for. But it was nearly half a billion dollars more than Congress voted last year for military and economic aid to other nations.

Day Before Massillon Game

Parade Sept. 8 To Help Launch Grid Season Here

A parade heralding the arrival of another football season will be held in downtown East Liverpool on Sept. 8, just 24 hours prior to the Potters' opening game at Massillon.

Sponsored by the Blue and White Nonpareil Club, the parade will include bands, floats and convertibles bearing the coaches and team members.

While the event will kick off the football campaign, a sendoff for the Potters also is planned by the club on the Diamond before the team makes the trip to Massillon on Friday, Sept. 9.

Scheduled for 6:30, Thursday's parade will begin at Memorial Auditorium, proceed on Walnut to 5th St., down 5th to Jackson St., along Jackson to 6th St. and then to the American Theater, where the Potter squad will attend a movie.

Free candy will be distributed to youngsters along the parade route. The Little Building will be decorated.

In conjunction with its annual campaign, the Nonpareil club will sponsor a booth on 5th St. where memberships may be purchased.

A total of 650 letters went into the mail yesterday as part of the drive.

George F. Mueller, chairman, said an additional 180 letters will be mailed Monday. The letters include patron and $2 membership tickets.

The goal is 1,000 members. By purchasing membership tickets, fans can help the club in its endeavors to promote better sporting facilities and programs for East Liverpool youth, Mueller said.

Tickets will be issued next week for sales by 25 co-chairmen assisting in the drive.

Several bus loads of fans are expected to follow the Potters to Massillon. East Liverpool will receive 50 per cent of all tickets sold here.

Frank C. Dawson, Nonpareil treasurer, is parade chairman.

Elderly Man, Girl Die In Ohio Pike Accident

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A westbound automobile crossed the medial strip of the Ohio Turnpike Friday night and was hit by an east-bound car. An elderly man and a 7-year-old girl died in the accident.

Howard Smith, 72, of suburban Boardman, was alone in the westbound car. State patrolmen said he may have become ill and lost control of the vehicle.

Barbara Mae Riggs was killed and four persons in the other auto were injured. They were Orville Riggs, 35, of Ashtabula, the driver; his wife Muriel, 32; their son Bobby, 8; and Barbara's mother, Mrs. Isa Riggs, 41. Their car caught fire after the collision.

The accident occurred between the Pennsylvania line and the interchange at Ohio 7.

Numbers Man Freed; But Where's Johnston?

One "numbers" figure was released from jail today but the unanswered question still is "What happened to Nig Johnston?"

Dewey Morris of R. D. 2 was released from city jail after serving a 10-day term for possession of "numbers" slips. He was given the jail term and fined $350 after pleading guilty Aug. 18 to the charge filed by Patrolman W. E. McDaniel.

Harry R. (Nig) Johnston of Baum St. still is at large after fleeing the city rather than appear before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a similar charge to which he had pleaded guilty.

Johnston was scheduled to appear Aug. 19 to be sentenced following a physical examination he requested to show he was suffering from ill health. However, the medical tests failed to show anything wrong with his health.

U.S. Swimming Team Cracks World Record

The time shattered the listed record of 4:10.4 set by Australia on Aug. 22, 1958. Today's clocking was also under the pending record of 4:09.2 recorded by a four-man team of the Indianapolis A.C. at Toledo, Ohio, last July.

Today's foursome was composed of backstroker Bob Bennet of Encino, Calif.; breaststroker Paul Hait, San Jose, Calif., butterfly man Dave Gillanders of Royal Oak, Mich., and freestyle anchor swimmer Steve Clark of Los Altos, Calif.

Schools Of Beaver Local Expect 2,200 Will Enroll

An anticipated 2,200 pupils are expected to enroll when Beaver Local Schools open Sept. 7, George M. Van Horne, executive head, predicted today.

Some 530 are expected to enroll in the high school, 735 in the fifth through eighth grades at the public school and approximately 930 in the first four grades at Calcutta, West Point, Elkton and Rogers, Van Horne said.

A GENERAL teachers' meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 6, at 9:30 a. m. at the high school near Williamsport.

Schools will start at the same time last term, Van Horne said, but pointed out the district will return to Eastern Standard Time on the last Sunday in September, rather than in October.

Bus runs will virtually be the same as last term, except in the Oak Grove area where pupils will attend either the Rogers or Calcutta buildings because of the closing of the Oak Grove School.

Van Horne also warned pupils must be 6 on or before Nov. 1 this year in order to begin school.

ALL NEW PUPILS, regardless of grade, must have or be in the process of receiving a complete immunization program (polio, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus) before they can enter school on Sept. 7. A physician's certificate or school records must verify compliance of new pupils with the policy, he said.

The building assignments for the teachers are:

Calcutta — Mrs. Donna Campbell, Mrs. Ann Kirkbride, Mrs. Eleanor Rice and Mrs. Lee Tice, first; Mrs. Grace Paul, Mrs. Vada Faloon, Mrs. Allene Galloway, Mrs. Alta Mercer, second; Mrs. Mabel Popp, Mrs. Lucille Smith and Mrs. Helen Ward, third, and Mrs. Grace Roberts, principal, Mrs. Marcella Vacar and Mrs. Grace Hanley, fourth.

WEST POINT — Mrs. Mary Steffen and Mrs. Virginia Campbell, first; Mrs. Lydia Brooks, second; Miss Elizabeth Butler, third, and Donald Campbell, principal, fourth.

Rogers — Mrs. Rachel Cuthbert, principal, and Miss Ruth Mackall, first; Mrs. Grace McFarland and Mrs. Mary E. Lee, second; Mrs. Dorothea Smith, third; Mrs. Louise Hampson,, fourth, and Mrs. Gertrude Rosengreen, third--fourth combination.

Elkton — Mrs. Eleanor Wright, first; Mrs. Florence Carlisle, second; Miss Martha Finney, third, and Mrs. Nellie Noel, principal, fourth.

Urban Petros will be the elementary supervisor.

Teachers at the public school will be under a new principal, Roy Cashdollar of Chester. The teachers include:

MRS. MARY CAMPBELL, Mrs. Jeannette Walters, Mrs. Mildred Scroggs, Mrs. Helen Gonzalez, Andrew Lepock and Mrs. Lulu Laber, fifth; Mrs. Phyllis Trotter, Mrs. Donna Ferguson, Mrs. Lucille Hallom, Mrs. Ruth Archibald, Mrs. Mary Horner and William Patton, sixth.

Theodore Taylor, Miss Barbara Earley, Miss Helen Ryan, Miss Julia Barnhart, David Myton and Richard Hardey, seventh; Lewis Lee, Mrs. Alice Wollam, Donald Marshall, Chester Urbschat and Mrs. Roberta Lane, eighth, and Richard Prest, physical education.

The high school staff headed by Lee A. Kirkland as principal includes:

MRS. LYNDA COSTANZO, Bruce Costanzo, Jack Frontone, Calvin Graber, Richard Hamilton, Walter Wolfe, Mrs. Jo Ann Capehart, Walter Lineberry, Mrs. June McBane, Mrs. Olive McBride, Thomas McCall, Mrs. Marcia Manning, Jack O'Rourke, Miss Donna Russell.

Mrs. Jo Mary Skidmore, Ernest Skidmore, Mrs. Marguerite Strader, Willie Strader, Floreal Suarez, Mrs. Audrey Hardey, Harry West, Miss Lois Switzer and Mrs. Alice Zundel.

Mrs. Lucille Possage, art; Miss Carol Pittenger, vocal, and Jack Campbell, band, will instruct at both schools.

GOP Discounts Importance

Kennedy Greets Support Of AFL-CIO Union Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Endorsement from AFL-CIO union leaders has been welcomed by Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, while two Republican officials discounted the importance of the announced support.

The AFL-CIO General Board, representing 135 member unions, urged its 14 million members to support the Democratic ticket. The board strongly criticized the Republican nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"I am proud of the endorsement of my candidacy by the AFL-CIO and I welcome the support of the working men and women of this great labor movement," Kennedy said.

Doubt that the board's endorsement will impress union rank and file was expressed by GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Mitchell said the action should be recognized as an "expression of personal preference of a small handful of men—it doesn't purport to represent the views of the union membership they represent."

Noting the federation had supported the losing Democratic ticket in 1952 and 1956, Mitchell said "The record of union leaders in supporting losers will remain unbroken." He forecast workers would vote for Nixon this fall.

The board's statement said there is a "dramatic" contrast between Kennedy and Nixon on domestic issues. "On almost every issue between the money interest and the people's interest Kennedy voted for the people, Nixon voted against the people," it said.

Concerning Nixon, the statement said his "history as a partisan campaigner, both for himself and for the national ticket, raises grave questions of his fitness."

Ex-Gov. Long's Political Life At Stake Today In Primary

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The political future of former Gov. Earl Kamp Long was at stake in his attempt today to oust Rep. Harold McSween in central Louisiana's 8th District Democratic runoff primary.

The torrid Long-McSween struggle overshadowed the only other congressional runoff where Rep. T. A. Thompson of southwestern Louisiana's 7th District was opposed by former State Sen. Arsene Stewart.

Thompson was just a few hundred votes short of a clear majority in the first primary. He claims "outsiders" are trying to defeat him. Stewart charges that the congressman's initials mean "totally absent" and that Thompson usually cannot be found in Washington when needed.

Prospects of good weather and interest in local races indicated a heavy vote.

McSween won a post on the State Board of Education in 1956 when he defeated Long's sister, Clara Long Knott of Natchitoches. Two years later, McSween went to Congress to succeed the late Rep. George S. Long — Long's brother — by defeating Lloyd Teekell of Alexandria, who was supported vigorously by then-Gov. Long.

In last month's three-man first primary, McSween polled 29,820 votes to 26,058 for Long. Former State Rep. Ben Holt of Alexandria, third in the race with 10,266 votes, is supporting McSween.

President Of Negro College Says He Was Beat Up By 20

UNION, Miss. (AP)—A 47-year-old white president of a controversial Negro ministerial college near here claims a group of 20 white men kicked, clubbed and beat him Friday, and later threatened to kill him if he talked about the incident.

The Rev. J. H. Germany, preacher and dairy farmer, reportedly suffered cuts on his face, bruises on both his head and face and marks on his ribs and back.

The minister said he recognized several of the white men as members of the Citizens Council, proponents of segregation.

Germany said he was attacked on the grounds of a public school which was being demolished. Four Negroes were with Germany at the time, but were not attacked, according to the minister. He said the Negroes were run off "at the threat of their lives."

The minister said six of the 20 men began taking turns kicking him in the ribs and back, hitting him with their fists and beating him with a club.

One of them was quoted by the minister as saying "This is a sample of what you'll get if the Meridian Star finds out about this. You'll never live to read it."

The Star is a daily newspaper in a nearby city. Germany told his story to this newspaper shortly after the incident.

Germany said the incident will not deter him from making plans to open the Bay Ridge Christian College near here. The college, now under construction at the minister's farm, will be a Negro training institution for the ministry.

Kennedy Sets West Virginia Talk Sept. 19

CHARLESTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy is coming to West Virginia to outline what the Democratic Party proposes to do to alleviate unemployment and suffering in America's depressed areas.

The date of his appearance is Sept. 19. It will be before an all-day conference on the problems of economically depressed areas. Officials from at least seven states with such areas are to attend. Besides West Virginia, they are Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Virginia.

"Sen. Kennedy feels that West Virginia is the logical choice for such a conference, since it has been hit hardest by technological unemployment," A. S. Barksdale Jr. said in making the announcement. He is the Democrats' state campaign manager.

Barksdale said those expected to attend include Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania and Gov. Bert Combs of Kentucky, along with congressmen and state, municipal and county officials from the participating states.

During the day, discussions will be held on the problems of depressed areas. The model is to be the recent 12-state meeting on farm problems at Des Moines, Iowa, at which Kennedy also spoke. His speech here will be given at the conclusion of the conference in the Civic Center.

The appearance will be Kennedy's first in West Virginia since the May 10 presidential primary which did so much to help him win the Democratic nomination for President. Considered by many the underdog, because of his religion among other things, Kennedy easily beat Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

During the campaigning much was said about economically depressed conditions in the state and Kennedy promised that if we were elected President they would be "on the front of my desk."

Station WSAZ-TV, Huntington, offered to televise any talk Kennedy might plan in connection with the conference. C. Tom Garten, vice president of the station, made the offer in a telegram to Kennedy.

Garten said the telecast will be free if a satisfactory time can be arranged. WSAZ made the same offer to Vice President Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, if he visits Charleston or Huntington.

Tests Seek How Woman Died And Her Identification

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati pathologist plans laboratory tests to learn how an unidentified, well - dressed woman died and to aid in identifying her.

The women's fully clothed body, covered by a blanket, was found in a densely wooded rural section southeast of here Friday near Clinton County Air Force Base.

Sheriff Floyd Foote said she had either been stabbed or shot or both a number of times.

But he said there was no blood under the body, indicating the woman was slain elsewhere and brought to the secluded section, near a favored parking spot for couples.

The body was found by two men hunting herbs about one mile from the Three-C highway, off Ohio 73. It was on the farm of J. Herbert Doaks, but was relatively far from any buildings, the sheriff said.

He said she was about age 30, weighed 135 - 150 pounds, was wearing a skirt and white blouse and had been on the ground up to two days.

3,442 Students Expected

Beaver County's Schools Will Resume On Tuesday

Beaver County public schools opening Tuesday in this district include those of Midland, the Western Beaver County School District, South Side Schools near Hookstown and the elementary building at Georgetown.

The Presentation Parochial School at Midland will hold its first full day of classes Sept. 6, following Labor Day.

ABOUT 3,442 students will be enrolled in the three districts. Midland will have 694 elementary and 845 high school, which is about the same as last term; South Side High about 500 with an increase of 25, and 500 in elementary with a slight decrease; Western Beaver expects about 950, an increase of about 40 over last term.

South Side and Western Beaver teachers will attend the Beaver County Teachers Institute Monday at Riverside High School in the Northeastern School District.

Midland teachers will attend a full-day in-service training session Monday. They will meet in the Music Forum of the high school for a coffee hour from 8:30 to 9 a. m. and receive instructions from Supt. Ralph H. Jewell from 9 to 10:30 a. m.

A PANEL discussion by members of the Board of Education will be held from 10:45 to 11:45 a. m. Teachers will meet with school principals in their respective buildings at 1 p. m.

Supt. Jewell said that the teaching staff has been reduced in anticipation of an expected drop of high school students in the near future since the Western Beaver County District plans to open a new junior - senior high school in 1961-1962. Tuition paying students will be withdrawn.

Lincoln High School will open at 8:30 a. m. with the tardy bell at 8:30 a. m. Lunch period will be from 12:06 to 1 p. m. and tardy bell at 1:10 p. m. Classes will let out at 3:44 p. m.

The elementary schools will have the same opening time and lunch will be from 11:40 a. m. to 12:40 p. m. Dismissal will be at 3:45 p. m.

WILLIAM A. Walters is principal of the high school and Miss Margaret Hogan, elementary schools.

At South Side schools, the cafeteria will be open the first day and meal tickets for the first week will be sold at $1. During five-day weeks their cost is $1.25 or 35 cents a single day.

Besides Victor F. Thomas Jr., supervising principal, other administrators include Nandor A. Hrutkay, high school principal, and Carl E. Walcott, elementary principal.

Health personnel includes Dr. Kenneth McPherson of New Brighton, doctor, Lois D. Frasier, R.N., nurse, and Dr. L. N. Colona, dentist.

THE SOUTH SIDE School District is composed of a jointure including Frankfort Springs Borough, Greene Township, Hanover Township, Hookstown Borough and Shippingport Borough.

In preparation for the opening of school, needed painting was completed during the summer. A portable building, which may be used as a classroom, remains to be completed.

There will be no half-day sessions as in previous years in the Western Beaver County School District since all 12 classrooms of the new Ray W. Snyder School will be used. Last spring, while the building was being completed, eight of the classrooms were used.

The district will have 30 teachers this fall, an increase of 3 over last term. A school doctor and a dentist remain to be hired by the Board of Eduation.

THE DISTRICT is made up of the merged areas of Industry, Ohio Township and Glasgow Borough. It has four schools, Snyder, Industry and Ohio View or Logan in Industry and Fairview School in Ohio Township.

Miss Dorothy Brdar is nurse and Miss Patricia Carothers, clerk.

The Georgetown public school will have the same two teachers as last term. Lester Rowley, Board of Education president, said Mrs. Charles Shane will teach Room 1 and Mrs. Clifford Hall Room 2.

50 In Treadwell Plant Register For Compensation

About 50 employes of the Treadwell Construction Co. of Midland registered this week at the Midland Steelworkers Hall for unemployment compensation, James Mullen, staff representative for the union, said.

They are members of Local 1274 at Treadwell, which has a membership of about 90. Some members of the striking local have obtained work elsewhere.

The union struck in July 1959 but returned to work Nov. 13 under a 70-day extension. The strike resumed Jan. 26, some seven months ago.

Mullen said earlier that the union contends the company has locked out its employes. The employes offered to work under the old contract until a new one can be negotiated, but the company refused, he said.

The unemployment compensation registration is based on a recent decision of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. Workers will be given credit for this past week in figuring jobless benefits, Mullen said.

GOP Discounts Importance

Kennedy Greets Support Of AFL-CIO Union Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Endorsement from AFL-CIO union leaders has been welcomed by Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, while two Republican officials discounted the importance of the announced support.

The AFL-CIO General Board, representing 135 member unions, urged its 14 million members to support the Democratic ticket. The board strongly criticized the Republican nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"I am proud of the endorsement of my candidacy by the AFL-CIO and I welcome the support of the working men and women of this great labor movement," Kennedy said.

Doubt that the board's endorsement will impress union rank and file was expressed by GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Mitchell said the action should be recognized as an "expression of personal preference of a small handful of men—it doesn't purport to represent the views of the union membership they represent."

Noting the federation had supported the losing Democratic ticket in 1952 and 1956, Mitchell said "The record of union leaders in supporting losers will remain unbroken." He forecast workers would vote for Nixon this fall.

The board's statement said there is a "dramatic" contrast between Kennedy and Nixon on domestic issues. "On almost every issue between the money interest and the people's interest Kennedy voted for the people, Nixon voted against the people," it said.

Concerning Nixon, the statement said his "history as a partisan campaigner, both for himself and for the national ticket, raises grave questions of his fitness."

Ex-Gov. Long's Political Life At Stake Today In Primary

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The political future of former Gov. Earl Kamp Long was at stake in his attempt today to oust Rep. Harold McSween in central Louisiana's 8th District Democratic runoff primary.

The torrid Long-McSween struggle overshadowed the only other congressional runoff where Rep. T. A. Thompson of southwestern Louisiana's 7th District was opposed by former State Sen. Arsene Stewart.

Thompson was just a few hundred votes short of a clear majority in the first primary. He claims "outsiders" are trying to defeat him. Stewart charges that the congressman's initials mean "totally absent" and that Thompson usually cannot be found in Washington when needed.

Prospects of good weather and interest in local races indicated a heavy vote.

McSween, 34-year-old Alexandria attorney, has finished ahead of Long, who became 65 Friday, in every battle for the last four years.

McSween won a post on the State Board of Education in 1956 when he defeated Long's sister, Clara Long Knott of Natchitoches. Two years later, McSween went to Congress to succeed the late Rep. George S. Long — Long's brother — by defeating Lloyd Teekell of Alexandria, who was supported vigorously by then-Gov. Long.

In last month's three-man first primary, McSween polled 29,820 votes to 26,058 for Long. Former State Rep. Ben Holt of Alexandria, third in the race with 10,266 votes, is supporting McSween.

President Of Negro College Says He Was Beat Up By 20

UNION, Miss. (AP)—A 47-year-old white president of a controversial Negro ministerial college near here claims a group of 20 white men kicked, clubbed and beat him Friday, and later threatened to kill him if he talked about the incident.

The Rev. J. H. Germany, preacher and dairy farmer, reportedly suffered cuts on his face, bruises on both his head and face and marks on his ribs and back.

The minister said he recognized several of the white men as members of the Citizens Council, proponents of segregation.

Germany said he was attacked on the grounds of a public school which was being demolished. Four Negroes were with Germany at the time, but were not attacked, according to the minister. He said the Negroes were run off "at the threat of their lives."

The minister said six of the 20 men began taking turns kicking him in the ribs and back, hitting him with their fists and beating him with a club.

One of them was quoted by the minister as saying "This is a sample of what you'll get if the Meridian Star finds out about this. You'll never live to read it."

The Star is a daily newspaper in a nearby city. Germany told his story to this newspaper shortly after the incident.

Germany said the incident will not deter him from making plans to open the Bay Ridge Christian College near here. The college, now under construction at the minister's farm, will be a Negro training institution for the ministry.

Kennedy Sets West Virginia Talk Sept. 19

CHARLESTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy is coming to West Virginia to outline what the Democratic Party proposes to do to alleviate unemployment and suffering in America's depressed areas.

The date of his appearance is Sept. 19. It will be before an all-day conference on the problems of economically depressed areas. Officials from at least seven states with such areas are to attend. Besides West Virginia, they are Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Virginia.

"Sen. Kennedy feels that West Virginia is the logical choice for such a conference, since it has been hit hardest by technological unemployment," A. S. Barksdale Jr. said in making the announcement. He is the Democrats' state campaign manager.

Barksdale said those expected to attend include Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania and Gov. Bert Combs of Kentucky, along with congressmen and state, municipal and county officials from the participating states.

During the day, discussions will be held on the problems of depressed areas. The model is to be the recent 12-state meeting on farm problems at Des Moines, Iowa, at which Kennedy also spoke. His speech here will be given at the conclusion of the conference in the Civic Center.

The appearance will be Kennedy's first in West Virginia since the May 10 presidential primary which did so much to help him win the Democratic nomination for President. Considered by many the underdog, because of his religion among other things, Kennedy easily beat Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

During the campaigning much was said about economically depressed conditions in the state and Kennedy promised that if we were elected President they would be "on the front of my desk."

Station WSAZ-TV, Huntington, offered to televise any talk Kennedy might plan in connection with the conference. C. Tom Garten, vice president of the station, made the offer in a telegram to Kennedy.

Garten said the telecast will be free if a satisfactory time can be arranged. WSAZ made the same offer to Vice President Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, if he visits Charleston or Huntington.

Tests Seek How Woman Died And Her Identification

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati pathologist plans laboratory tests to learn how an unidentified, well - dressed woman died and to aid in identifying her.

The women's fully clothed body, covered by a blanket, was found in a densely wooded rural section southeast of here Friday near Clinton County Air Force Base.

Sheriff Floyd Foote said she had either been stabbed or shot or both a number of times.

But he said there was no blood under the body, indicating the woman was slain elsewhere and brought to the secluded section, near a favored parking spot for couples.

The body was found by two men hunting herbs about one mile from the Three-C highway, off Ohio 73. It was on the farm of J. Herbert Doaks, but was relatively far from any buildings, the sheriff said.

He said she was about age 30, weighed 135 - 150 pounds, was wearing a skirt and white blouse and had been on the ground up to two days.

3,442 Students Expected

Beaver County's Schools Will Resume On Tuesday

Beaver County public schools opening Tuesday in this district include those of Midland, the Western Beaver County School District, South Side Schools near Hookstown and the elementary building at Georgetown.

The Presentation Parochial School at Midland will hold its first full day of classes Sept. 6, following Labor Day.

ABOUT 3,442 students will be enrolled in the three districts. Midland will have 694 elementary and 845 high school, which is about the same as last term; South Side High about 500 with an increase of 25, and 500 in elementary with a slight decrease; Western Beaver expects about 950, an increase of about 40 over last term.

South Side and Western Beaver teachers will attend the Beaver County Teachers Institute Monday at Riverside High School in the Northeastern School District.

Midland teachers will attend a full-day in-service training session Monday. They will meet in the Music Forum of the high school for a coffee hour from 8:30 to 9 a. m. and receive instructions from Supt. Ralph H. Jewell from 9 to 10:30 a. m.

A PANEL discussion by members of the Board of Education will be held from 10:45 to 11:45 a. m. Teachers will meet with school principals in their respective buildings at 1 p. m.

Supt. Jewell said that the teaching staff has been reduced in anticipation of an expected drop of high school students in the near future since the Western Beaver County District plans to open a new junior - senior high school in 1961-1962. Tuition paying students will be withdrawn.

Lincoln High School will open at 8:30 a. m. with the tardy bell at 8:30 a. m. Lunch period will be from 12:06 to 1 p. m. and tardy bell at 1:10 p. m. Classes will let out at 3:44 p. m.

The elementary schools will have the same opening time and lunch will be from 11:40 a. m. to 12:40 p. m. Dismissal will be at 3:45 p. m.

WILLIAM A. Walters is principal of the high school and Miss Margaret Hogan, elementary schools.

At South Side schools, the cafeteria will be open the first day and meal tickets for the first week will be sold at $1. During five-day weeks their cost is $1.25 or 35 cents a single day.

Besides Victor F. Thomas Jr., supervising principal, other administrators include Nandor A. Hrutkay, high school principal, and Carl E. Walcott, elementary principal.

Health personnel includes Dr. Kenneth McPherson of New Brighton, doctor, Lois D. Frasier, R.N., nurse, and Dr. L. N. Colona, dentist.

THE SOUTH SIDE School District is composed of a jointure including Frankfort Springs Borough, Greene Township, Hanover Township, Hookstown Borough and Shippingport Borough.

In preparation for the opening of school, needed painting was completed during the summer. A portable building, which may be used as a classroom, remains to be completed.

There will be no half-day sessions as in previous years in the Western Beaver County School District since all 12 classrooms of the new Ray W. Snyder School will be used. Last spring, while the building was being completed, eight of the classrooms were used.

The district will have 30 teachers this fall, an increase of 3 over last term. A school doctor and a dentist remain to be hired by the Board of Eduation.

THE DISTRICT is made up of the merged areas of Industry, Ohio Township and Glasgow Borough. It has four schools, Snyder, Industry and Ohio View or Logan in Industry and Fairview School in Ohio Township.

Miss Dorothy Brdar is nurse and Miss Patricia Carothers, clerk.

The Georgetown public school will have the same two teachers as last term. Lester Rowley, Board of Education president, said Mrs. Charles Shane will teach Room 1 and Mrs. Clifford Hall Room 2.

50 In Treadwell Plant Register For Compensation

About 50 employes of the Treadwell Construction Co. of Midland registered this week at the Midland Steelworkers Hall for unemployment compensation, James Mullen, staff representative for the union, said.

They are members of Local 1274 at Treadwell, which has a membership of about 90. Some members of the striking local have obtained work elsewhere.

The union struck in July 1959 but returned to work Nov. 13 under a 70-day extension. The strike resumed Jan. 26, some seven months ago.

Mullen said earlier that the union contends the company has locked out its employes. The employes offered to work under the old contract until a new one can be negotiated, but the company refused, he said.

The unemployment compensation registration is based on a recent decision of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. Workers will be given credit for this past week in figuring jobless benefits, Mullen said.

tal intervention" without naming Castro's regime, the Soviet Union or Red China.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa has twice avoided any formal repudiation of Khrushchev's threat to fire missiles against the United 'states if the United States sought to intervene in Cuba.

Other points approved by the working group calls on the ministers to reject any reference to intervention in affairs of the Western Hemisphere; Reaffirm the principle of nonintervention; reaffirm the right of peoples to develop their countries as they choose; declare against any form of totalitarianism; seek peaceful settlement of disputes, and reaffirm faith in the regional system.

The committee of 10 foreign ministers was named in hope of healing the breach between adherents of a hard policy espoused by the United States and those who want a milder resolution.

The committee consists of Colombia, Costa Rica, Panama, Honduras, Mexico, Brazil, Venezuela, Uruguay, El Salvador and Argentina.

Chile was reported to have readied a compromise resolution that appeared to have majority support. It would condemn foreign intervention and reaffirm faith in the inter-American system.

There were also reports the final draft would include a Colombian proposal that a committee be formed to try to resolve Cuban-U.S. differences. It would also renew Cuba's offer Thursday to negotiate with the United States.

The United States has made it plain it wants a resolution that would avoid highlighting its differences with Castro and concentrate instead on Cuba's swing to the left as a danger to the hemisphere.

Cuba's Foreign Minister Raul Roa has made a direct effort to capitalize on the sympathy existing in many Latin American nations for the Cuban revolution itself.

Roa's argument has been pegged that the revolution was and is entirely a home-bred movement. He derided U.S. charges that the Castro regime was becoming a captive of the Communists.

Roa told the conference Friday that "Cuba is not walking hand in hand with any bloc."

American GI Deserter Claims U.S. Aide In Moscow Is Spy

MOSCOW (AP) — An American GI deserter accused the U.S. Army attache in Moscow of espionage activities in what could foreshadow another Soviet ouster action.

The charges, against Col. Theodore F. Hoffman, were made by Vladimir Sloboda, 38, on Soviet TV Friday night only a few hours after the Soviet Union ordered expulsion of the U.S. embassy's economic attache.

Soviet officials also charged the economic attache, George Payne Winters Jr., 39, was involved in a spy ring.

Col. Hoffman, vacationing in West Germany, said "Are you kidding?" when informed of the charges leveled against him by Sloboda.

Hoffman said he planned to return to Moscow Sept. 4 after completing his vacation in Germany with his family.

Hoffman, whose home is in Pughtown, Pa., a former commander of the Army Intelligence School, Ft. Holabird, Md., went to Moscow about 1½ years ago.

Sloboda, who deserted a U.S. Army Intelligence unit in West Germany three weeks ago, charged American spies were sent to the Soviet Union disguised as tourists, members of official delgations and as diplomats. He named Hoffman during a discussion of diplomatic personnel.

The U.S. Army, in a statement from Heidelberg, Germany, this week said Sloboda was an obsessive gambler and was heavily in debt when he disappeared earlier this month. Sloboda's wife also said he had been losing heavily at gambling.

District Executive Challenges Lions Club In Member Drive

The Lions Club was challenged to meet or beat the goal of a 10 per cent increase in membership by the district governor when he paid his annual visit Friday afternoon at the club's meeting at the Travelers Hotel.

Stephen H. Smith of Canton, who supervises the activities of 50 clubs in this section of the state, addressed the club on "Operation Membership," explaining the organization is the largest service club in the world but faces a problem of retaining present members and adding new ones.

"Improvement is being made but we are only scratching the surface," he said.

A form in which members can evaluate the club as they see it will enable the club to discover and remedy weak areas, Smith said.

Five fundamentals are required to secure good members, he said. They include screening of prospective members, approaching them after the Board of Directors has given approval, an impressive initiation, indoctrination of new members and participation by them.

Smith said a membership survey made in 1956 showed more ex-Lions than there are on the rolls at present. For every 20 who have joined, 18 have dropped out later for some reason.

Farmer, Trapped Beneath Tractor 2 Days, Rescued

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—"Another day and I wouldn't have made it."

That's what 63-year-old farmer William Yingst told a nurse Friday in a hospital here after spending two days trapped beneath his overturned tractor.

Yingst's right arm had to be amputated above the elbow. It lay crushed for 52½ hours between a heavy log and the tractor fender.

An unidentified boy found Yingst Friday trapped beneath the tractor on the 120-acre farm where the victim lived alone.

He had laid in pain since Monday morning when the tractor overturned.

Yingst's yellow shepherd dog, Billy, stayed beside him through the ordeal. When the farmer scrawled a note and tucked it in the dog's collar, the pet refused to leave.

A rural mail man drove by the scene of the accident twice, within 30 feet of the tractor, but he did not hear Yingst's feeble cries.

U.S. And British Lawyers Confer On World Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of lawyers from the United States and Britain gathered here today to grease the wheels of justice and debate on the world court.

The American Bar Assn. starts its annual meeting Monday, but various groups met this week to prepare for the five-day conference.

Some 800 British barristers will take part. They were invited because in 1957 the ABA held its annual meeting in London at the invitation of the British bar. Canada and Australia are sending delegations, too.

Under legislation sponsored by the late Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, the United States can decide in advance whether it will be bound by a decision of the court. For 13 years, the ABA has opposed this proviso, known as the Connally Reservation.

During the annual meeting, the ABA will discuss ways and means of improving laws and judicial procedures and will consider a series of proposed uniform laws on broad questions which will be recommended to state legislatures.

Safe In Bahamas

MIAMI, FLA. (AP) — John Fay, about 21, of Chillicothe, Ohio, is safe in the Bahamas. He and two roommates at Washington & Lee University left West Palm Beach last weekend in a small boat, bound for Nassau. When one youth, Charles D. Ausley, 23, Tallahassee, failed to call home from the Bahamas, his father asked the Coast Guard to make a search. But young Ausley phoned his father Friday night and said they had encountered no trouble on the trip.

Wheeling Gas Union Will Vote On Contract

The last of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. unions still on strike was to vote today at Wheeling on a new contract similar to the one accepted by other locals in the Ohio Valley.

The concern agreed at an all-day session Friday at Wheeling to withdraw charges filed with the National Labor Relations Board against the union if the men returned to work.

Local 420 of the Utility Workers of America struck at Wheeling May 5, idling 110 members. The proposed contract is the same as that accepted earlier by United Mine Workers District 50 locals representing Manufacturers employes in Western Pennsylvania and other points in the West Virginia Panhandle, and with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. in East Liverpool and Steubenville.

Wrong Charge, He Says

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Raymond Couser, 43, drew an 18-month prison sentence on a charge he chased his wife with a swing blade grass cutter. Couser denied the charge. "It wasn't a swing blade at all," he insisted. "It was just a piece of wood I had brought home to make a table leg out of."

the Tunisian government to inform its troops in the Congo exactly what powers they had and to define the limits of these powers clearly.

"Tunisian troops in Bakwanga are preparing the way for Lumumba's army," he declared.

Kalonji claimed that three days ago 300 Congo troops left Luluabourg, the capital of Kasai, by train under the command of three Czechoslovakian officers.

Kalonji said: "These officers arrived in Luluabourg under the cover of the United Nations, claiming that they were technicians for aircraft and supply to the Congo by the Soviet government."

This trainload of troops arrived at Mweneditu just inside his state Friday and moved to Bakwanga this morning, he added.

Parakeet Gets Black Eye, Flew Into Door

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A West Lake County woman claims her parakeet got its black eye by running into a door.

The bird is allowed to fly around the bathroom while its cage is being cleaned. On one occasion, however, it tried to fly back out of the bathroom just as the woman's daughter shut the door.

tal intervention" without naming Castro's regime, the Soviet Union or Red China.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa has twice avoided any formal repudiation of Khrushchev's threat to fire missiles against the United States if the United States sought to intervene in Cuba.

Other points approved by the working group calls on the ministers to reject any reference to intervention in affairs of the Western Hemisphere; Reaffirm the principle of nonintervention; reaffirm the right of peoples to develop their countries as they choose; declare against any form of totalitarianism; seek peaceful settlement of disputes, and reaffirm faith in the regional system.

The committee of 10 foreign ministers was named in hope of healing the breach between adherents of a hard policy espoused by the United States and those who want a milder resolution.

The committee consists of Colombia, Costa Rica, Panama, Honduras, Mexico, Brazil, Venezuela, Uruguay, El Salvador and Argentina.

Chile was reported to have readied a compromise resolution that appeared to have majority support. It would condemn foreign intervention and reaffirm faith in the inter-American system.

There were also reports the final draft would include a Colombian proposal that a committee be formed to try to resolve Cuban-U.S. differences. It would also renew Cuba's offer Thursday to negotiate with the United States.

The United States has made it plain it wants a resolution that would avoid highlighting its differences with Castro and concentrate instead on Cuba's swing to the left as a danger to the hemisphere.

Cuba's Foreign Minister Raul Roa has made a direct effort to capitalize on the sympathy existing in many Latin American nations for the Cuban revolution itself.

Roa's argument has been pegged that the revolution was and is entirely a home-bred movement. He derided U.S. charges that the Castro regime was becoming a captive of the Communists.

Roa told the conference Friday that "Cuba is not walking hand in hand with any bloc."

Farmer, Trapped Beneath Tractor 2 Days, Rescued

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—"Another day and I wouldn't have made it."

That's what 63-year-old farmer William Yingst told a nurse Friday in a hospital here after spending two days trapped beneath his overturned tractor.

Yingst's right arm had to be amputated above the elbow. It lay crushed for 52½ hours between a heavy log and the tractor fender.

An unidentified boy found Yingst Friday trapped beneath the tractor on the 120-acre farm where the victim lived alone.

He had laid in pain since Monday morning when the tractor overturned.

Yingst's yellow shepherd dog, Billy, stayed beside him through the ordeal. When the farmer scrawled a note and tucked it in the dog's collar, the pet refused to leave.

A rural mail man drove by the scene of the accident twice, within 30 feet of the tractor, but he did not hear Yingst's feeble cries.

American GI Deserter Claims U.S. Aide In Moscow Is Spy

MOSCOW (AP) — An American GI deserter accused the U.S. Army attache in Moscow of espionage activities in what could foreshadow another Soviet ouster action.

The charges, against Col. Theodore F. Hoffman, were made by Vladimir Sloboda, 38, on Soviet TV Friday night only a few hours after the Soviet Union ordered expulsion of the U.S. embassy's economic attache.

Soviet officials also charged the economic attache, George Payne Winters Jr., 39, was involved in a spy ring.

Col. Hoffman, vacationing in West Germany, said "Are you kidding?" when informed of the charges leveled against him by Sloboda.

Hoffman said he planned to return to Moscow Sept. 4 after completing his vacation in Germany with his family.

Hoffman, whose home is in Pughtown, Pa., a former commander of the Army Intelligence School, Ft. Holabird, Md., went to Moscow about 1½ years ago.

Sloboda, who deserted a U.S. Army Intelligence unit in West Germany three weeks ago, charged American spies were sent to the Soviet Union disguised as tourists, members of official delgations and as diplomats. He named Hoffman during a discussion of diplomatic personnel.

The U.S. Army, in a statement from Heidelberg, Germany, this week said Sloboda was an obsessive gambler and was heavily in debt when he disappeared earlier this month. Sloboda's wife also said he had been losing heavily at gambling.

District Executive Challenges Lions Club In Member Drive

The Lions Club was challenged to meet or beat the goal of a 10 per cent increase in membership by the district governor when he paid his annual visit Friday afternoon at the club's meeting at the Travelers Hotel.

Stephen H. Smith of Canton, who supervises the activities of 50 clubs in this section of the state, addressed the club on "Operation Membership," explaining the organization is the largest service club in the world but faces a problem of retaining present members and adding new ones.

"Improvement is being made but we are only scratching the surface," he said.

A form in which members can evaluate the club as they see it will enable the club to discover and remedy weak areas, Smith said.

Five fundamentals are required to secure good members, he said. They include screening of prospective members, approaching them after the Board of Directors has given approval, an impressive initiation, indoctrination of new members and participation by them.

Smith said a membership survey made in 1956 showed more ex-Lions than there are on the rolls at present. For every 20 who have joined, 18 have dropped out later for some reason.

Smith was introduced by George McCullough of East Liverpool, junior district deputy governor. Howard E. Tice, president, presided.

U.S. And British Lawyers Confer On World Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of lawyers from the United States and Britain gathered here today to grease the wheels of justice and debate on the world court.

The American Bar Assn. starts its annual meeting Monday, but various groups met this week to prepare for the five-day conference.

Some 800 British barristers will take part. They were invited because in 1957 the ABA held its annual meeting in London at the invitation of the British bar. Canada and Australia are sending delegations, too.

Under legislation sponsored by the late Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, the United States can decide in advance whether it will be bound by a decision of the court. For 13 years, the ABA has opposed this proviso, known as the Connally Reservation.

During the annual meeting, the ABA will discuss ways and means of improving laws and judicial procedures and will consider a series of proposed uniform laws on broad questions which will be recommended to state legislatures.

Safe In Bahamas

MIAMI, FLA. (AP — John Fay, about 21, of Chillicothe, Ohio, is safe in the Bahamas. He and two roommates at Washington & Lee University left West Palm Beach last weekend in a small boat, bound for Nassau. When one youth, Charles D. Ausley, 23, Tallahassee, failed to call home from the Bahamas, his father asked the Coast Guard to make a search. But young Ausley phoned his father Friday night and said they had encountered no trouble on the trip.

Wheeling Gas Union Will Vote On Contract

The last of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. unions still on strike was to vote today at Wheeling on a new contract similar to the one accepted by other locals in the Ohio Valley.

The concern agreed at an all-day session Friday at Wheeling to withdraw charges filed with the National Labor Relations Board against the union if the men returned to work.

Local 420 of the Utility Workers of America struck at Wheeling May 5, idling 110 members. The proposed contract is the same as that accepted earlier by United Mine Workers District 50 locals representing Manufacturers employes in Western Pennsylvania and other points in the West Virginia Panhandle, and with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. in East Liverpool and Steubenville.

Wrong Charge, He Says

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Raymond Couser, 43, drew an 18-month prison sentence on a charge he chased his wife with a swing blade grass cutter. Couser denied the charge. "It wasn't a swing blade at all," he insisted. "It was just a piece of wood I had brought home to make a table leg out of."

"Tunisian troops in Bakwanga are preparing the way for Lumumba's army," he declared.

Kalonji claimed that three days ago 300 Congo troops left Luluabourg, the capital of Kasai, by train under the command of three Czechoslovakian officers.

Kalonji said: "These officers arrived in Luluabourg under the cover of the United Nations, claiming that they were technicians for aircraft and supply to the Congo by the Soviet government."

This trainload of troops arrived at Mweneditu just inside his state Friday and moved to Bakwanga this morning, he added.

A Shocking Traffic Safety Report

That was a shocking report issued by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

In case the story in Friday's Review escaped your attention, this startling paragraph is repeated: "On the basis of national urban experience, the National Safety Council estimates that traffic accidents involving East Liverpool residents in and out of the city cost your community about $1,100,000 annually."

Included in the figures are estimates of loss of earning power, medical and hospital expenses, cost of motor vehicle repair or replacement and the cost of providing auto insurance.

To put it mildly, the report is staggering.

An expanded citywide safety program — as the report recommended — is a necessary part of any effort to rectify the situation. But the burden still falls directly on the individual motorist. All the traffic programs in the world won't help unless the individual pays heed and does his or her part in the interest of safety.

With the Labor Day holiday just around the corner, there's no time like the present to pause and reflect on the terrible price that is paid for failure to drive in a safe and sane manner. Let's cut the sobering figure in half before it's time for the next Highway Department report.

Who's Stupid?

Law enforcement officers must bitterly resent the charge of Spunky Firman that he had remained at large for a month "mostly through my luck and their stupidity."

What punks like Spunky forget is that while they're outnumbered in respect to manpower, they have the element of surprise on their side and can call the tune to a limited degree for awhile in any such situation. But eventually they end up in the hands of the law.

It was Spunky who was stupid, not the police. All that lies ahead for him are days behind prison bars.

While those like Spunky grab the headlines because of the sensational nature of their escapades, fellows like Charles Amato, Deputy Jim Miller and others who track them down are the real heroes.

Both Feet In The Door

A new phrase in the vernacular of international relations that will take a lot of getting used to was heard in the conference of American foreign ministers in Costa Rica last week:

"Sino-Soviet imperialism."

Secretary of State Herter used it to explain the problem of security in the New World. It was referred to as well by Cuba's foreign minister, Paul Roa, replying to Secretary Herter. Roa proclaimed Cuba's government's friendship for the Soviet Union and Communist China — not for one, or the other, but for both.

Those who have feared Russia would get its foot in the door if the New World by dominating a sympathetic government in Cuba underestimated the danger. It is not only a Russian foot but a Chinese foot that is invading hemispheric security.

The revived issue of whether Old World intervention is to be tolerated by the republics of the New World is going to turn now on the amount of indignation generated by the intervention not only of Russia but of Communist China as well.

THE 21 REPUBLICS in the Organization of American States must think not only of the Kremlin in Moscow but the Communist hierarchy in Peiping.

The Communist Conspiracy is no longer symbolized by Lenin, Stalin, or Khrushchev, but by Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai.

And the force behind the symbol is no longer Russia alone. It has been augmented by teeming millions of Chinese eyeing the prospect of expansion into the sparsely populated countries of Central and South America.

There is friction between Moscow and Peiping on details of the Marxist overthrow of non-Marxist governments. But Marxist domination of Cuba as the base for empire-building in the New World is a grand concept above and beyond the kind of ideological friction generated by clashing details.

In the evolution of international balances of power and the plans for collective security that have been carried out in the United Nations and the Organization of American States, this is one of the key events of the 20th century.

THE UNITED STATES has called on its American neighbors to share its alarm over Sino-Soviet imperialism. They understand the danger. But in their awareness of common danger there is no thought of retaliation—no mention of a counter-offensive.

Once more, freedom has been put on the defensive and is being kept there by the dynamic initiative of the Communist conspiracy.

Once more, the Marxists are getting ready to bite off another chunk of non-Marxist territory without fear of retaliation.

There will be the usual outraged cries and the usual hysterical spending of public money by the United States to buy support for republicanism in government.

But with both feet in the door, the Sino-Soviet imperialists can't well lose. The only thing that might happen is a smaller, slower measure of success than they hoped for when they laid their plans, unless their intended victims find away to retaliate.

Sound Investment

A 10-point improvement program has been proposed if voters see fit to approve the city income tax at the polls on Nov. 8.

It includes: A citywide year-round recreation program; general improvement of streets, alleys and sewers; an improved street cleaning program; an overhaul and modernization of the street lighting system; beautification of the river front, tied in with water sports, boating and fishing; establishment of new off-street parking facilities, and preparation of a "master plan" to make the community eligible for federal urban renewal funds.

The list of projects is an imposing and sound one. They're all things which are needed to help East Liverpool move ahead. If you're against the tax at present, study the 10 points and give them your most serious attention.

The improvements represent a lot of dividends for an investment of only 80 cents on each $100.

The Once Over

SCREEN HERO

I am a hero; man to man
And never lose my fights;
No foul punch do I ever ban
In throwing lefts and rights.
I swing haymakers from the floor
Until the villain's out. . .
And then I pick him up for more
And kick him in the snout!

II

I slug him on the chin, I do
And I pulverize his nose;
Below the belt I slam a few
To top all dirty blows;
I then drag up his bleeding form
And toss him on the bed. . .
(By this time I am getting warm
And kick him in the head.)

III

I bash him with a kitchen chair
And sock him with a lamp;
I pound his head upon a stair
And on his face I tramp;
One good punch used to mark real men
Before "live" shows and tape
But punches know no limit when
A screen hero's in shape.

AS THE RESULT of the latest scandal in snow removal, New York may have to order officeholders on a salt-free diet. Probers say city was taken for half a million through bribery, overcharges and other finagling in purchase of salt. It might have been cheaper to use pepper.

That salt is used in city snow removals is not too well known to most people and we heard the following conversation:

First Citizen: What's all this about salt for getting rid of snow?

Second Citizen: I dunno. I always used a shovel.

First Citizen: How did the Dominican Republic get into our snow scene?

Second Citizen: I guess all the salt we had in America was in them clogged up salt shakers that never work, especially in wet weather.

First Citizen: I never seen no salt being put on snow in New York streets, did you?

Second Citizen: No. The snow stuck around on the streets in my neighborhood so long they might have got just as far using Tabasco sauce and paprika.

First Citizen: What was the net result of salt's use on city snow?

Second Citizen: It gave taxpayers a sleigh ride on well-seasoned snowflakes.

"The love and wisdom of our Heavenly Father are manifest not only in gifted ones but in broken fragments of humanity, which should therefore be carefully gathered up, that nothing be lost which His sanctifying fingers have touched."

Dr. Samuel Howe believed what he wrote.

The Boston physician tended the wounded and the starving of the Greek war for independence; went to jail in Germany for helping Polish refugees; and devoted his lifetime to the mentally ill, the feeble-minded, the slave and the criminal.

He headed a school for the blind, where he first bandaged his own eyes to better understand the affliction, but his crowning achievement was his Bible for the blind, first published in America long before the Braille System came into general use.

Spotlight Turned On Hoffa And Union

By Victor Riesel

Squads of special agents operating out of a federal bureau little known to the public are stalking Jimmy Hoffa — and each of the 5,000 officials who help him run the Teamsters. Slowly and methodically, this "Operation Penetration" of the transport organization is developing into the most sprawling network ever spun across the land.

Victor Riesel

When the investigation is complete, there will be little in the personal financial history of every one—repeat every one—of the Teamster local and national office leaders which won't be known to the government. And which won't be neatly noted in one set of dossiers.

For three months now this probe has been directed personally by ex-FBI Agent Daniel O'Connor. He is assistant commissioner for Compliance and Enforcement of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor-Management Reports set up under the Landrum-Griffin Act.

Commissioner O'Connor is a powerful figure indeed under the law. When it comes to finances, a labor official—and his immediate family—has less privacy than the head of a nudist colony.

Certainly the law will run into the wrath of civil liberties groups.

BUT THE LAW does give O'Connor's special division the power to go into every bank account, every rental, every real estate transaction, every bill paid, every investment, every piece of furniture bought, every jitney of expense disbursed by a union official and his or her spouse or minor children.

O'Conner's staff is limited but in many major cities the squads have completed such probes of Teamster officials of joint councils and the biggest local units.

In a year, perhaps, each of Hoffa's 900 locals and their leaders will have passed under this financial Geiger counter.

The investigation is directed personally by O'Connor from Washington. It is based primarily on Treasury Department income tax filings. He also has available every other type of government tax report.

Then where he believes it might add to his information, O'Connor's agents consult confidential police department files, district attorneys, private crime committees, FBI files, Justice Department summary reports and state insurance department documents.

IN A SENSE this is similar to the Treasury Department's net worth type of investigation. It puts in one folder a family's personal financial history.

The Landrum-Griffin law makes this possible under the section on the fiduciary relationship between a union official and his organization. This goes for unpaid trustees as well as highly paid international labor leaders. It's all in Section 501 of the full Disclosure Act.

Here's how the Labor Department itself has explained the law:

"A union officer or employe must file a report if he or his spouse or minor child. . .holds any securities or. . .other interest in, or has any income or other valuable benefit from" an employer dealing with the union.

From there on out the law becomes really detailed on possible loans or special privileges granted the official and his family by the "boss."

There even is a sentence saying it is against the law to have certain "arrangements" with such a businessman.

THE LAW also prohibits any relationships between a union official and his family and a company which sells equipment or services to the union.

To prove that the union official is not breaking this law, he must file a detailed report with the Labor Department's "fishbowl" division. Once it is filed as a sworn statement, the new enforcement division of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959 has the right to probe its accuracy.

It is under this right that Commissioner O'Connor has been investigating union financial statements. It was his decision to look into each of Jim Hoffa's 900-odd locals.

What O'Connor has found—if anything—only he and a few of his colleagues know. But what is known is that they do know more about the private financial lives of Teamster officials than even Jimmy Hoffa himself. That is something.

Worse Than Powers' Trial

By Norman Moss

LONDON

"It's not very nice standing in the same spot that Francis Powers occupied, not nice at all," said the tall, gray-haired Englishman with typical understatement.

He ought to know, for John Cushny, a 62-year-old engineer, stood in the very same dock 27 years ago, charged with espionage and sabotage in the famous "Metro-vickers Case."

Cushny and five others of his countrymen were held for four weeks, grilled by Soviet police and freed on bail one week before their trial.

One of them was acquitted, one deported, and the others were given prison setences (but were released after three months). They were the most famous foreign "spies" ever nabbed by Russia.

In an interview, Cushny compared his experience with Powers'. "They seem to have given Powers much more of a fair trial than we got—that's the impression I got," he reminisced.

"I WAS QUESTIONED for 14 hours a day, day in and day out," he said. "There was no physical pressure put on me, no bright lights or thumbscrews or anything like that. But I was worn down," he recalled.

"They'd vary the technique. Sometimes they would be very casual. Their attitude would be, 'Look here, there's nothing important in this. Just write down the statement and then we'll let you go about your business.'

"At other times, their attitude would be threatening. They didn't threaten anything specific but implied that there would be very serious consequences indeed if I did not do what they wanted.

"How did I hold out? Inborn stubbornness, I suppose.

"Powers seemed to stand up remarkably well under the pressure of questioning," Cushny said. "I don't think I would have been as alert as he was, especially if I hadn't had seven days of freedom before my trial."

The man who prosecuted the six Englishmen was Andrei Vishinsky, prosecutor of the Moscow purge trials and later chief Russian delegate to the United Nations until his death in 1954.

"Vishinsky demanded the severest possible punishment for us," said the former defendant. "That meant the death penalty.

"When one of us, Leslie Thornton, dared to withdraw a confession they had wrung from him in Lubyanka prison, Vishinsky hissed —in court—'perhaps you will be used as manure for our socialist fields.'"

A HIGH POINT of the trial occurred on the second day when defendant Alan Monkhouse stood up and told the court over the banging of the judge's gavel: "I declare that the whole trial is a frame-up, constructed on entirely false confessions by terrorized Russians." (Monkhouse is now an engineer in Pakistan.)

The six Britons had been employed by Metropolitan Vickers, a firm building power plants for the Soviet government. Their trial—ostensibly for sabotage and espionage—was actually one of the pretexts used to explain failure of the first industrial five years plan.

"We knew when we stood up there that the whole thing was just a show. There wasn't any particular reason why they chose us. They just wanted six live Englishmen to put the blame on.

"The Powers trial looked like the same type of big show. If they didn't want the trial for their policy, they wouldn't have made it such a propaganda affair. They'd have done it quietly, in private."

Nixon's Experience

By David Lawrence

Democrats Open Way For Full Discussion

President Eisenhower may have unwittingly started the ball rolling on one of the most important issues of the campaign — namely, just how much experience vice President Nixon has had in the development of national and international policies.

David Lawrence

The President was asked at his news conference on Wednesday to say in what "decisions" on public policy the vice president had participated and Mr. Eisenhower s answer was that "decisions" are made by the President and not by anybody else. At the same time he said that he considers Mr. Nixon one of his "principal advisers."

The Democrats in the Senate promptly thought they saw an issue and seized upon this answer as meaning that Mr. Nixon's participation on the executive side of the government had been most incidental.

Actually what the President said is in line with what Vice President Nixon himself had previously revealed in describing his own role.

IN AN IMPROMPTU interview with Mr. Nixon last May, which was not widely published in the newspapers, the following colloquy occurred:

"Q: What role do you play in Cabinet meetings, for example? Do you have a chance to speak up?

"A: Yes, I have always had the opportunity to express myself, not only at Cabinet meetings but at the other meetings over which the President presides. Usually it is his custom, once a matter is presented at any one of these meetings, to ask the various people around the table for their comments and suggestions.

"In fact, the President always invites all of us who participate in such meetings to indicate our view before he, the President, reaches a decision.

"Q.: Who makes the decisions in meetings? Are they committee decision'?

"A: I think one of the essential rules for any orderly government is that there can be only one man who makes the final decisions. I, for one, have never believed in government by committee, because what happens then is that the decisions made represent the least common denominator of what everybody will agree to, and this means leadership at its lowest level, rather than at its highest level.

"Now, I know that there have been those who have suggested that the President believes in government by committee, that he does not make decisions or overrule members of his official family on issues. Nothing could be further from the truth.

"The President is a very patient man. He always invites full and free discussion. He tries to bring about agreement among all of the members of his Cabinet and Security Council when important decisions are being made.

"But, in the final analysis, the President recognizes that the Cabinet and Security Council are advisory to him only.

"The President, during the seven years that I have been with him, has never put a matter to the vote of the Cabinet, the Security Council or the legislative leaders. I believe he is absolutely correct in following this practice because, in the final analysis, he, the President, should make the big decisions rather than pass the buck, in effect, to his advisers. I don't mean that he isn't affected by what we all say, but he himself, after he hears what we all say, announces the decision.

"Of course, there have been instances in which the view adopted by the President has been the view held by others in his official family than myself.

"But I would say that the number of cases in which this has happened has been very small compared to the number of cases in which I have shared the views that the President has eventually approved."

THE BIG ISSUE in the campaign is not the extent to which Mr. Nixon is responsible for Mr. Eisenhower's decisions, but the knowledge of national and international problems that Mr. Nixon has gained during the last 7½ years by his presence in top councils. In the same interview, which was published on May 16 in "U.S. News & World Report," Mr. Nixon disclosed the time he has spent on executive work. He said:

"I had my office do a tabulation of the meetings that I have attended since January, 1953, as recorded in my daily calendar. I have attended 173 meetings that the president has had with legislative leaders, and presided over two of those. I have attended 217 meetings of the National Security Council, and presided over 26 of those. I have attended 163 meetings of the Cabinet, and presided over 19 cabinet meetings."

IN THE SENATE debates since Wednesday quite a point has been made by the Democrats of the fact that Mr. Eisenhower in his news conference was asked to give an instance in which Vice President Nixon had influenced a particular "decision." The President parried the question by quipping that he might think of one "if you give me a week." One of the Democrats in the Senate debate said this made it "obvious that Mr. Nixon's contributions were so slight that the President could not recall a single one."

It would have been considered indelicate for the President to have initiated a discussion of this kind but now that the Democrats have opened the way, it gives him a full opportunity in the campaign to discuss Mr. Nixon's experience in government — which, after all, is one of the main questions in the minds of the voters.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Five East Liverpool veterans who served with the 332nd Infantry on the Austro-Italian front during the world war attended the annual regimental reunion at Springfield.

Eight Wellsville boys, who represented the Columbiana County Council, captured third prize in a scouting contest in conjunction with the Ohio State Fair at Columbus.

Columbiana County experienced an 82-day drought, most severe in the last 50 years.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The American Legion's fun wagon of Voiture 273, 40 & 8 Society, received first prize during the annual American Legion state convention at Toledo.

More than 200 attended an outing at Firestone Park in Columbiana honoring the birthday anniversary of Judge W. F. Lones of Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Rev. William H. Lawrence, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church for 4½ years, resigned to accept a position at a church in Sharon, Pa.

William Kaufman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kaufman of Jefferson St., Newell, won the "Orange Crate Derby" for the second consecutive year.

In Line Of Duty

WASHINGTON

Death spread through the ranks of firefighters in the United States and Canada last year with increased tempo, according to a survey compiled by the International Association of Firefighters, AFL-CIO, in 1,200 cities and towns.

The rate of firefighters killed in the line of duty mounted from 37 per 100,000 men in 1958 to 66 per 100,000 men in 1959, largely due to structural collapses, explosions, asphyxiations, electrical shock, burns and traffic accidents, the study revealed.

The odds of a firefighter being killed in the line of duty, according to the survey, are nearly three times greater than other workers.

It also was revealed in the study that 21 out of every 100 firefighters, or one out of every five, were hurt in facing the hazards of their job. On the average job, three out of every 100 workers were injured on the job, but the survey brought out that firefighters were inflicted with seven times as many on-the-job injuries as the average American worker in 1959.

New York and Chicago each reported seven firefighters were killed in the line of duty last year. Six lost their lives in St. Louis and five died in a Kansas City, Kansas tragedy. Four others met death in Philadelphia during the year.

Three were killed in Malden, Mass.; three died in the line of duty in Houston, Tex.; and a similar number of fatalities was counted in Toronto, Canada.

Five cities each reported the deaths of two firefighters in the line of duty. They were Pittsburgh, Pa.; Syracuse, N. Y.; Woonsocket, R. I.; New Haven, Conn., and Montreal, Canada.

Although there is quite a difference of opinion as to just when the first Christian church actually was erected, most historians claim that the first church building was constructed in Antioch in about A.D. 50.

A Shocking Traffic Safety Report

That was a shocking report issued by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

In case the story in Friday's Review escaped your attention, this startling paragraph is repeated: "On the basis of national urban experience, the National Safety Council estimates that traffic accidents involving East Liverpool residents in and out of the city cost your community about $1,100,000 annually."

Included in the figures are estimates of loss of earning power, medical and hospital expenses, cost of motor vehicle repair or replacement and the cost of providing auto insurance.

To put it mildly, the report is staggering.

An expanded citywide safety program — as the report recommended — is a necessary part of any effort to rectify the situation. But the burden still falls directly on the individual motorist. All the traffic programs in the world won't help unless the individual pays heed and does his or her part in the interest of safety.

With the Labor Day holiday just around the corner, there's no time like the present to pause and reflect on the terrible price that is paid for failure to drive in a safe and sane manner. Let's cut the sobering figure in half before it's time for the next Highway Department report.

Who's Stupid?

Law enforcement officers must bitterly resent the charge of Spunky Firman that he had remained at large for a month "mostly through my luck and their stupidity."

What punks like Spunky forget is that while they're outnumbered in respect to manpower, they have the element of surprise on their side and can call the tune to a limited degree for awhile in any such situation. But eventually they end up in the hands of the law.

It was Spunky who was stupid, not the police. All that lies ahead for him are days behind prison bars.

While those like Spunky grab the headlines because of the sensational nature of their escapades, fellows like Charles Amato, Deputy Jim Miller and others who track them down are the real heroes.

Both Feet In The Door

A new phrase in the vernacular of international relations that will take a lot of getting used to was heard in the conference of American foreign ministers in Costa Rica last week:

"Sino-Soviet imperialism."

Secretary of State Herter used it to explain the problem of security in the New World. It was referred to as well by Cuba's foreign minister, Paul Roa, replying to Secretary Herter. Roa proclaimed Cuba's government's friendship for the Soviet Union and Communist China — not for one, or the other, but for both.

Those who have feared Russia would get its foot in the door if the New World by dominating a sympathetic government in Cuba underestimated the danger. It is not only a Russian foot but a Chinese foot that is invading hemispheric security.

The revived issue of whether Old World intervention is to be tolerated by the republics of the New World is going to turn now on the amount of indignation generated by the intervention not only of Russia but of Communist China as well.

THE 21 REPUBLICS in the Organization of American States must think not only of the Kremlin in Moscow but the Communist hierarchy in Peiping.

The Communist Conspiracy is no longer symbolized by Lenin, Stalin, or Khrushchev, but by Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai.

And the force behind the symbol is no longer Russia alone. It has been augmented by teeming millions of Chinese eyeing the prospect of expansion into the sparsely populated countries of Central and South America.

There is friction between Moscow and Peiping on details of the Marxist overthrow of non-Marxist governments. But Marxist domination of Cuba as the base for empire-building in the New World is a grand concept above and beyond the kind of ideological friction generated by clashing details.

In the evolution of international balances of power and the plans for collective security that have been carried out in the United Nations and the Organization of American States, this is one of the key events of the 20th century.

THE UNITED STATES has called on its American neighbors to share its alarm over Sino-Soviet imperialism. They understand the danger. But in their awareness of common danger there is no thought of retaliation—no mention of a counter-offensive.

Once more, freedom has been put on the defensive and is being kept there by the dynamic initiative of the Communist conspiracy.

Once more, the Marxists are getting ready to bite off another chunk of non-Marxist territory without fear of retaliation.

There will be the usual outraged cries and the usual hysterical spending of public money by the United States to buy support for republicanism in government.

But with both feet in the door, the Sino-Soviet imperialists can't well lose. The only thing that might happen is a smaller, slower measure of success than they hoped for when they laid their plans, unless their intended victims find away to retaliate.

Sound Investment

A 10-point improvement program has been proposed if voters see fit to approve the city income tax at the polls on Nov. 8.

It includes: A citywide year-round recreation program; general improvement of streets, alleys and sewers; an improved street cleaning program; an overhaul and modernization of the street lighting system; beautification of the river front, tied in with water sports, boating and fishing; establishment of new off-street parking facilities, and preparation of a "master plan" to make the community eligible for federal urban renewal funds.

The list of projects is an imposing and sound one. They're all things which are needed to help East Liverpool move ahead. If you're against the tax at present, study the 10 points and give them your most serious attention.

The improvements represent a lot of dividends for an investment of only 80 cents on each $100.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

SCREEN HERO

I am a hero; man to man
And never lose my fights;
No foul punch do I ever ban
In throwing lefts and rights.
I swing haymakers from the floor
Until the villain's out. . .
And then I pick him up for more
And kick him in the snout!

II

I slug him on the chin. I do
And I pulverize his nose;
Below the belt I slam a few
To top all dirty blows;
I then drag up his bleeding form
And toss him on the bed. . .
(By this time I am getting warm

III

I bash him with a kitchen chair
And sock him with a lamp;
I pound his head upon a stair
And on his face I tramp;
One good punch used to mark real men
Before "live" shows and tape
But punches know no limit when
A screen hero's in shape.

AS THE RESULT of the latest scandal in snow removal, New York may have to order officeholders on a salt-free diet. Probers say city was taken for half a million through bribery, overcharges and other finagling in purchase of salt. It might have been cheaper to use pepper.

That salt is used in city snow removals is not too well known to most people and we heard the following conversation:

First Citizen: What's all this about salt for getting rid of snow?

Second Citizen: I dunno. I always used a shovel.

First Citizen: How did the Dominican Republic get into our snow scene?

Second Citizen: I guess all the salt we had in America was in them clogged up salt shakers that never work, especially in wet weather.

First Citizen: I never seen no salt being put on snow in New York streets, did you?

Second Citizen: No. The snow stuck around on the streets in my neighborhood so long they might have got just as far using Tabasco sauce and paprika.

First Citizen: What was the net result of salt's use on city snow?

Second Citizen: It gave taxpayers a sleigh ride on well-seasoned snowflakes.

The six Britons had been employed by Metropolitan Vickers, a firm building power plants for the Soviet government. Their trial—ostensibly for sabotage and espionage—was actually one of the pretexts used to explain failure of the first industrial five years plan.

"We knew when we stood up there that the whole thing was just a show. There wasn't any particular reason why they chose us. They just wanted six live Englishmen to put the blame on.

"The Powers trial looked like the same type of big show. If they didn't want the trial for their policy, they wouldn't have made it such a propaganda affair. They'd have done it quietly, in private."

Nixon's Experience

By David Lawrence

Democrats Open Way For Full Discussion

President Eisenhower may have unwittingly started the ball rolling on one of the most important issues of the campaign — namely, just how much experience vice President Nixon has had in the development of national and international policies.

David Lawrence

The President was asked at his news conference on Wednesday to say in what "decisions" on public policy the vice president had participated and Mr. Eisenhower s answer was that "decisions" are made by the President and not by anybody else. At the same time he said that he considers Mr. Nixon one of his "principal advisers."

The Democrats in the Senate promptly thought they saw an issue and seized upon this answer as meaning that Mr. Nixon's participation on the executive side of the government had been most incidental.

Actually what the President said is in line with what Vice President Nixon himself had previously revealed in describing his own role.

IN AN IMPROMPTU interview with Mr. Nixon last May, which was not widely published in the newspapers, the following colloquy occurred:

"Q: What role do you play in Cabinet meetings, for example? Do you have a chance to speak up?

"A: Yes, I have always had the opportunity to express myself, not only at Cabinet meetings but at the other meetings over which the President presides. Usually it is his custom, once a matter is presented at any one of these meetings, to ask the various people around the table for their comments and suggestions.

"In fact, the President always invites all of us who participate in such meetings to indicate our view before he, the President, reaches a decision.

"Q.: Who makes the decisions in meetings? Are they committee decision'?

"A: I think one of the essential rules for any orderly government is that there can be only one man who makes the final decisions. I, for one, have never believed in government by committee, because what happens then is that the decisions made represent the least common denominator of what everybody will agree to, and this means leadership at its lowest level, rather than at its highest level.

"Now, I know that there have been those who have suggested that the President believes in government by committee, that he does not make decisions or overrule members of his official family on issues. Nothing could be further from the truth.

"The President is a very patient man. He always invites full and free discussion. He tries to bring about agreement among all of the members of his Cabinet and Security Council when important decisions are being made.

"But, in the final analysis, the President recognizes that the Cabinet and Security Council are advisory to him only.

"The President, during the seven years that I have been with him, has never put a matter to the vote of the Cabinet, the Security Council or the legislative leaders. I believe he is absolutely correct in following this practice because, in the final analysis, he, the President, should make the big decisions rather than pass the buck, in effect, to his advisers. I don't mean that he isn't affected by what we all say, but he himself, after he hears what we all say, announces the decision.

"Of course, there have been instances in which the view adopted by the President has been the view held by others in his official family than myself.

"But I would say that the number of cases in which this has happened has been very small compared to the number of cases in which I have shared the views that the President has eventually approved."

THE BIG ISSUE in the campaign is not the extent to which Mr. Nixon is responsible for Mr. Eisenhower's decisions, but the knowledge of national and international problems that Mr. Nixon has gained during the last 7½ years by his presence in top councils. In the same interview, which was published on May 16 in "U.S. News & World Report," Mr. Nixon disclosed the time he has spent on executive work. He said:

"I had my office do a tabulation of the meetings that I have attended since January, 1953, as recorded in my daily calendar. I have attended 173 meetings that the president has had with legislative leaders, and presided over two of those. I have attended 217 meetings of the National Security Council, and presided over 26 of those. I have attended 163 meetings of the Cabinet, and presided over 19 cabinet meetings."

IN THE SENATE debates since Wednesday quite a point has been made by the Democrats of the fact that Mr. Eisenhower in his news conference was asked to give an instance in which Vice President Nixon had influenced a particular "decision." The President parried the question by quipping that he might think of one "if you give me a week." One of the Democrats in the Senate debate said this made it "obvious that Mr. Nixon's contributions were so slight that the President could not recall a single one."

It would have been considered indelicate for the President to have initiated a discussion of this kind but now that the Democrats have opened the way, it gives him a full opportunity in the campaign to discuss Mr. Nixon's experience in government — which, after all, is one of the main questions in the minds of the voters.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Five East Liverpool veterans who served with the 332nd Infantry on the Austro-Italian front during the world war attended the annual regimental reunion at Springfield.

Eight Wellsville boys, who represented the Columbiana County Council, captured third prize in a scouting contest in conjunction with the Ohio State Fair at Columbus.

Columbiana County experienced an 82-day drought, most severe in the last 50 years.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The American Legion's fun wagon of Voiture 273, 40 & 8 Society, received first prize during the annual American Legion state convention at Toledo.

More than 200 attended an outing at Firestone Park in Columbiana honoring the birthday anniversary of Judge W. F. Lones of Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Rev. William H. Lawrence, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church for 4½ years, resigned to accept a position at a church in Sharon, Pa.

William Kaufman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kaufman of Jefferson St., Newell, won the "Orange Crate Derby" for the second consecutive year.

In Line Of Duty

WASHINGTON

Death spread through the ranks of firefighters in the United States and Canada last year with increased tempo, according to a survey compiled by the International Association of Firefighters, AFL-CIO, in 1,200 cities and towns.

The rate of firefighters killed in the line of duty mounted from 37 per 100,000 men in 1958 to 66 per 100,000 men in 1959, largely due to structural collapses, explosions, asphyxiations, electrical shock, burns and traffic accidents, the study revealed.

The odds of a firefighter being killed in the line of duty, according to the survey, are nearly three times greater than other workers.

It also was revealed in the study that 21 out of every 100 firefighters, or one out of every five, were hurt in facing the hazards of their job. On the average job, three out of every 100 workers were injured on the job, but the survey brought out that firefighters were inflicted with seven times as many on-the-job injuries as the average American worker in 1959.

New York and Chicago each reported seven firefighters were killed in the line of duty last year. Six lost their lives in St. Louis and five died in a Kansas City, Kansas tragedy. Four others met death in Philadelphia during the year.

Three were killed in Malden, Mass.; three died in the line of duty in Houston, Tex.; and a similar number of fatalities was counted in Toronto, Canada.

Five cities each reported the deaths of two firefighters in the line of duty. They were Pittsburgh, Pa.; Syracuse, N. Y.; Woonsocket, R. I.; New Haven, Conn., and Montreal, Canada.

Although there is quite a difference of opinion as to just when the first Christian church actually was erected, most historians claim that the first church building was constructed in Antioch in about A.D. 50.

Western Diplomats Expect Congo To Slip To Red Bloc

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Western diplomats see this tortured nation—or at least the part controlled by volatile Premier Patrice Lumumba — sliding slowly but surely into the Communist bloc.

If they are right, an event of vast political importance is taking place in the heart of Africa with the United Nations standing by to preserve order.

Apart from the fevered activity of Communist bloc nations here, the pattern of events is becoming apparent to students of Communist policy.

Premier Lumumba's startling changes of position, his open challenge of the United Nations and Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, his constant agitation of the largely illiterate Congolese can be explained in no other way, veteran observers say.

Advisers of left wing persuasion are very active in the premier's own office, in the interior ministry and many other strategic points in the Congo government, informants say.

Lumumba begins to act more and more as if he were being propelled by someone with vastly more political experience and subtlety than he has ever been able to acquire.

A party of Soviets arrived Thursday in a Soviet Ilyushin jet. Information Minister Anicet Kashamura said the group included G. A. Zhukov, Soviet minister of cultural affairs. The foreign editor of Pravda was also reported aboard the plane.

The move toward the Communist bloc is taking place although there are secessionist moves or at least trends toward greater local autonomy in almost every province in the Congo.

Lumumba's political leadership would be very shaky in any country where political responsibility was understood and practiced.

But this is a nation which had its first national elections in April and May. Perhaps 10 million of the 14 million Congolese know no other authority than their local chief.

Resistance to Lumumba is not nonexistent as was shown Thursday when a thousand or more youths demonstrated against him at the opening of the Conference of Independent African States.

But is is divided on political and tribal lines. There is no leadership. President Joseph Kasavubu, leader of the strong Bakongo tribe in western Congo, so far has gone along with Lumumba, apparently ignoring the aspirations of his people for autonomy and for freedom from Lumumba's government.

Two Mystery Planes Strafe Laos Warships

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Souvanna Phouma's revolutionary government today began building gun emplacements along the Mekong River and clamped an 8 p. m. curfew on the jittery capital.

(A Vientiane radio broadcast heard in Bangkok said two mystery planes had strafed Laotian warships in the Mekong Friday. The broadcast said stray shrapnel from the planes damaged houses along the river bank before gunfire from the vessels drove them off.)

Bomb Explodes Block From Red Envoy Home

HAVANA (AP)—A bomb exploded early today in the Vedado district one block from the former Hilton Hotel where Soviet Ambassador Sergei Kydryavgsev resides. Police said no one was injured.

The explosion was only a block from the site of a blast last Monday night when a bomb damaged a power transformer and plunged the area into darkness.

Hog Free City

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Norfolk is now "hog - free." But it required some official effort. The city had to move hogs from its Halstead Farm in territory annexed from Princess Anne county. A city ordinance prohibits hogs in the city limits.

Traffic Death On Jury List

The traffic death of a Hookstown man will be among cases to be investigated by the Beaver County Grand Jury when it convenes Monday at Beaver for the September term of court. The docket lists 55 cases.

Coy Calvin Dalton, 47, of Aliquippa is charged with involuntary manslaughter and operating a vehicle intoxicated.

J. Hall Swaney, 58, of Hookstown became Beaver County's 21 traffic fatality for the year when he died several hours after Dalton's vehicle plowed into the left side of his car at the intersection of Rts. 18 and 51 about 3 miles from Monaca in Center Township on July 1.

Other cases include that of Thomas Charles Merical of Brighton Township charged with rape. He gave himself up Aug. 15 after eluding police for five days.

Two Midland cases are those of Anthony Tonti, charged with assault and battery, and Otha Bell aggravated assault and battery.

The jury will also consider the cases of Leamon L. Black of East Palestine, charged with perjury, and Edison John Snyder of Negley, for subornation of perjury.

Grand jurors include B. Cullen of Greene Township.

Names of petit jurors drawn for trials the week of Sept. 12 include Jane Gengarella, Harry Grosh, Howard McDonald, Paul N. Russell and Eugene Rutherford, all of Midland; Kenneth E. Campbell and Mable Henderson, both of Ohio Township; George A. Brown of Industry, Mary M. Barton of Georgetown and Chester Elliott and Frank Laughlin of Greene Township.

Those for the week of Sept. 19 include Lester W. Barr and Kathryn S. Mullin of Midland, Frank R. Dawson and Irene McCoy of Ohio Township, Dona L. Hewitt and Clyde J. Piquet, both of Industry, and Harry Spence of Frankfort Springs.

Car Kills Boy, 3 Drowned In Preble County

EATON, Ohio (AP)—The deaths of four youngsters Friday has raised to 13 the number of persons killed in Preble County since Sunday.

James Reynolds of Brookville, Ohio, was injured fatally Friday when he ran in front of a car on Ohio 127 one mile north of Eaton.

Earlier three children drowned in a farm pond near West Elkton. The victims were twins Ronnie and Donnie Myers, 11, and Billy Myers, 12, sons of a Middletown widow.

The boys had been paddling around the pond in a boat which filled with water, sheriff's deputies reported.

Elsewhere in the county, a two-car collision Sunday killed four persons and a similar crash Monday injured five persons fatally.

2 Cubans Bare Offer To Kill Trujillo Aide

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Two Cubans told Mexican police Friday night that the Dominican government paid them $1,500 each to kill a former secretary of strongman Rafael L. Trujillo, but they did not carry out the order.

"We were only securing the means to abandon the Dominican Republic," said Manuel Quintana Valdez, one of the two Cubans extradited from Miami by the Mexican government.

Quintana and Artemio Servando Molina were brought here to face charges of killing Spanish-born writer Jose Almoina Mateos last May 4.

Spunky

Mrs. Ivy Daugherty, who lives alone near the Wilkin home, did not answer the telephone Friday.

Mrs. Wilkin went to the Daugherty home, but not satisfied with the answers her mother gave, sent two men to the house and called police.

The two men escorted Mrs. Daugherty outside and capture of Firman, who had been inside the house, followed quickly.

Mrs. Daugherty said the fugitive was a gentleman throughout his forced visit and shared some of her coffee.

Firman had been in Coshocton County Jail originally charged with giving a minor beer.

But in exactly one month of freedom he stacked up trouble for himself eluding police and keeping citizens jittery.

Firman went back to Coshocton Jail with a gun and freed a friend, Robert Johnson, 22.

Johnson, captured last Wednesday, said the two robbed a cafe, drove to Pennsylvania in a stolen car, stole another auto but became separated on a return trip.

Police had chased Firman to Sherrodsville early Friday and after his stolen car was wrecked, he lost his shoes and his gun.

Amato

Spunky didn't drop the sickle, the two officers recall, but fell over on the floor moaning, "I'm hurt."

He was immediately handcuffed by the two officers and taken outside to a waiting police cruiser.

"I didn't try to kill him although I had five rounds left in my pistol," Amato said, adding, "I just wanted to wound him."

"I was lucky, I guess, that Spunky didn't have a gun or I probably would have been shot," Amato added.

THE TWO officers showed courage in their return to the farmhouse to search the rooms after the other policemen had left when the woman said the building was empty, authorities said.

Both Amato and Miller have been the object of considerably publicity since their capture of Spunky. Amato said he was sought most of the night by television stations as far away as Cincinnati and Columbus wishing to interview him.

Amato, an Army veteran, served in Korea as a military policeman. His arm was slightly scratched and bruised by the sickle-wielding Firman.

Lumumba begins to act more and more as if he were being propelled by someone with vastly more political experience and subtlety than he has ever been able to acquire.

A party of Soviets arrived Thursday in a Soviet Ilyushin jet. Information Minister Anicet Kashamura said the group included G. A. Zhukov, Soviet minister of cultural affairs. The foreign editor of Pravda was also reported aboard the plane.

The move toward the Communist bloc is taking place although there are secessionist moves or at least trends toward greater local autonomy in almost every province in the Congo.

Lumumba's political leadership would be very shaky in any country where political responsibility was understood and practiced.

But this is a nation which had its first national elections in April and May. Perhaps 10 million of the 14 million Congolese know no other authority than their local chief.

Resistance to Lumumba is not nonexistent as was shown Thursday when a thousand or more youths demonstrated against him at the opening of the Conference of Independent African States.

But is is divided on political and tribal lines. There is no leadership. President Joseph Kasavubu, leader of the strong Bakongo tribe in western Congo, so far has gone along with Lumumba, apparently ignoring the aspirations of his people for autonomy and for freedom from Lumumba's government.

Two Mystery Planes Strafe Laos Warships

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Souvanna Phouma's revolutionary government today began building gun emplacements along the Mekong River and clamped an 8 p. m. curfew on the jittery capital.

(A Vientiane radio broadcast heard in Bangkok said two mystery planes had strafed Laotian warships in the Mekong Friday. The broadcast said stray shrapnel from the planes damaged houses along the river bank before gunfire from the vessels drove them off.)

Bomb Explodes Block From Red Envoy Home

HAVANA (AP)—A bomb exploded early today in the Vedado district one block from the former Hilton Hotel where Soviet Ambassador Sergei Kydryavgsev resides. Police said no one was injured.

The explosion was only a block from the site of a blast last Monday night when a bomb damaged a power transformer and plunged the area into darkness.

Hog Free City

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Norfolk is now "hog - free." But it required some official effort. The city had to move hogs from its Halstead Farm in territory annexed from Princess Anne county. A city ordinance prohibits hogs in the city limits.

Traffic Death On Jury List

The traffic death of a Hookstown man will be among cases to be investigated by the Beaver County Grand Jury when it convenes Monday at Beaver for the September term of court. The docket lists 55 cases.

Coy Calvin Dalton, 47, of Aliquippa is charged with involuntary manslaughter and operating a vehicle intoxicated.

J. Hall Swaney, 58, of Hookstown became Beaver County's 21 traffic fatality for the year when he died several hours after Dalton's vehicle plowed into the left side of his car at the intersection of Rts. 18 and 51 about 3 miles from Monaca in Center Township on July 1.

Other cases include that of Thomas Charles Merical of Brighton Township charged with rape. He gave himself up Aug. 15 after eluding police for five days.

Two Midland cases are those of Anthony Tonti, charged with assault and battery, and Otha Bell aggravated assault and battery.

The jury will also consider the cases of Leamon L. Black of East Palestine, charged with perjury, and Edison John Snyder of Negley, for subornation of perjury.

Grand jurors include B. Cullen of Greene Township.

Names of petit jurors drawn for trials the week of Sept. 12 include Jane Gengarella, Harry Grosh, Howard McDonald, Paul N. Russell and Eugene Rutherford, all of Midland; Kenneth E. Campbell and Mable Henderson, both of Ohio Township; George A. Brown of Industry, Mary M. Barton of Georgetown and Chester Elliott and Frank Laughlin of Greene Township.

Those for the week of Sept. 19 include Lester W. Barr and Kathryn S. Mullin of Midland, Frank R. Dawson and Irene McCoy of Ohio Township, Dona L. Hewitt and Clyde J. Piquet, both of Industry, and Harry Spence of Frankfort Springs.

Car Kills Boy, 3 Drowned In Preble County

EATON, Ohio (AP)—The deaths of four youngsters Friday has raised to 13 the number of persons killed in Preble County since Sunday.

James Reynolds of Brookville, Ohio, was injured fatally Friday when he ran in front of a car on Ohio 127 one mile north of Eaton.

Earlier three children drowned in a farm pond near West Elkton. The victims were twins Ronnie and Donnie Myers, 11, and Billy Myers, 12, sons of a Middletown widow.

The boys had been paddling around the pond in a boat which filled with water, sheriff's deputies reported.

Elsewhere in the county, a two-car collision Sunday killed four persons and a similar crash Monday injured five persons fatally.

2 Cubans Bare Offer To Kill Trujillo Aide

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Two Cubans told Mexican police Friday night that the Dominican government paid them $1,500 each to kill a former secretary of strongman Rafael L. Trujillo, but they did not carry out the order.

"We were only securing the means to abandon the Dominican Republic," said Manuel Quintana Valdez, one of the two Cubans extradited from Miami by the Mexican government.

Quintana and Artemio Servando Molina were brought here to face charges of killing Spanish-born writer Jose Almoina Mateos last May 4.

Spunky

Mrs. Ivy Daugherty, who lives alone near the Wilkin home, did not answer the telephone Friday.

Mrs. Wilkin went to the Daugherty home, but not satisfied with the answers her mother gave, sent two men to the house and called police.

The two men escorted Mrs. Daugherty outside and capture of Firman, who had been inside the house, followed quickly.

Mrs. Daugherty said the fugitive was a gentleman throughout his forced visit and shared some of her coffee.

Firman had been in Coshocton County Jail originally charged with giving a minor beer.

But in exactly one month of freedom he stacked up trouble for himself eluding police and keeping citizens jittery.

Firman went back to Coshocton Jail with a gun and freed a friend, Robert Johnson, 22.

Johnson, captured last Wednesday, said the two robbed a cafe, drove to Pennsylvania in a stolen car, stole another auto but became separated on a return trip.

Police had chased Firman to Sherrodsville early Friday and after his stolen car was wrecked, he lost his shoes and his gun.

Amato

Spunky didn't drop the sickle, the two officers recall, but fell over on the floor moaning, "I'm hurt."

He was immediately handcuffed by the two officers and taken outside to a waiting police cruiser.

"I didn't try to kill him although I had five rounds left in my pistol," Amato said, adding, "I just wanted to wound him."

"I was lucky, I guess, that Spunky didn't have a gun or I probably would have been shot," Amato added.

THE TWO officers showed courage in their return to the farmhouse to search the rooms after the other policemen had left when the woman said the building was empty, authorities said.

Both Amato and Miller have been the object of considerably publicity since their capture of Spunky. Amato said he was sought most of the night by television stations as far away as Cincinnati and Columbus wishing to interview him.

Amato, an Army veteran, served in Korea as a military policeman. His arm was slightly scratched and bruised by the sickle-wielding Firman.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Faith Sweeps Away Life's Troubles

Year in and year out I receive many letters from people all over this country whom I have never met. And they make me proud that I am an American. For the most part the writers are not United States senators or captains of industry, or rich or famous, and not all of them have had college educations, either; but they are fine people. I want to share with you the story of a woman who wrote to me recently and began her letter by apologizing for all the mistakes in spelling and grammar she knew she would be making. "I only had six years of schooling," she explained, "but I know you will understand my writing."

THE NEXT ITEM of information given in her letter is her age. She comes right out with it: she is 43 years old. And she says her life was a hard one, both before and after an early marriage, which finally ended in divorce. She writes, "I can't tell you what I went through. What made it harder was that I didn't know anything about faith until I read your book. Don't even ask me what the title was — I can't remember. But I do know what was on the inside."

Well, eight years after her divorce the lady married again. This was less than a year ago. But the first few months of her new life weren't too happy; "I didn't have faith in anything, because of my negative thinking. I worried about work. I worried about money. I worried about every worry that came along. It made a wreck out of me, and I knew I was making my husband miserable as well as myself. But what could I do?

"Then this one day I was laid off from work for four days. I was so depressed I didn't know what to do with myself. So I picked up the local newspaper to quiet my nerves and I came across your column. It was about faith and I read it and I said, 'This is what I need.' So I decided then and there I would go to the library and read some more about faith.

"I decided that I would be a person of faith. I started to analyze myself and I found that my brain had a hard wall around it made of brick, and if only I had faith, that wall would come tumbling down and I would see light instead of darkness.

"Sure, I had always prayed. But it was always with doubt or saying, 'Give me this or else I won't believe.' Yes, that is how I prayed. I only wish I had known more about faith years ago."

APPARENTLY SHE knows a good deal more about it now, for she goes on to tell of how she has overcome her worry habit — which certainly is a big and happy thing to have achieved.

"Now," she continues "my husband is worried. He just started a business and is finding it hard. So remembering what you said and what I found out, I went to him this morning and I said to him, 'Don't worry, honey, take a day at a time. Have faith. Things will turn out all right.'

"I know he was surprised to hear me talk that way, and he said, 'It is not as easy as you think.'

"But I said to him, 'I know you believe in God, although I never heard you speak of Him. Just turn to Him and everything will be all right.'

"This is the first time my husband and I ever talked together about God. My husband turned his face away from me. I noticed the tension in his face relaxed and in place of it I saw his eyes fill with tears. I knew then that I had said something which hit home. And this made us love each other so much more."

NOW THERE you have a story out of down-to-earth everyday life, where human problems are. Under the pressure of much trouble through the years this woman had developed such a negative way of thinking, so strong a worry tendency, that it was as if she had a brick wall around her mind. But through faith she became a changed person and the wall came tumbling down.

Do you remember the great words in the Bible about faith moving mountains? "Truly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, 'Be taken up and cast into the sea,' and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that what he says will come to pass, it shall be done for him."

What is meant by the mountain? One of the earth's great eminences of earth and stone? Or is the language symbolic? The mountains that really matter are the massive difficulties in our lives, the hulking obstacles to our happiness — most especially the mental, the moral, the psychological mountains. The woman whose experiences I have recounted saw her trouble in the form of a brick wall. That was her personal symbol. The idea is the same.

And how do we develop the kind of faith that enables us to move these mountains? A good beginning is to read up on faith, just as that woman did. But then you have to start thinking faith. You will never have strong faith until you learn to think in terms of faith, because a person becomes and is what he thinks.

So you must change your mental habits. It isn't easy, but with prayer, determination and unremitting practice you can displace negative thinking with positive thinking and discover in your own experience that faith sweeps away life's troubles.

Begins Duties Sept. 4

Rev. Albert Rodenhausen Will Serve At First Baptist

The Rev. Albert Rodenhausen, formerly of Perry, Ohio, will begin his pastorate with the First Baptist Church Sunday Sept. 4.

Communion will be observed at the 11 a. m. worship service, and the new minister will preach his first sermon. The church will also begin its evening worship services at 7. The pastor's topic will be "God Of Labor".

The church has been without a pastor since the Rev. Robert C. Turner resigned in April to accept a call to the Grove City church, near Columbus. He served here since December 1957.

Rev. Rodenhausen was ordained at the First Baptist Church at Girard, Ill., in 1947. While serving student pastorates in Illinois, he took his theological training at Northern Baptist Seminary, Chicago. He has served churches in Perry, Portsmouth and Hillsboro, Ohio. While at Hillsboro he was president of the Highland County Ministerial Association 1955 and 1956. At present he has been serving as chaplain to the Lake County Memorial Hospital at Painesville. For the past 10 years he has served the Baptists as a leader in Junior High camps in both the state and association levels. At present he is chairman of the board of Christian Education for the Ashtabula Baptist Association. He will be directing one of the Baptist Junior High Jamborees at Hubbard, Oct. 22.

They have 6 children — David, 16, Lois, 14, Carol, 13, Mary Ann, 9, Becky, 5, and John Mark, 3. Mrs. Rodenhausen has been serving as superintendent of the Kindergarten Department at Perry and is chairman of children's work of the Perry Church. She also has attended the "Lab" school for children's workers at Mansfield.

The Rodenhausens will reside at the parsonage, 1034 Bradshaw Ave.

Most Of U.S. Ambassadors To Hold Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. ambassadors around the world will be turning their badges when the be turning in their badges when the next president enters the White House. But prospects are that most of the envoys will stay on the job, whether their new boss is named Nixon or Kennedy.

Of the 90 or so American ambassadors — the exact number keeps changing with the world scene — about 25 are now political" appointees while 65 are "career" diplomats who have risen through the ranks of the foreign service. The ratio was about the same during the Truman administration.

Actually all ambassadors are "political" — the posts are filled by presidential appointment, with Senate confirmation, rather than through examination or civil service promotion. An ambassador is traditionally the president's personal representative to the chief of the foreign country.

For this reason, all ambassadors customarily hand in their resignation when a new president takes office. But actually only the noncareerists are likely to have their resignations accepted, and not necessarily all of these.

Thus the prospect is for a few changes in the $20,000 to $27,500-a-year jobs. But not a wholesale sweep with the advent of either a Democratic or another Republican administration. And of course, the career diplomats normally are reassigned from time to time anyway.

Crowd Expected For West Point Firehall Service

WEST POINT — A large turnout is expected Sunday afternoon for the dedication of the West Point fire department's new station. It was erected as a community affair of donations and fund raising activities.

Rep. Wayne L. Hayes of Flushing, district congressman, will be speaker for the program at 2 p.m.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Faith Sweeps Away Life's Troubles

Year in and year out I receive many letters from people all over this country whom I have never met. And they make me proud that I am an American. For the most part the writers are not United States senators or captains of industry, or rich or famous, and not all of them have had college educations, either; but they are fine people. I want to share with you the story of a woman who wrote to me recently and began her letter by apologizing for all the mistakes in spelling and grammar she knew she would be making. "I only had six years of schooling," she explained, "but I know you will understand my writing."

THE NEXT ITEM of information given in her letter is her age. She comes right out with it: she is 43 years old. And she says her life was a hard one, both before and after an early marriage, which finally ended in divorce. She writes, "I can't tell you what I went through. What made it harder was that I didn't know anything about faith until I read your book. Don't even ask me what the title was — I can't remember. But I do know what was on the inside."

Well, eight years after her divorce the lady married again. This was less than a year ago. But the first few months of her new life weren't too happy; "I didn't have faith in anything, because of my negative thinking. I worried about work. I worried about money. I worried about every worry that came along. It made a wreck out of me, and I knew I was making my husband miserable as well as myself. But what could I do?

"Then this one day I was laid off from work for four days. I was so depressed I didn't know what to do with myself. So I picked up the local newspaper to quiet my nerves and I came across your column. It was about faith and I read it and I said, 'This is what I need.' So I decided then and there I would go to the library and read some more about faith.

"I decided that I would be a person of faith. I started to analyze myself and I found that my brain had a hard wall around it made of brick, and if only I had faith, that wall would come tumbling down and I would see light instead of darkness.

"Sure, I had always prayed. But it was always with doubt or saying, 'Give me this or else I won't believe.' Yes, that is how I prayed. I only wish I had known more about faith years ago."

APPARENTLY SHE knows a good deal more about it now, for she goes on to tell of how she has overcome her worry habit — which certainly is a big and happy thing to have achieved.

"Now," she continues "my husband is worried. He just started a business and is finding it hard. So remembering what you said and what I found out, I went to him this morning and I said to him, 'Don't worry, honey, take a day at a time. Have faith. Things will turn out all right.'

"I know he was surprised to hear me talk that way, and he said, 'It is not as easy as you think.'

"But I said to him, 'I know you believe in God, although I never heard you speak of Him. Just turn to Him and everything will be all right.'

"This is the first time my husband and I ever talked together about God. My husband turned his face away from me. I noticed the tension in his face relaxed and in place of it I saw his eyes fill with tears. I knew then that I had said something which hit home. And this made us love each other so much more."

NOW THERE you have a story out of down-to-earth everyday life, where human problems are. Under the pressure of much trouble through the years this woman had developed such a negative way of thinking, so strong a worry tendency, that it was as if she had a brick wall around her mind. But through faith she became a changed person and the wall came tumbling down.

Do you remember the great words in the Bible about faith moving mountains? "Truly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, 'Be taken up and cast into the sea,' and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that what he says will come to pass, it shall be done for him."

What is meant by the mountain? One of the earth's great eminences of earth and stone? Or is the language symbolic? The mountains that really matter are the massive difficulties in our lives, the hulking obstacles to our happiness — most especially the mental, the moral, the psychological mountains. The woman whose experiences I have recounted saw her trouble in the form of a brick wall. That was her personal symbol. The idea is the same.

And how do we develop the kind of faith that enables us to move these mountains? A good beginning is to read up on faith, just as that woman did. But then you have to start thinking faith. You will never have strong faith until you learn to think in terms of faith, because a person becomes and is what he thinks.

So you must change your mental habits. It isn't easy, but with prayer, determination and unremitting practice you can displace negative thinking with positive thinking and discover in your own experience that faith sweeps away life's troubles.

Begins Duties Sept. 4

Rev. Albert Rodenhausen Will Serve At First Baptist

The Rev. Albert Rodenhausen, formerly of Perry, Ohio, will begin his pastorate with the First Baptist Church Sunday Sept. 4.

Communion will be observed at the 11 a. m. worship service, and the new minister will preach his first sermon. The church will also begin its evening worship services at 7. The pastor's topic will be "God Of Labor".

The church has been without a pastor since the Rev. Robert C. Turner resigned in April to accept a call to the Grove City church, near Columbus. He served here since December 1957.

Rev. Rodenhausen was ordained at the First Baptist Church at Girard, Ill., in 1947. While serving student pastorates in Illinois, he took his theological training at Northern Baptist Seminary, Chicago. He has served churches in Perry, Portsmouth and Hillsboro, Ohio. While at Hillsboro he was president of the Highland County Ministerial Association 1955 and 1956. At present he has been serving as chaplain to the Lake County Memorial Hospital at Painesville. For the past 10 years he has served the Baptists as a leader in Junior High camps in both the state and association levels. At present he is chairman of the board of Christian Education for the Ashtabula Baptist Association. He will be directing one of the Baptist Junior High Jamborees at Hubbard, Oct. 22.

They have 6 children — David, 16, Lois, 14, Carol, 13, Mary Ann, 9, Becky, 5, and John Mark, 3. Mrs. Rodenhausen has been serving as superintendent of the Kindergarten Department at Perry and is chairman of children's work of the Perry Church. She also has attended the "Lab" school for children's workers at Mansfield.

The Rodenhausens will reside at the parsonsage, 1034 Bradshaw Ave.

For tomorrow's service at 10:40 a. m., the Rev. D. Park Chapman will be guest speaker. His topic will be "First Things First."

Mrs. Helen Boley, organist, will present the prelude, "The Church's One Foundation" (Lorenz); offertory, "Melody In G" (Smith), and postlude, "Finale" (Boellman). the Chancel and Youth Choirs, under the direction of Mrs. Laura Chadwick, will also participate.

Most Of U.S. Ambassadors To Hold Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. ambassadors around the world will be turning their badges when the be turning in their badges when the next president enters the White House. But prospects are that most of the envoys will stay on the job, whether their new boss is named Nixon or Kennedy.

Of the 90 or so American ambassadors — the exact number keeps changing with the world scene — about 25 are now political" appointees while 65 are "career" diplomats who have risen through the ranks of the foreign service. The ratio was about the same during the Truman administration.

Actually all ambassadors are "political" — the posts are filled by presidential appointment, with Senate confirmation, rather than through examination or civil service promotion. An ambassador is traditionally the president's personal representative to the chief of the foreign country.

For this reason, all ambassadors customarily hand in their resignation when a new president takes office. But actually only the noncareerists are likely to have their resignations accepted, and not necessarily all of these.

Thus the prospect is for a few changes in the $20,000 to $27,500-a-year jobs. But not a wholesale sweep with the advent of either a Democratic or another Republican administration. And of course, the career diplomats normally are reassigned from time to time anyway.

Crowd Expected For West Point Firehall Service

WEST POINT — A large turnout is expected Sunday afternoon for the dedication of the West Point fire department's new station. It was erected as a community affair of donations and fund raising activities.

Spahn Socks One For Braves' Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan Musial and Warren Spahn, two 39-year-old guys who ain't done yet, are making a race of the run-away in the National League pennant chase.

With Stan the Man socking his 425th home run and breaking a 1-1 tie, the St. Louis Cardinals rapped first place Pittsburgh 3-1 Friday night. Spahnie, striking out 11 for his 283rd victory, then broke up a 2-2 game with a home run that gave second place Milwaukee a 3-2 decision at San Francisco and moved the Braves within 5½ games of the Pirates.

Los Angeles swept Cincinnati in a twi-night pair, 10-1 and 2-0. And Philadelphia beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees retained a one-game lead by beating Cleveland 7-6, in 11 innings and 7-5 in the first of three consecutive doubleheaders. Second-place Baltimore kept pace, beating Kansas City twice, 2-1 and 11-3. Third-place Chicago, two games behind, belted Boston 9-2. Washington defeated Kansas City 5-4.

Musial's 13th home run of the year, coming with a man on in the seventh inning, beat Bob Friend (13-11) and backed a four-hit pitching job by Ernie Broglio (16-6) that sent the Bucs to their second straight loss. It was Musial's first home run since he walloped a two-run shot that beat Friend on Aug. 11. This one tagged Friend with his second defeat in a row. The big right-hander now has won only two of his last seven decisions, and just four of his last 12.

Broglio, the first to win 16 for the Cards since Harvey Haddix bagged 18 in 1954, lost a shutout in the fifth, when Don Hoak doubled and Bill Mazeroski, who had two of the Buc hits, singled ahead of Bill Virdon's sacrifice fly. That tied it 1-all. The Cards scored in the second on Hal Smith's single after a walk and a single by Walt Moryn, who was 4-for-4 and has hit safely in his last six trips.

Spahn, heading for his 11th season of 20 or more victories, put away No. 16. This was his fifth in a row, and he now has won eight of his last nine decisions. The Giants managed eight hits, one a solo home run by Orlando Cepeda that tied it 2-all in the sixth, but Spahn walked only two He struck out the side in the ninth.

Norm Larker, the NL's top hitter, and Duke Snider, coming through with a bang on his "night," backed fine pitching by Roger Craig and Don Drysdale in the Dodger sweep. Larker drove in five runs in the opener, hitting a home run, a double and two singles. He was 0-for-3 in the nightcap, but tops the league at .346.

Jay Hook (10-14) was the first-game loser, leaving when the Dodgers scored five in the fifth. Craig (5-1) had the Reds shut out on three hits with two out in the ninth, when they scored on a walk and singles by Gordy Coleman and Chico Cardenas.

Snider, after sitting out the opener, backed Drysdale's three-hitter with a home run and a triple that made him the Dodgers' all-time extra-base-hit champ with 767. Drysdale, who had lost three in a row, walked three, struck out six for his 11th victory. Loser Cal McLish (4-10) left with a sore shoulder in the seventh, and the Reds then lost Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson when they collided in the outfield in the eighth.

A three-run homer by Lee Walls and Johnny Callison's out-of-the-park shot did it for the Phils and Robin Roberts (9-12). Bob Anderson (7-8) was the loser.

Semifinals Slated Today In World Seniors Tourney

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—John H. Roberts of Chicago, William Diddel of Carmel, Ind., Ted Payseur of Evanston, Ill., and Harry Strasburger of Coffeyville, Kan., were today's semifinalists in the World Seniors Golf Tournament.

Roberts squared off against Diddel in one semifinal scrap and Payseur faced Harry Strasburger in the other.

Roberts turned in the tourney's No. 1 upset Friday by downing co-favorite E. J. Rogers of Oklahoma City 3 and 2. Diddel defeated Dick Toney of Piedmont, Mo., 3 and 1. Payseur, former NCAA golf executive and athletic director at Northwestern University, turned back A. J. Ruffini of Cleveland 3 and 2.

Strasburger won by default from Paul Dickinson of Ardmore, Okla. Dickinson developed sore muscles in his back after his third round victory Thursday.

The minimum age for the tourney is 55.

Racer Watching Event From Sidelines Killed

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—An auto racer—watching from the sidelines—was killed and four other spectators injured Friday night when a stock car crashed over a retaining wall at a Fresno track.

The car, hit by another racer, swerved broadside out of control and flipped onto Ray Albert, 30, of San Jose, who raced under the name of Ray Darney.

The driver of the stock car, J. C. Walkingstick of Fresno, was unhurt.

Yank Women Divers Face Failure

U.S. Wrestler Stuns Red World Champ With Draw

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

ROME (AP) — America's Richard Wilson, a Greco-Roman flyweight wrestler, held world champion Ivan Kocherin of the Soviet Union to a stunning draw today as the second full day of the 17th Olympic Games opened with a liberal test of strength between the United States and the powerful Soviets.

But American women divers, "maybe a little bit" too confident faced failure in 3-meter springboard diving, an event the United States has won eight out of eight times in the Olympics.

Ingrid Kramer, a shapely blonde from Germany, led the way into the afternoon finals of the event as Paula Jean Pope, 1956 bronze medalist in platform diving, and U.S. teammate Patsy Willard were well off the pace with only three dives remaining.

Miss Kramer increased her first round lead with three graceful efforts that boosted her point total to 98.38. Mrs. Pope, of Santa Ana, Calif., second after Friday's opening four dives, dropped to fourth at 90.02. Miss Willard, of Mesa, Ariz., was seventh among the eight who qualified for the finals with 88.78.

The men's 3-meter diving competition also opened today with Sam Hall of Dayton, Ohio, and Gary Tobian of Glendale, Calif., representing the United States.

Other swimming events on the day's schedule were the men's 400-meter medley relay heats, men's 100-meter freestyle final, women's 100-meter freestyle semifinals and women's 200-meter breaststroke final.

Canoeist Paul Beachem of Washington, D.C., finished fifth in his semifinal heat and was eliminated from the men's 1,000-meter kayak singles.

Wilson, a 114-pounder from Toledo, Ohio, surprised the Russian in a second round match. The result followed Wilson's loss of Friday to D. Pireunlescu of Romania. Another loss would have meant elimination for Wilson.

Larry Allen, Portland, Ore., featherweight won his second consecutive Greco-Roman match, but heavyweight Dale Lewis of Milwaukee, Wis., lost a first round decision.

Miss Kramer's trainer, Evelyne Sibinski, is confident her protege will win the women's 3-meter diving. Asked if she thought the American divers were overconfident, Miss Sibinski smiled and said, "maybe a little bit."

But Mrs. Pope said, "I'm not worried. I still have a good chance although I went down two notches to fourth place."

"Ingrid has more difficult dives than her opposition," Miss Sibinski said, "and I'm sure she can increase her lead on the optional dives if she performs normally."

Reds 'Thawing' Cold War, Warm Up To U.S. Athletes

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROME (AP) — Soviet athletes are putting a thaw on the cold war by warming up to rival Americans in the Olympic Games —and they're creating a giant guessing game.

Are the Russians really sincere or is this just another of their old propaganda gimmicks?

"I'm convinced it's strictly on the level," said Kenneth (Tug) Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, today. "Most of this camaraderie started at the track and field level, where the teams are very close.

"I see no propaganda implications. I think it's just a matter of mutual respect on both sides."

Another Olympic official, who preferred not to be identified, said certainly the Russians were playing all the propaganda angles but nothing could be done about it.

"Whether it's sports or politics, these people have the greatest public relations machine I've ever seen," the official said. "I think their athletes are great guys and gals. But these repeated manifestations of friendship—they must be dictated from a higher level."

While Premier Khrushchev rants at President Eisenhower and the Soviet newspapers blare out stories of hidden spies and espionage, the Russian sportsmen have sounded an entirely different note in these 17th Olympic games.

The latest episode occurred Friday when the Soviet track and field team asked permission to work out with the Americans at the Aqua Acetosa practice field.

The day before that, the Russians, after making a formal request through channels, paid a visit to the American quarters in the Olympic Valley. There members of the two most powerful competing nations swapped gifts, warm handshakes and small talk —through interpreters.

The fraternization hasn't been entirely formal. Boys and girls of the rival nations have been dancing cheek-to-cheek in the village snack bar. Fencers have jabbed foils at each other — in friendly practice — and the boxers have shared the same warmup area.

A romance may have pierced the Iron Curtain, although this could be one-sided. A pretty blonde U.S. gymnast, Doris Fuchs of Rochester, N.Y., has admitted she is "stuck" on Boris Niknoro, a Soviet boxer, but Niknorov—for the public record, at least—isn't sure.

"The Russians have initiated most of these get-togethers," said Arthur Lentz, U.S. press chief. "they certainly are pushing it."

New York's Lead Holds At 1 Game

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees have blasted off on that make-or-break weekend in the American League pennant race, rolling a pair of sevens — seven home runs and seven shutout innings of relief help—while putting away the first of three consecutive doubleheaders.

But while they tagged Cleveland 7-6, in 11 innings, and 7-5 (another pair of sevens) at Yankee Stadium Friday night, they couldn't shake free from the pursuing Baltimore Orioles. The Baby Birds stayed just a game behind by sweeping Kansas City 2-1 and 11-3.

Third place Chicago belted Boston 9-2, but the White Sox lost a half-game and now trail by two. Boston also lost Ted Williams indefinitely. The Big Guy, hounded by injury throughout his brilliant career, strained his left shoulder on a first-inning swing.

Washington tightened its grip on fourth place in the AL by beating Detroit 5-4.

In the National League, two of the best, Stan Musial and Warren Spahn, trimmed Pittsburgh's lead to 5½ games. Stan the Man hit a two-run homer that gave St. Louis a 3-1 decision over the Pirates. And Spahn, striking out 11 for his 16th victory, smacked a tie-breaking home run as second place Milwaukee defeated San Francisco 3-2.

Los Angeles swept Cincinnati, 10-1 and 2-0; and Philadelphia beat Chicago's Cubs 4-2.

The Yankees came from behind in both games. They unloaded five home runs in the opener, with Yogi Berra's second of the game, beating reliever Larry Locke (1-4). Duke Maas and Luis Arroyo blanked the Indians over the last three frames. Arroyo was the winner for a 2-0 record. Mickey Mantle, hitting 30 for the sixth consecutive year; Elston Howard, and Bill Skowron, who also powered one in the nightcap, crashed the other home runs.

In the second game, Bob Cerv overhauled a 2-0 Cleveland lead with a three-run homer in the fourth inning. And when they blew that edge, the Yanks bounced back again with a pair of unearned runs in the seventh when second baseman Ken Aspromonte threw wild trying to nail the tying run at the plate. Then Skowron iced it with home run No. 25, his one-season high.

All three runs came home on sacrifice flies in the opener at Baltimore. Marv Breeding brought in the clincher in the ninth, off Ned Garver (1-7), after a single by Gus Triandos and a pinch-double by Gene Woodling. Lefty Steve Barber won his ninth, giving up just four hits and striking out eight. The Birds then rocked loser Bud Daley (13-12) and three relievers for 16 hits in the nightcap while Hoyt Wilhelm won his 10th with six innings of one-hit, shutout relief.

Southpaw Frank Baumann beat his ex-mates with a seven-hitter for a 9-5 record with the White Sox. Earl Wilson (2-2) was the loser as Chicago collected a dozen hits, six of them doubles. Luis Aparicio drove in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a double, and Jim Landis counted two with three hits in five trips.

Jim Lemon's 30th home run cracked a sixth-inning tie for the Senators after Detroit had scored four runs in the first two innings. Pete Ramos (10-13) went all the way, giving up 10 hits. Jim Bunning (8-10) was the loser as the Tigers dropped their third in a row—after winning seven straight.

Injuries Land 4 Of Steelers' Grid Squad In Hospital

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Injuries have put four veteran members of the Pittsburgh Steelers' football team in Mercy Hospital for several days.

Hospitalized Friday were guard Mike Sandusky with a bruised kidney, linebacker Rudy Hayes with a sprained ankle, tackle Byron Beams with rib injuries and fullback John Henry Johnson with a twisted leg.

The four were hurt Thursday night as the Steelers lost to the Detroit Lions 13-7 in a National Football League exhibition contest at Detroit.

Spahn's Lending Bat Besides Arm In Braves' Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wonderful Warren Spahn is lending his bat as well as his arm to the Milwaukee Braves' National League drive.

The superb 39-year-old southpaw brought the Braves to within 5½ games of league leading Pittsburth Friday night by limiting burgh Friday night by limiting 55½ games of league leading Pitts-San Francisco to eight hits and smacking the game winning homer in a 3-2 victory before 28,078.

It was Spahn's eighth victory in his last nine starts and raised his season record to 16-7.

"I've never seen a homer hit any harder," said Ed Mathews who has 30.

Spahn has two for the season and 25 in his Brave career.

Spahn Socks One For Braves' Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan Musial and Warren Spahn, two 39-year-old guys who ain't done yet, are making a race of the run-away in the National League pennant chase.

With Stan the Man socking his 425th home run and breaking a 1-1 tie, the St. Louis Cardinals rapped first place Pittsburgh 3-1 Friday night. Spahnie, striking out 11 for his 283rd victory, then broke up a 2-2 game with a home run that gave second place Milwaukee a 3-2 decision at San Francisco and moved the Braves within 5½ games of the Pirates.

Los Angeles swept Cincinnati in a twi-night pair, 10-1 and 2-0. And Philadelphia beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees retained a one-game lead by beating Cleveland 7-6, in 11 innings and 7-5 in the first of three consecutive doubleheaders. Second-place Baltimore kept pace, beating Kansas City twice, 2-1 and 11-3. Third-place Chicago, two games behind, belted Boston 9-2. Washington defeated Kansas City 5-4.

Musial's 13th home run of the year, coming with a man on in the seventh inning, beat Bob Friend (13-11) and backed a four-hit pitching job by Ernie Broglio (16-6) that sent the Bucs to their second straight loss. It was Musial's first home run since he walloped a two-run shot that beat Friend on Aug. 11. This one tagged Friend with his second defeat in a row. The big right-hander now has won only two of his last seven decisions, and just four of his last 12.

Broglio, the first to win 16 for the Cards since Harvey Haddix bagged 18 in 1954, lost a shutout in the fifth, when Don Hoak doubled and Bill Mazeroski, who had two of the Buc hits, singled ahead of Bill Virdon's sacrifice fly. That tied it 1-all. The Cards scored in the second on Hal Smith's single after a walk and a single by Walt Moryn, who was 4-for-4 and has hit safely in his last six trips.

Spahn, heading for his 11th season of 20 or more victories, put away No. 16. This was his fifth in a row, and he now has won eight of his last nine decisions. The Giants managed eight hits, one a solo home run by Orlando Cepeda that tied it 2-all in the sixth, but Spahn walked only two. He struck out the side in the ninth.

Norm Larker, the NL's top hitter, and Duke Snider, coming through with a bang on his "night," backed fine pitching by Roger Craig and Don Drysdale in the Dodger sweep. Larker drove in five runs in the opener, hitting a home run, a double and two singles. He was 0-for-3 in the nightcap, but tops the league at .346.

Jay Hook (10-14) was the first-game loser, leaving when the Dodgers scored five in the fifth. Craig (5-1) had the Reds shut out on three hits with two out in the ninth, when they scored on a walk and singles by Gordy Coleman and Chico Cardenas.

Snider, after sitting out the opener, backed Drysdale's three-hitter with a home run and a triple that made him the Dodgers' all-time extra-base-hit champ with 767. Drysdale, who had lost three in a row, walked three, struck out six for his 11th victory. Loser Cal McLish (4-10) left with a sore shoulder in the seventh, and the Reds then lost Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson when they collided in the outfield in the eighth.

A three-run homer by Lee Walls and Johnny Callison's out-of-the-park shot did it for the Phils and Robin Roberts (9-12). Bob Anderson (7-8) was the loser.

The latest episode occurred Friday when the Soviet track and field team asked permission to work out with the Americans at the Aqua Acetosa practice field.

The day before that, the Russians, after making a formal request through channels, paid a visit to the American quarters in the Olympic Valley. There members of the two most powerful competing nations swapped gifts, warm handshakes and small talk —through interpreters.

The fraternization hasn't been entirely formal. Boys and girls of the rival nations have been dancing cheek-to-cheek in the village snack bar. Fencers have jabbed foils at each other — in friendly practice — and the boxers have shared the same warmup area.

A romance may have pierced the Iron Curtain, although this could be one-sided. A pretty blonde U.S. gymnast, Doris Fuchs of Rochester, N.Y., has admitted she is "stuck" on Boris Niknoro, a Soviet boxer, but Niknorov—for the public record, at least—isn't sure.

"The Russians have initiated most of these get-togethers," said Arthur Lentz, U.S. press chief, "they certainly are pushing it."

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—Ernie Broglio, Cards, allowed four hits, walked one and struck out four for 3-1 victory over league leading Pirates.

Hitting—Yogi Berra, Yankees, belted a pair of home runs with his second winning opener in 11th inning as Yanks retained first place with 7-6 and 7-5 twi-night sweep over Indians.

New York's Lead Holds At 1 Game

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees have blasted off on that make-or-break weekend in the American League pennant race, rolling a pair of sevens — seven home runs and seven shutout innings of relief help—while putting away the first of three consecutive doubleheaders.

But while they tagged Cleveland 7-6, in 11 innings, and 7-5 (another pair of sevens) at Yankee Stadium Friday night, they couldn't shake free from the pursuing Baltimore Orioles. The Baby Birds stayed just a game behind by sweeping Kansas City 2-1 and 11-3.

Third place Chicago belted Boston 9-2, but the White Sox lost a half-game and now trail by two. Boston also lost Ted Williams indefinitely. The Big Guy, hounded by injury throughout his brilliant career, strained his left shoulder on a first-inning swing.

Washington tightened its grip on fourth place in the AL by beating Detroit 5-4.

In the National League, two of the best, Stan Musial and Warren Spahn, trimmed Pittsburgh's lead to 5½ games. Stan the Man hit a two-run homer that gave St. Louis a 3-1 decision over the Pirates. And Spahn, striking out 11 for his 16th victory, smacked a tie-breaking home run as second place Milwaukee defeated San Francisco 3-2.

Los Angeles swept Cincinnati, 10-1 and 2-0; and Philadelphia beat Chicago's Cubs 4-2.

The Yankees came from behind in both games. They unloaded five home runs in the opener, with Yogi Berra's second of the game, beating reliever Larry Locke (1-4). Duke Maas and Luis Arroyo blanked the Indians over the last three frames. Arroyo was the winner for a 2-0 record. Mickey Mantle, hitting 30 for the sixth consecutive year; Elston Howard, and Bill Skowron, who also powered one in the nightcap, crashed the other home runs.

In the second game, Bob Cerv overhauled a 2-0 Cleveland lead with a three-run homer in the fourth inning. And when they blew that edge, the Yanks bounced back again with a pair of unearned runs in the seventh when second baseman Ken Aspromonte threw wild trying to nail the tying run at the plate. Then Skowron iced it with home run No. 25, his one-season high.

All three runs came home on sacrifice flies in the opener at Baltimore. Marv Breeding brought in the clincher in the ninth, off Ned Garver (1-7), after a single by Gus Triandos and a pinch-double by Gene Woodling. Lefty Steve Barber won his ninth, giving up just four hits and striking out eight. The Birds then rocked loser Bud Daley (13-12) and three relievers for 16 hits in the nightcap while Hoyt Wilhelm won his 10th with six innings of one-hit, shutout relief.

Southpaw Frank Baumann beat his ex-mates with a seven-hitter for a 9-5 record with the White Sox. Earl Wilson (2-2) was the loser as Chicago collected a dozen hits, six of them doubles. Luis Aparicio drove in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a double, and Jim Landis counted two with three hits in five trips.

Jim Lemon's 30th home run cracked a sixth-inning tie for the Senators after Detroit had scored four runs in the first two innings. Pete Ramos (10-13) went all the way, giving up 10 hits. Jim Bunning (8-10) was the loser as the Tigers dropped their third in a row—after winning seven straight.

Injuries Land 4 Of Steelers' Grid Squad In Hospital

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Injuries have put four veteran members of the Pittsburgh Steelers' football team in Mercy Hospital for several days.

Hospitalized Friday were guard Mike Sandusky with a bruised kidney, linebacker Rudy Hayes with a sprained ankle, tackle Byron Beams with rib injuries and fullback John Henry Johnson with a twisted leg.

The four were hurt Thursday night as the Steelers lost to the Detroit Lions 13-7 in a National Football League exhibition contest at Detroit.

Canton Golfer Fires 69

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Frank Beley of Canton, Ohio, posted a 69 Friday for a two-round 142 total at the halfway mark of the 72-hole, $30,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament at the 6,410-yard, par 70 North Hills Country Club.

The armed forces of the United States last year included 32,078 women.

Spahn's Lending Bat Besides Arm In Braves' Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wonderful Warren Spahn is lending his bat as well as his arm to the Milwaukee Braves' National League drive.

The superb 39-year-old southpaw brought the Braves to within 5½ games of league leading Pittsburth Friday night by limiting burgh Friday night by limiting 55½ games of league leading Pitts-San Francisco to eight hits and smacking the game winning homer in a 3-2 victory before 28,078.

It was Spahn's eighth victory in his last nine starts and raised his season record to 16-7.

"I've never seen a homer hit any harder," said Ed Mathews who has 30.

Spahn has two for the season and 25 in his Brave career.

Only 29 Candidates Report For Football At Beaver Local

Disappointed With Turnout, Coach States

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Jack O'Rourke, beginning his third year at Beaver Local, has cause for concern before the season starts.

Only 29 boys are out for football at the Williamsport school, the lowest number with which O'Rourke has worked.

"The turnout is very disappointing, considering that many more boys play in grade school but give up the sport when they reach high school," O'Rourke pointed out.

Beaver Local had a very good turnout last season and ended the campaign with 48 boys.

WHILE SHORT on number, the Beaver Local mentor is also faced with the fact that the team will be slow with not too much experience. But O'Rourke rates the spirit "very high."

Beaver Local lost 10 seniors through graduation, including All-County selections Thurm Allen, a tackle, and Bill Dunn, quarterback. Graduation took the complete backfield from last season, O'Rourke said.

In addition to those graduating, Keith Berger a 235-pound tackle who lettered as a sophomore last year, and Bill Greathouse, a regular guard, gave up the sport.

"Ed Shingleton, our fastest and biggest back at 165 pounds, also decided to pass up football this year," O'Rourke added.

"We have 14 lettermen back, but that doesn't mean much when you have a losing season like we did in 1959." The Beavers won three of nine games last season.

FIVE LETTER winners are battling for the backfield positions. Carl Hoppel, the state wrestling champ, who weighs in at 140, is the leading candidate at fullback. But a sophomore, George Gaydos (150), has been looking very good and may see a lot of action.

Dale Beagle, 145-pound senior, has the inside track on the right halfback job. He only played in one game last year after suffering a brain concussion.

Ron McLaughlin, a 150-pound senior, has earned the call at right half.

The big battle in the backfield at quarterback exists between Jim Broadbent (125) and Mike Klembara (130). Both are juniors and O'Rourke says he probably will let the pair share the signal-calling position.

Three seniors — Bill Reed (145), Gary Williams (130) and Bob Possage (140) — are in the running, along with a junior, Pete Wilkinson, who tips the scales at 145. All saw limited action last season.

ANOTHER topnotch lineman is Dave Myers (145), who is only a sophomore this season but will return to his regular guard post.

Paul Bontempt, a 160-pound senior who was an all-county end last season, will be moved to the other guard spot, O'Rourke added.

Two veterans are back to bolster the situation at center. Jim Hall (160) and Larry Carroll, a junior, who only hits the scales at 130, will be sharing duties as the season progresses.

Beaver Local will be playing its first 10-game schedule this season, with three new opponents added. All home games will start at 2 p. m.

The opener will be at Beaver Local on Saturday, Sept. 10, against a new foe — Springfield Local from Petersburg, Ohio.

Two other new squads on the schedule are South Side and Goshen Union.

Other home tilts are scheduled with Chester Sept. 17, Salineville Sept. 31, United Oct. 7, South Side, Oct. 15 and Northwest of near Canton Nov. 11.

Dennison St. Mary's, Wayne and Northwestern (Pa.) were dropped from last season.

Assisting O'Rourke this season are Tom McCall, Flody Suarez and Walter Wolfe, a new assistant who was at Bergholz last year.

Sept. 10 Springfield Local, home
Sept. 17 Chester, home
Sept. 24 Stanton Local, away
Sept. 31 Salineville, home
Oct. 7 United, home
Oct. 15 South Side, home
Oct. 22 Fairfield - Waterford, away.
Oct. 29 Goshen, away
Nov. 4 Wellsville, away
Nov. 11 Northwest, away

Women's Golf Title At Stake

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A confident former champion and a Chanute, Kan., school teacher playing in her first major tournament battle today for the National Women's Amateur Golf Championship.

The finalists, both 21, are Jo-Anne Gunderson of Kirland, Wash., the 1957 titleholder and veteran of topflight competition, and slim Jean Ashley.

Miss Gunderson lived up to her advance billing as a possible winner by beating Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., 2-up, using her strong tee power to good advantage on the three tough finishing holes over the 6,150-yard Tulsa Country Club course.

The layout plays to a pair of 35-36—71 and Miss Gunderson was only three over par with a 74 to sideline her companion throughout the summer. Miss Gunderson has been the house guest at Miss Eller's home.

Miss Ashley, who admitted that she would have been "tickled to death" just to get to the quarter-finals of her first United States Golf Assn. championship, held on tenaciously to sideline 38-year-old veteran Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa, 1-up.

The affable Kansan became a crowd favorite and a solid dark-horse when she eliminated veteran Curtis Cupper Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., 1-up in 21 holes in the fourth round. She added to her prestige with a 1-up verdict over defending champion Barbara McIntire in the quarter-finals.

Westgate Gridders Will Report Tuesday

Growing Rift Appears In U.S. Tennis Ranks

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—A growing rift appeared in American tennis ranks today about the all-important doubles in the coming Davis Cup challenge round with Australia.

The focal point: A loss by current U.S. Davis Cup team doubles pair Chuck McKinley and Earl Bucholz 6-3, 1-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4 to sixth-seeded Mike Franks of Los Angeles and Don Dell of Bethesda, Md.

The upset in the quarter-finals loomed even bigger because the winners moved to victory despite the fact Dell fell heavily on the left knee he had injured only two days earlier. The spill came in the third set.

"The only way to beat the Australians is to win the doubles," said Barry MacKay, U.S. Davis Cup team member. "And in order to do that we've got to develop more than one possible doubles combination."

MacKay suggested he be paired with Dennis Ralston, California teen-age sensation.

"Let's face it, we've got to go with our best to beat Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson," MacKay continued. "Ralston already has shown he's a top class doubles player and I feel he has the potential to become an even better one. As for myself, and not meaning to boast, I think my doubles record is as good as any American player's today."

Veteran player Gardnar Mulloy places the blame for a lack of top doubles teams on the American way of life where "the emphasis on individual accomplishment and our players are more anxious to excel in singles."

Mulloy said he felt America's best doubles combination would be McKinley and Ralston.

"If these two were paired, MacKay and Buchholz could concentrate on singles," Mulloy added. "In my opinion, these four would stand a fine chance of returning the Davis Cup to our soil."

In the other men's quarter-final played Friday, defending champions Fraser and Emerson defeated Marty Riessen of Hinsdale, Ill., and Ramsey Earnhart of Ventura, Calif., 7-5, 12-14, 6-2, 6-4.

Top-seeded domestic girls Darlene Hard and Maria Bueno won their women's semifinal 8-6, 6-4 over Australia's Jan Lehane and Mary Hawton.

Palmer Tied With Two For Lead At Milwaukee

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Arnold Palmer, golf's leading money winner, shared the lead today with two other money-wise pros, Fred Hawkins and Ken Venturi, at the halfway mark of the $30,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer and Hawkins fired brilliant five-under-par 65s over the North Hills Country Club course Friday. Venturi coupled his first day's 65 with a 69 to knot the three at 134 for 36 holes in the 72-hole tournament.

Palmer, who counts the Masters and National Open among his seven tournament wins this year, served notice that he is out to add the $4,300 top money to his 1960 tournament earnings of $73,586.

The 29-year-old Latrobe, Pa., pro toured the first nine with a five-under-pare 30 Friday, then ran into trouble coming in.

He picked up bogies on the 11th and 13th holes, equalled par from the 14th through the 17th and then closed in spectacular fashion, sinking a 40-foot putt for an eagle 3 on the 530-yard 18th.

Keeping pace with Palmer were a couple of big money winners who haven't had much success scoring victories. Hawkins, a 36-year-old veteran from El Paso, Tex., has won only one PGA co-sponsored tournament since joining the tour in 1947. Venturi has captured just one event this season.

However, Venturi has overall winnings of more than $37,500, while Hawkins has walked off with more than $21,000 — the amount he has averaged annually since 1955.

Just one stroke off the pace with 66-69—135 was Bob Goalby, the former University of Illinois football player.

Mason Rudolph was alone with 136, while another stroke back were Bruce Crampton, the former Australian and Far East Open champion, and Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., who shared the first round lead with Doug Ford and Venturi.

Andrason Blanks Salem On 2 Hits

John Andrason, burly 47-year-old player-manager of Cox-Merchants, proved Friday night that the old timers still have a place in baseball.

In the second game of a best-of-five playoff series with Salem, the County-City league's oldest performer flipped a two-hit shutout for a 9-0 victory that evened the series at one game each.

The East Liverpool squad and it's county rivals will meet in the third game Sunday afternoon at 2 in Salem. The first series victory by Cox-Merchants came last night at Negley.

Andrason sat down Salem with two scratch infield singles a strong bid for a no hitter in the twilight of his baseball career. He also collected one hit in three times at the plate.

Leading Cox-Merchant's healthy 11 hit attack were Charles Dunlevy who homered and singled, outfielder-pitcher Jim Dickey with a double and single, and fleet Lorin Howard with a pair of singles in four trips.

The city entry jumped on Salem's Barnett for six runs in the first inning, added one more in the second and two in the third. The victory followed a 4-0 loss to Salem in the opening game of the series.

Left fielder Gibas collected a double as leadoff batter for Cox-Merchants and scored a run. Both teams played errorless ball in the field.

Toronto Can Wrap Up Loop Crown Today

By The Associated Press

The Toronto Maple Leafs can clinch their fourth International League pennant in seven years today by defeating the Montreal Royals, and if Friday night's game between the two teams is an omen, that could happen very easily.

The Leafs, who have been making a travesty of the IL race, slaughtered the Royals, 10-3, before 7,600 fans, the largest Montreal crowd since opening day, thanks to free tickets to blood donors.

Jim King and Tim Thompson took care of Montreal starter Rene Valdes in the second inning by belting home runs, King connecting with one on, and from that point on the Leafs kept pouring it on.

The Royals used five pitchers in all. Rip Coleman got credit for the victory, but needed relief in the sixth when he began to weaken. Frank Funk finished.

Meanwhile, Miami spotted Columbus five runs and went on to beat the Jets, 6-5 in 13 innings. Columbus was through after doing all its scoring in the first three innings. Albie Pearson's single in the 13th brought in Barry Shetrone from second with the winning run.

In other games Friday, Jersey City beat Richmond 2-1 and Buffalo defeated Rochester 5-2.

Negley Plays Sunday

Negley's baseball squad will play an exhibition game against the Cleveland White Sox Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Negley diamond. No admission will be charged, according to Duke Guy, Negley manager.

Only 29 Candidates Report For Football At Beaver Local

Disappointed With Turnout, Coach States

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Jack O'Rourke, beginning his third year at Beaver Local, has cause for concern before the season starts.

Only 29 boys are out for football at the Williamsport school, the lowest number with which O'Rourke has worked.

"The turnout is very disappointing, considering that many more boys play in grade school but give up the sport when they reach high school," O'Rourke pointed out.

Beaver Local had a very good turnout last season and ended the campaign with 48 boys.

WHILE SHORT on number, the Beaver Local mentor is also faced with the fact that the team will be slow with not too much experience. But O'Rourke rates the spirit "very high."

Beaver Local lost 10 seniors through graduation, including All-County selections Thurm Allen, a tackle, and Bill Dunn, quarterback. Graduation took the complete backfield from last season, O'Rourke said.

In addition to those graduating, Keith Berger a 235-pound tackle who lettered as a sophomore last year, and Bill Greathouse, a regular guard, gave up the sport.

"Ed Shingleton, our fastest and biggest back at 165 pounds, also decided to pass up football this year," O'Rourke added.

"We have 14 lettermen back, but that doesn't mean much when you have a losing season like we did in 1959." The Beavers won three of nine games last season.

FIVE LETTER winners are battling for the backfield positions. Carl Hoppel, the state wrestling champ, who weighs in at 140, is the leading candidate at fullback. But a sophomore, George Gaydos (150), has been looking very good and may see a lot of action.

Dale Beagle, 145-pound senior, has the inside track on the right halfback job. He only played in one game last year after suffering a brain concussion.

Ron McLaughlin, a 150-pound senior, has earned the call at right half.

The big battle in the backfield at quarterback exists between Jim Broadbent (125) and Mike Klembara (130). Both are juniors and O'Rourke says he probably will let the pair share the signal-calling position.

A plentiful supply of ends helps to brighten the outlook a little. Four lettermen will be shooting for the starting berths.

Three seniors — Bill Reed (145), Gary Williams (130) and Bob Possage (140) — are in the running, along with a junior, Pete Wilkinson, who tips the scales at 145. All saw limited action last season.

O'Rourke calls Francis Campbell, a 165-pound senior, the best lineman on the squad. Campbell will be at one of the tackle spots, along with another holdover, Ron Westover, a senior weighing 155.

ANOTHER topnotch lineman is Dave Myers (145), who is only a sophomore this season but will return to his regular guard post.

Paul Bontempt, a 160-pound senior who was an all-county end last season, will be moved to the other guard spot, O'Rourke added.

Two veterans are back to bolster the situation at center. Jim Hall (160) and Larry Carroll, a junior, who only hits the scales at 130, will be sharing duties as the season progresses.

Beaver Local will be playing its first 10-game schedule this season, with three new opponents added. All home games will start at 2 p. m.

The opener will be at Beaver Local on Saturday, Sept. 10, against a new foe — Springfield Local from Petersburg, Ohio.

Two other new squads on the schedule are South Side and Goshen Union.

Other home tilts are scheduled with Chester Sept. 17, Salineville Sept. 31, United Oct. 7, South Side, Oct. 15 and Northwest of near Canton Nov. 11.

Dennison St. Mary's, Wayne and Northwestern (Pa.) were dropped from last season.

Assisting O'Rourke this season are Tom McCall, Flody Suarez and Walter Wolfe, a new assistant who was at Bergholz last year.

Sept. 10 Springfield Local, home
Sept. 17 Chester, home
Sept. 24 Stanton Local, away
Sept. 31 Salineville, home
Oct. 7 United, home
Oct. 15 South Side, home
Oct. 22 Fairfield - Waterford, away.
Oct. 29 Goshen, away
Nov. 4 Wellsville, away

Women's Golf Title At Stake

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A confident former champion and a Chanute, Kan., school teacher playing in her first major tournament battle today for the National Women's Amateur Golf Championship.

The finalists, both 21, are Jo-Anne Gunderson of Kirland, Wash., the 1957 titleholder and veteran of topflight competition, and slim Jean Ashley.

Miss Gunderson lived up to her advance billing as a possible winner by beating Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., 2-up, using her strong tee power to good advantage on the three tough finishing holes over the 6,150-yard Tulsa Country Club course.

The layout plays to a pair of 35-36—71 and Miss Gunderson was only three over par with a 74 to sideline her companion throughout the summer. Miss Gunderson has been the house guest at Miss Eller's home.

Miss Ashley, who admitted that she would have been "tickled to death" just to get to the quarterfinals of her first United States Golf Assn. championship, held on tenaciously to sideline 38-year-old veteran Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa, 1-up.

The affable Kansan became a crowd favorite and a solid dark-horse when she eliminated veteran Curtis Cupper Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., 1-up in 21 holes in the fourth round. She added to her prestige with a 1-up verdict over defending champion Barbara McIntire in the quarter-finals.

Westgate Gridders Will Report Tuesday

Growing Rift Appears In U.S. Tennis Ranks

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—A growing rift appeared in American tennis ranks today about the all-important doubles in the coming Davis Cup challenge round with Australia.

The focal point: A loss by current U.S. Davis Cup team doubles pair Chuck McKinley and Earl Bucholz 6-3, 1-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4 to sixth-seeded Mike Franks of Los Angeles and Don Dell of Bethesda, Md.

The upset in the quarter-finals loomed even bigger because the winners moved to victory despite the fact Dell fell heavily on the left knee he had injured only two days earlier. The spill came in the third set.

"The only way to beat the Australians is to win the doubles," said Barry MacKay, U.S. Davis Cup team member. "And in order to do that we've got to develop more than one possible doubles combination."

MacKay suggested he be paired with Dennis Ralston, California teen-age sensation.

"Let's face it, we've got to go with our best to beat Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson," MacKay continued. "Ralston already has shown he's a top class doubles player and I feel he has the potential to become an even better one. As for myself, and not meaning to boast, I think my doubles record is as good as any American player's today."

Veteran player Gardnar Mulloy places the blame for a lack of top doubles teams on the American way of life where "the emphasis on individual accomplishment and our players are more anxious to excel in singles."

Mulloy said he felt America's best doubles combination would be McKinley and Ralston.

"If these two were paired, MacKay and Buchholz could concentrate on singles," Mulloy added. "In my opinion, these four would stand a fine chance of returning the Davis Cup to our soil."

In the other men's quarter-final played Friday, defending champions Fraser and Emerson defeated Marty Riessen of Hinsdale, Ill., and Ramsey Earnhart of Ventura, Calif., 7-5, 12-14, 6-2, 6-4.

Top-seeded domestic girls Darlene Hard and Maria Bueno won their women's semifinal 8-6, 6-4 over Australia's Jan Lehane and Mary Hawton.

Andrason Blanks Salem On 2 Hits

John Andrason, burly 47-year-old player-manager of Cox-Merchants, proved Friday night that the old timers still have a place in baseball.

In the second game of a best-of-five playoff series with Salem, the County-City league's oldest performer flipped a two-hit shutout for a 9-0 victory that evened the series at one game each.

The East Liverpool squad and it's county rivals will meet in the third game Sunday afternoon at 2 in Salem. The first series victory by Cox-Merchants came last night at Negley.

Andrason sat down Salem with two scratch infield singles a strong bid for a no hitter in the twilight of his baseball career. He also collected one hit in three times at the plate.

Leading Cox-Merchant's healthy 11 hit attack were Charles Dunlevy who homered and singled, outfielder-pitcher Jim Dickey with a double and single, and fleet Lorin Howard with a pair of singles in four trips.

The city entry jumped on Salem's Barnett for six runs in the first inning, added one more in the second and two in the third. The victory followed a 4-0 loss to Salem in the opening game of the series.

Left fielder Gibas collected a double as leadoff batter for Cox-Merchants and scored a run. Both teams played errorless ball in the field.

Palmer Tied With Two For Lead At Milwaukee

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Arnold Palmer, golf's leading money winner, shared the lead today with two other money-wise pros, Fred Hawkins and Ken Venturi, at the halfway mark of the $30,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer and Hawkins fired brilliant five-under-par 65s over the North Hills Country Club course Friday. Venturi coupled his first day's 65 with a 69 to knot the three at 134 for 36 holes in the 72-hole tournament.

Palmer, who counts the Masters and National Open among his seven tournament wins this year, served notice that he is out to add the $4,300 top money to his 1960 tournament earnings of $73,596.

The 29-year-old Latrobe, Pa., pro toured the first nine with a five-under-pare 30 Friday, then ran into trouble coming in.

He picked up bogies on the 11th and 13th holes, equalled par from the 14th through the 17th and then closed in spectacular fashion, sinking a 40-foot putt for an eagle 3 on the 530-yard 18th.

Keeping pace with Palmer were a couple of big money winners who haven't had much success scoring victories. Hawkins, a 36-year-old veteran from El Paso, Tex., has won only one PGA co-sponsored tournament since joining the tour in 1947. Venturi has captured just one event this season.

However, Venturi has overall winnings of more than $37,500, while Hawkins has walked off with more than $21,000 — the amount he has averaged annually since 1955.

Just one stroke off the pace with 66-69—135 was Bob Goalby, the former University of Illinois football player.

Mason Rudolph was alone with 136, while another stroke back were Bruce Crampton, the former Australian and Far East Open champion, and Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., who shared the first round lead with Doug Ford and Venturi.

Toronto Can Wrap Up Loop Crown Today

By The Associated Press

The Toronto Maple Leafs can clinch their fourth International League pennant in seven years today by defeating the Montreal Royals, and if Friday night's game between the two teams is an omen, that could happen very easily.

The Leafs, who have been making a travesty of the IL race, slaughtered the Royals, 10-3, before 7,600 fans, the largest Montreal crowd since opening day, thanks to free tickets to blood donors.

Jim King and Tim Thompson took care of Montreal starter Rene Valdes in the second inning by belting home runs, King connecting with one on, and from that point on the Leafs kept pouring it on.

The Royals used five pitchers in all. Rip Coleman got credit for the victory, but needed relief in the sixth when he began to weaken. Frank Funk finished.

Meanwhile, Miami spotted Columbus five runs and went on to beat the Jets, 6-5 in 13 innings. Columbus was through after doing all its scoring in the first three innings. Albie Pearson's single in the 13th brought in Barry Shetrone from second with the winning run.

In other games Friday, Jersey City beat Richmond 2-1 and Buffalo defeated Rochester 5-2.

Negley Plays Sunday

Negley's baseball squad will play an exhibition game against the Cleveland White Sox Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Negley diamond. No admission will be charged, according to Duke Guy, Negley manager.

Salem Man Claims Wife's Love Stolen

LISBON — A suit for $50,000 for compensatory and punitive damages, charging alienation of affections, was filed in Common Pleas Court Friday by Harold T. Seibert of Salem.

Joseph Kasso of Salem R.D. 1 was named defendant.

Seibert said he and his wife were married Aug. 26, 1942, and have five children ranging from 4 to 15 years of age, but that the defendant since June "has paid assiduous attention" to his wife by taking her out, calling her and meeting her secretly and that "she has become enamoured of the defendant."

Kennedy Rests, Sets Next Week To Launch Drive

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy is spending a long weekend at his summer home, stockpiling energy and ideas for the strenuous presidential campaign he opens formally a week from today.

The Democratic nominee for the White House flew to Cape Cod from Washington Friday night and plans to remain until Monday. He was accompanied by his brother Robert, manager of the Kennedy campaign, and several members of his staff. Mrs. Kennedy already was here.

The weekend was billed primarily as a let-up period in which aides said there would be no visitors on political business.

The Massachusetts senator spent three weeks here after he won the presidential nomination at the Democratic National Convention last month. While he did get in some relaxation, mainly boating and swimming from his family's 53-foot motor launch, he also put in plenty of hard licks during political strategy conferences with key Democrats.

Kennedy leaves here Monday, goes to Boston to attend a private fund-raising luncheon then returns to Washington.

2 Lose Driving Permit For Year

An East Liverpool motorist and another from the Salem area lost their driver's license for a year under the state's 12 - point demerit system Thursday.

Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp suspended their permits after a report from the State Department of Motor Vehicles gave the following violations.

James D. McFarland, 46, of 1061 Claibourne Ave., East Liverpool, two cases of driving while intoxicated with fines in Municipal Court since Dec. 10, 1958, each counting 12 points.

John P. Sturgeon, 20, of Salem R.D. 2; July 27, reckless driving, Valley View mayor's court, 3 points; June 13, Columbiana County court, failure to stop within the assured clear distance, 2 points; June 11, Independence mayor's court, speeding, 2 points; May 9 and 23, county court, reckless operation and defective muffler, 3 and 2 points, respectively, and April 18, Salem mayor's court, reckless operation, 3 points.

Deputies Seek Answer How 4 Inmates Got Saw

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies today sought an answer to how four juvenile prisoners at the Lawrence County Jail got the saw they used to cut their way to freedom.

The four who broke out Friday night are Ray Mullins, 15, and Ralph Donald Imes, 17, both of near Ironton; Richard Wilson, 17, of nearby Coal Grove, and David Wiley, 17, of Lyra (Scioto County).

Deputies said that after the boys sawed through their cell bars, they went out a third-floor window onto a porch roof and climbed down a pole to the ground.

Mullins, Imes and Wilson were awaiting transfer to Boys Industrial School after having been sentenced for auto theft, and Wilson also for breaking and entering. Wiley was arrested here Sunday on a breaking and entering charge.

Mr., Mrs. James L. Wilson Await House At Wellsville

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Wilson have returned from an eastern honeymoon and will go to housekeeping at 1621 Maple Ave., Wellsville, as soon as the home is available to them.

They were united in marriage Aug. 6 at 12:30 o'clock in the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Wellsville. Fr. John F. Lyons officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar of ferns and gladiolus. Satin bows and baby breath marked the family pews. Jack Stewart, church organist, presented a half hour of nuptial music.

The bride was Miss Patricia Rawlings, 317 15th St., and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Wilson, 401 Aten Ave., Wellsville.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of embroidered nylon tulle. Her gown was fashioned with a molded bodice, a scalloped Sabrina neckline and short, shirred sleeves trimmed with net. Tiers of embroidered scalloped tulle added accent to the skirt which cascaded into a chapel train. She wore matching long mitts and a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Her fingertip veil was held in place with a coronet of opalescent sequins and seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladiolus and stephanotis centered with a white orchid. Her crystal rosaries, a gift of her parents, was entwined in the bouquet.

Mrs. Rose Hunter, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Donna McConnell, Miss Sally Stone and Miss Parma Stewart.

They were attired in identical ballerina - length gowns. The matron-of-honor wore cotillion blue and the bridesmaids ice blue. The molded bodice featured a round neckline, cap sleeves and a perky bow at the waist. The full skirts were designed with wide hems.

Their picture hats were trimmed with pearls and long streamers. Their short, white gloves, earrings and necklaces were gifts of the bride. They carried arm bouquets of Picardy gladiolus tied with blue satin ribbons.

Thomas Hunter was his brother's best man and ushers were Raymond Householder and Joe Rawlings, brother of the bride. They received cuff links from the bridegroom.

MRS. J. L. WILSON
She Was Patricia Rawlings.

The mother of the bride was attired in a beige lace dress with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. A powder blue silk dress, white accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception for 200 was held in the Knights of Columbus Home. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple, centered the table. Pink carnations and sprigs of southern smilax decorated the table.

Aides were Mrs. Ella Raffa, Mrs. Virginia Irons, Mrs. Dorothy McCreary, Mrs. Marjorie Dysert and Mrs. Mary Morris.

The bride, a 1958 graduate of Wellsville High School, is employed at the Wellsville Branch of the Potters Bank & Trust Co. Her husband, a 1957 graduate, is associated with his father in the Wilson Super-market.

Before the rehearsal Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson entertained the wedding party at a dinner at Piatt's Tea Room.

This Summer Season Finds New Books For Good Reading

This week's new bookshelf at the Carnegie Public Library once again proves that the world of ideas can make for compelling reading, no matter what its firm, according to Miss Frances Jones, librarian.

The summer season has produced novels, biographies and nonfiction of some distinction, an unusual event in the world of summer books.

Taylor Caldwell proves the importance of confession in any religious scheme with her novel, "The Listener." It tells of a man who builds a chapel which had no pastor, no congregation and no service — only a comfortable and tranquil anteroom with a listener.

Edison Marshall uses the wonderful myths of Hercules as the inspiration for "Earth Giant."

A trio of modern novels probes social problems: "Corporation Wife," by Catherine Gaskin; Mary Astor in her first flight into fiction writes of a man without a conscience in "The Incredible Carewe," and the Putnam award goes to William Mulvill for a tale of civilized man in a primitive and hostile environment in "The Sands of Kalahari."

Historical novels are also well represented with Thomas Raddall's "The Governor's Lady," a romance of Nova Scotia history; the author of "A Walk In the Sun" deals with 19th Century Mexico in "The Stars In Their Courses," and Noel Gerson writes about Andrew Johnson, our 17th president in "The Yankee from Tennessee."

England's great economist, Barbara Ward, now lives in Africa where she ponders the fate of the Dark Continent. Her new book is "Five Ideas That Change the World."

The vice president's papers and speeches have been compiled to add to the campaign propaganda. An intriguing title has been added, "The Challenges We Face."

Though Caryl Chessman finally died, his long sojourn on Death Row and his eloquent fight against capital punishment shook the world. There is a new, expanded edition of his life in "Cell 2455, Death Row."

Two plays grace the new bookshelf. Frederick Brisson, the husband of Rosalind Russell, and a successful producer in his own right will present "Five Finger Exercise" on Broadway this season. The script was written by Peter Shaffer and presented in London in 1958. This is one of the happy times when we can read a play before production. The second drama is "Gypsy" by Arthur Laurents.

John Foster Dulles was a great American, not just because of his high office as secretary of state, but he had deep religious convictions. These are revealed in the collection of his speeches and addresses, "The Spiritual Legacy of John Foster Dulles." John Gunther traces the history of American advertising in the story of Albert D. Lasker. "Taken at the Flood" is his first biography.

Vote With Majority

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the Senate overrode President Eisenhower's objections and passed the $3,722,350,000 foreign aid appropriation bill Friday night, 57-24, Ohio Democratic Sens. Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young both voted with the majority.

The highest mountain in Turkey is Mt. Ararat — 16,945 feet.

To Be Different, Actress Wearing Ring On Her Toe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I like to be different," said actress Vikki Dougan, showing newsmen her diamond engagement ring.

They'll be wed Sept. 3, with Vikki dresed as Little Bo Peep. Just another whim, said Vikki.

She was clad almost demurely Friday—in a sleeveless, scroop-neck gingham dress — as she signed for the license. She's the girl who once startled Hollywood by wearing her gowns cut daringly low—not in front, but in the back.

Rogers Resident Entertains Guests

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cope of Salem and the Rev. and Mrs. William Savors of Calcutta visited Thursday evening with Mrs. Ruth Cope and daughter, Miss Agnes Cope, of Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baker of Washingtonville visited Thursday evening with friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hampson visited Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilson of Calcutta.

Roscoe Rogers is seriously ill at Salem City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Samplast and family of Youngstown have concluded a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Davis.

Mrs. Mae Eells of Florida, who has been a house guest of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jacqueline Eells, is visiting relatives in Warren.

Householders Warned On Faulty Trash Cans

Garbage cans with rusted - out bottoms or missing lids must be replaced within the next two weeks, Incinerator Supt. James A. McKinnon warned householders today.

The containers are impossible to pick up and empty into a collection truck if the bottoms are missing or so weakened by rust that they fall apart, McKinnon said. When the lid is missing, it allows the refuse to become water - soaked, he added.

Instead of placing a garbage can directly on the ground where it is subject to rust, householders should keep them on a platform of wood or concrete blocks, McKinnon said. If the cans are kept away from the eaves of the home, they will be free of dripping water that hastens rust, he added.

Civil Defense Platoons To Hold Picnic Sunday

A family basket picnic for members of the 2nd and 5th Platoons of the 31st Mobile Support Group of the Civil Defense will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 at Willow Grove Park off Route 30 near Lisbon.

The committee includes Mrs. Evelyn Balser, chairman, William Lockhart and Mrs. Doris DeBolt. Games and contests will be held for the children. Prizes will be offered.

Supper will be at 4:30 p. m. Orange drink for the children and coffee will be provided.

The Caspian Sea is not a sea at all, but a land-locked lake. Located in Russia and Iran, it covers an area of 169,300 square miles.

Ohio Township And Industry Groups To Resume Meetings

Clubs and organizations in Industry Borough and Ohio Township will resume their monthly meetings with the fall season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walton and children are en route to California to make their new home. They formerly resided in Industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newcomb and son, Charles Jr., of Ohio View, and Gene Best of Barclay Hill Rd. have returned following a 5,000-mile tour of several states.

Arthur Hendershot and son, Clyde, of Industry have returned following a visit with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hendershot, in Mount Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton Eckstein and daughter, Patricia, and Lloyd Maloney of Industry have returned after spending a week touring Niagara Falls, Ontario, Erie and Conneaut Lake Park.

Stanton Local Schools Slated To Resume Classes Sept. 6

IRONDALE — Stanton Local District schools will open for the 1960-61 term Tuesday, Sept. 6, Supt. C. P. Henderson announced today.

Teachers will meet at 9:30 a. m. and all students are to report to their respective buildings at 1 p. m.

School buses, with few exceptions, will follow the same schedule as last term, the superintendent said.

Students entering the first grade must be 6 years old on or before Nov. 1. All students entering Stanton schools for the first time must present a certificate indicating they have been inoculated for polio, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

The following group of students should call at the office of the high school principal next Wednesday or Thursday:

All high school students, Grades 7 to 12, who have moved into the district during the summer; all 9th to 12th grade students who have not registered, and all students in Grades 10 to 12 enrolled in the commercial course. The curriculum for commercial has been changed, Supt. Henderson reported.

Buildings in the Stanton district are in Irondale, Hammondsville, Port Homer, Empire and Stratton.

Thief Was Thoughtful, Or Was It Chance?

At least his car was parked in a favorable location was the rueful comment of Gary White, 612 Fisher Ave., in reporting the theft of a wheel disc to police late Friday afternoon.

White said the disc was locked on the wheel of a 1955 sports car and the thief had to remove a valve core to steal it, leaving the tire flat.

But the car was parked near the Goodyear Service Store on Walnut St., he said.

Thief Smashes Cake In Burglarizing Bakery

A thief fled with $8.75 in change and smashed a 10-inch cake after breaking into Smith's Bakery Friday night or early today, police were told.

A lock on a desk was pried open and broken, police said, and the intruder removed three planks from the bottom of the north side of the building on St. Clair Ave. and crawled through an opening 16 inches wide in the narrow passageway.

Salem Man Claims Wife's Love Stolen

LISBON — A suit for $50,000 for compensatory and punitive damages, charging alienation of affections, was filed in Common Pleas Court Friday by Harold T. Seibert of Salem.

Joseph Kasso of Salem R.D. 1 was named defendant.

Seibert said he and his wife were married Aug. 26, 1942, and have five children ranging from 4 to 15 years of age, but that the defendant since June "has paid assiduous attention" to his wife by taking her out, calling her and meeting her secretly and that "she has become enamoured of the defendant."

Kennedy Rests, Sets Next Week To Launch Drive

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy is spending a long weekend at his summer home, stockpiling energy and ideas for the strenuous presidential campaign he opens formally a week from today.

The Democratic nominee for the White House flew to Cape Cod from Washington Friday night and plans to remain until Monday. He was accompanied by his brother Robert, manager of the Kennedy campaign, and several members of his staff. Mrs. Kennedy already was here.

The weekend was billed primarily as a let-up period in which aides said there would be no visitors on political business.

The Massachusetts senator spent three weeks here after he won the presidential nomination at the Democratic National Convention last month. While he did get in some relaxation, mainly boating and swimming from his family's 53-foot motor launch, he also put in plenty of hard licks during political strategy conferences with key Democrats.

Kennedy leaves here Monday, goes to Boston to attend a private fund-raising luncheon then returns to Washington.

2 Lose Driving Permit For Year

An East Liverpool motorist and another from the Salem area lost their driver's license for a year under the state's 12 - point demerit system Thursday.

The vice president's papers and speeches have been compiled to add to the campaign propaganda. An intriguing title has been added, "The Challenges We Face."

Though Caryl Chessman finally died, his long sojourn on Death Row and his eloquent fight against capital punishment shook the world. There is a new, expanded edition of his life in "Cell 2455, Death Row."

Two plays grace the new bookshelf. Frederick Brisson, the husband of Rosalind Russell, and a successful producer in his own right will present "Five Finger Exercise" on Broadway this season. The script was written by Peter Shaffer and presented in London in 1958. This is one of the happy times when we can read a play before production. The second drama is "Gypsy" by Arthur Laurents.

John Foster Dulles was a great American, not just because of his high office as secretary of state, but he had deep religious convictions. These are revealed in the collection of his speeches and addresses, "The Spiritual Legacy of John Foster Dulles." John Gunther traces the history of American advertising in the story of Albert D. Lasker. "Taken at the Flood" is his first biography.

Vote With Majority

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the Senate overrode President Eisenhower's objections and passed the $3,722,350,000 foreign aid appropriation bill Friday night, 57-24, Ohio Democratic Sens. Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young both voted with the majority.

The highest mountain in Turkey is Mt. Ararat — 16,945 feet.

To Be Different, Actress Wearing Ring On Her Toe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I like to be different," said actress Vikki Dougan, showing newsmen her diamond engagement ring.

She wears it on the fourth toe of her left foot.

Why? "Just a whim," said Vikki, 24, as she and actor Jim Sweeney, 25, former Texas Christian football halfback, obtained a marriage license.

They'll be wed Sept. 3, with Vikki dresed as Little Bo Peep. Just another whim, said Vikki.

She was clad almost demurely Friday—in a sleeveless, scroop-neck gingham dress — as she signed for the license. She's the girl who once startled Hollywood by wearing her gowns cut daringly low—not in front, but in the back.

Householders Warned On Faulty Trash Cans

Garbage cans with rusted - out bottoms or missing lids must be replaced within the next two weeks, Incinerator Supt. James A. McKinnon warned householders today.

The containers are impossible to pick up and empty into a collection truck if the bottoms are missing or so weakened by rust that they fall apart, McKinnon said. When the lid is missing, it allows the refuse to become water - soaked, he added.

Instead of placing a garbage can directly on the ground where it is subject to rust, householders should keep them on a platform of wood or concrete blocks, McKinnon said. If the cans are kept away from the eaves of the home, they will be free of dripping water that hastens rust, he added.

Stanton Local Schools Slated To Resume Classes Sept. 6

IRONDALE — Stanton Local District schools will open for the 1960-61 term Tuesday, Sept. 6, Supt. C. P. Henderson announced today.

Teachers will meet at 9:30 a. m. and all students are to report to their respective buildings at 1 p. m.

School buses, with few exceptions, will follow the same schedule as last term, the superintendent said.

Students entering the first grade must be 6 years old on or before Nov. 1. All students entering Stanton schools for the first time must present a certificate indicating they have been inoculated for polio, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

The following group of students should call at the office of the high school principal next Wednesday or Thursday:

All high school students, Grades 7 to 12, who have moved into the district during the summer; all 9th to 12th grade students who have not registered, and all students in Grades 10 to 12 enrolled in the commercial course. The curriculum for commercial has been changed, Supt. Henderson reported.

Buildings in the Stanton district are in Irondale, Hammondsville, Port Homer, Empire and Stratton.

Thief Was Thoughtful, Or Was It Chance?

At least his car was parked in a favorable location was the rueful comment of Gary White, 612 Fisher Ave., in reporting the theft of a wheel disc to police late Friday afternoon.

White said the disc was locked on the wheel of a 1955 sports car and the thief had to remove a valve core to steal it, leaving the tire flat.

But the car was parked near the Goodyear Service Store on Walnut St., he said.

Recruit Assigned

SALINEVILLE — Rct. Bob J. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Martin, 2 West St., has been assigned to Ft. Meade, Md. after completing an eight - week central office telephone switchboard operation course Aug. 19 at the Southeastern Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Ga. The 20-year-old soldier entered the Army in April 1960 and completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. He was graduated from Salineville High School in 1958.

The male bear is called a he-bear and the female a she-bear.

Thief Smashes Cake In Burglarizing Bakery

A thief fled with $8.75 in change and smashed a 10-inch cake after breaking into Smith's Bakery Friday night or early today, police were told.

A lock on a desk was pried open and broken, police said, and the intruder removed three planks from the bottom of the north side of the building on St. Clair Ave. and crawled through an opening 16 inches wide in the narrow passageway.

Executive Claimed

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — Byron Hooper, 59, since 1927 associated with the J. M. McDonald Co., which operates 109 general stores in 12 states, died Friday, just 10 days after he was elected president of the firm.

Says Democrats In Trouble

Nixon Happy Over Crowds That Greeted Him In South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Enthused by crowds that greeted him on his second Southern campaign trip, Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he thinks the Democratic ticket is in real trouble in the South.

The Democrats "no longer can consider any Southern state safe," he added.

The presidential campaign is only a few weeks old, but already Nixon has shattered a political tradition.

Since reconstruction days, the belief has been that the deep South is barren, dismal ground for Republican presidential candidates. With the exception of Dwight D. Eisenhower, who campained in Alabama and Georgia in 1952, Republican candidates have concentrated their fire where the prospects looked much better.

But Nixon has invaded the South twice. Last week he was in Greensboro, N.C., and Friday he plunged farther south, with these results:

He was given a warm welcome in Birmingham, Ala., and then hit the politicking jackpot in Atlanta.

On his arrival back in Washington Friday night Nixon issued a statement in which he said:

"The size and the enthusiasm of the crowds exceeded the highest estimates we had received in advance. We now believe that the Kennedy-Johnson ticket is in real trouble in the South and they no longer can consider any Southern state safe."

The Nixon motorcade went down Peachtree Street to the heart of Atlanta, Five Points, where it turned on Edgewood.

All along the crowd was large and enthusiastic. At Five Points it got out of hand. The Nixon car was stopped by the surging throng.

Nixon, his hair filled with confetti, got out and started busily shaking hands.

Mrs. Nixon kept smiling.

But the police and secret service were not amused, and it took their combined efforts to get the motorcade moving again.

2 Boys Face Hearing For Vandalism On Car

Two 12-year-old Glenmoor boys were to appear today before Chris Pusey, county juvenile officer, for vandalism and curfew violations after a Pleasant Heights man's auto was damaged while he was traveling on Dresden Ave.

Police said the pair were cited after Kenneth J. Davis of Wyoming Ave. told officers he was driving on Dresden Ave. at 11:30 p. m. yesterday when the windshield of his 1959 sedan was cracked and the roof dented by stones and gravel.

The youngsters were released to their parents, who also were ordered to appear with them.

Crum In Ohio Pen For 20 Years Now Faces New Counts

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Everett Crum, who terrorized southern Ohio during a 55 - hour spree last February, faces new charges of attempted jail escape and assault with a deadly weapon.

The Clinton County grand jury indicted him Friday on charges in Crum's unsuccessful attempt to break out of county jail Aug. 11.

But Crum, 32, won't have to worry about them for about 20 years.

He is in Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus after judges of common pleas courts in three counties sentenced him on his pleas of guilty to a variety of charges.

He faces at least 20 years on two charges of kidnaping to extort in Clinton County. Crum also faces terms in two shooting battles with police in Highland County.

PRR Tells 52,000 Of Furlough In Event Of Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad has notified 52,000 employes they will be furloughed in the event of a strike set for Sept. 1.

Notices to the employes were posted Friday as the railroad—the nation's largest—prepared to meet Monday with the Transport Workers Union and the National Mediation Board.

The furlough notices do not affect 2,000 managerial employes. The main issues in the dispute are the contracting out of work by the PRR and work rules.

The TWU and the AFL-CIO railroad workers department, a second union involved, represent a third of the PRR's 75,000 employes. The bulk of the membership of the two unions works in PRR shops and maintenance projects.

He's Girl Watches

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Scribbled on the back of an overtime parking ticket sent to the Casper police department was this message: "My husband was watching some blonde in shorts and forgot all about parking meters. Sorry."

Third Policeman Hired For Industry Borough

The police committee of Industry Borough Council and Burgess Harry H. Davis have hired a third part-time policeman.

He is Jesse Kinney of the Industry-Fairview Rd. His phone number is NE. 4-8739. The borough's two other part-time officers are Marko Ratkovich at NE. 4-2251 and John (Tex) Arnold at NE. 4-6386.

Kinney was hired to help give the borough police protection after the recent resignation of Earl J. Hineman as chief.

U.S. Judges Refuse To Halt Houston Schools Integration

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Federal judges Friday refused to halt integration of Houston, Tex., public schools and took under advisement motions to nullify Louisiana's school segregation laws.

In separate proceedings, the Houston action was without incident, but in the Louisiana case, the state's attorney general, Jack P. F. Gremillion, stormed out of the courtroom after referring to the federal tribunal as "a den of iniquity."

Here are the three cases handled:

1. The Houston school board asked the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals here to hold up integration of Houston schools until the court could rule on the school board's appeal. U.S. District Judge Ben Connally had ordered integration there in the first grade when school starts Sept. 7. He also ordered Houston to proceed with intergration at a grade a year. Chief Judge Richard T. Rives and Judge John Minor Widsom of the Appellate Court here refused to hold Connally's ruling in abeyance until the Appellate court could rule the case itself.

2. In New Orleans, the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People sought to restrain Louisiana Gov. Jimmie Davis from interfering with the operation of the public schools of New Orleans. Davis has seized the schools from the school board and announced they would open Sept. 7 on a segregated basis.

This plea was taken under advisement by Wright, Rives and U.S. District Court Judge Herbert W. Christenberry. Wright and Christenberry are natives of New Orleans; Rives, of Montgomery, Ala.

3. The same judges are studying another motion in which 31 white parents of New Orleans asked that Davis be restrained from preventing the New Orleans school board from complying with federal orders for integration.

Gen. Lamay Says U.S. Off Schedule In Defense Plans

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. Lemay said Friday night that the United States has "fallen behind in our timetable in certain critical areas" and appealed to labor and management to solve their disputes without crippling defense projects.

The Air Force vice chief of staff said he did not think "most Americans realize what work stoppage and slowdowns can do to our defense effort. I am not entirely sure in my own mind that all echelons of industry and labor realize the full meaning."

He spoke to the Convair Management Club and the Forth Worth Air Power Council.

He said that as of today U.S. forces are strong enough both to prevent war and win it. He said the Soviets lack the forces "capable of prevailing under all circumstances."

Says Democrats In Trouble

Nixon Happy Over Crowds That Greeted Him In South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Enthused by crowds that greeted him on his second Southern campaign trip, Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he thinks the Democratic ticket is in real trouble in the South.

The Democrats "no longer can consider any Southern state safe," he added.

The presidential campaign is only a few weeks old, but already Nixon has shattered a political tradition.

Since reconstruction days, the belief has been that the deep South is barren, dismal ground for Republican presidential candidates. With the exception of Dwight D. Eisenhower, who campained in Alabama and Georgia in 1952, Republican candidates have concentrated their fire where the prospects looked much better.

But Nixon has invaded the South twice. Last week he was in Greensboro, N.C., and Friday he plunged farther south, with these results:

He was given a warm welcome in Birmingham, Ala., and then hit the politicking jackpot in Atlanta.

On his arrival back in Washington Friday night Nixon issued a statement in which he said:

"The size and the enthusiasm of the crowds exceeded the highest estimates we had received in advance. We now believe that the Kennedy-Johnson ticket is in real trouble in the South and they no longer can consider any Southern state safe."

The Nixon motorcade went down Peachtree Street to the heart of Atlanta, Five Points, where it turned on Edgewood.

All along the crowd was large and enthusiastic. At Five Points it got out of hand. The Nixon car was stopped by the surging throng.

Nixon., his hair filled with confetti, got out and started busily shaking hands.

Mrs. Nixon kept smiling.

But the police and secret service were not amused, and it took their combined efforts to get the motorcade moving again.

2 Boys Face Hearing For Vandalism On Car

Two 12-year-old Glenmoor boys were to appear today before Chris Pusey, county juvenile officer, for vandalism and curfew violations after a Pleasant Heights man's auto was damaged while he was traveling on Dresden Ave.

Police said the pair were cited after Kenneth J. Davis of Wyoming Ave. told officers he was driving on Dresden Ave. at 11:30 p. m. yesterday when the windshield of his 1959 sedan was cracked and the roof dented by stones and gravel.

The youngsters were released to their parents, who also were ordered to appear with them.

Crum In Ohio Pen For 20 Years Now Faces New Counts

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Everett Crum, who terrorized southern Ohio during a 55 - hour spree last February, faces new charges of attempted jail escape and assault with a deadly weapon.

The Clinton County grand jury indicted him Friday on charges in Crum's unsuccessful attempt to break out of county jail Aug. 11.

But Crum, 32, won't have to worry about them for about 20 years.

He is in Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus after judges of common pleas courts in three counties sentenced him on his pleas of guilty to a variety of charges.

He faces at least 20 years on two charges of kidnaping to extort in Clinton County. Crum also faces terms in two shooting battles with police in Highland County.

PRR Tells 52,000 Of Furlough In Event Of Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad has notified 52,000 employes they will be furloughed in the event of a strike set for Sept. 1.

Notices to the employes were posted Friday as the railroad—the nation's largest—prepared to meet Monday with the Transport Workers Union and the National Mediation Board.

The furlough notices do not affect 2,000 managerial employes. The main issues in the dispute are the contracting out of work by the PRR and work rules.

The TWU and the AFL-CIO railroad workers department, a second union involved, represent a third of the PRR's 75,000 employes. The bulk of the membership of the two unions works in PRR shops and maintenance projects.

U.S. Judges Refuse To Halt Houston Schools Integration

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Federal judges Friday refused to halt integration of Houston, Tex., public schools and took under advisement motions to nullify Louisiana's school segregation laws.

In separate proceedings, the Houston action was without incident, but in the Louisiana case, the state's attorney general, Jack P. F. Gremillion, stormed out of the courtroom after referring to the federal tribunal as "a den of iniquity."

Here are the three cases handled:

1. The Houston school board asked the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals here to hold up integration of Houston schools until the court could rule on the school board's appeal. U.S. District Judge Ben Connally had ordered integration there in the first grade when school starts Sept. 7. He also ordered Houston to proceed with intergration at a grade a year. Chief Judge Richard T. Rives and Judge John Minor Widsom of the Appellate Court here refused to hold Connally's ruling in abeyance until the Appellate court could rule the case itself.

2. In New Orleans, the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People sought to restrain Louisiana Gov. Jimmie Davis from interfering with the operation of the public schools of New Orleans. Davis has seized the schools from the school board and announced they would open Sept. 7 on a segregated basis.

This plea was taken under advisement by Wright, Rives and U.S. District Court Judge Herbert W. Christenberry. Wright and Christenberry are natives of New Orleans; Rives, of Montgomery, Ala.

3. The same judges are studying another motion in which 31 white parents of New Orleans asked that Davis be restrained from preventing the New Orleans school board from complying with federal orders for integration.

Gen. Lamay Says U.S. Off Schedule In Defense Plans

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. Lemay said Friday night that the United States has "fallen behind in our timetable in certain critical areas" and appealed to labor and management to solve their disputes without crippling defense projects.

The Air Force vice chief of staff said he did not think "most Americans realize what work stoppage and slowdowns can do to our defense effort. I am not entirely sure in my own mind that all echelons of industry and labor realize the full meaning."

He spoke to the Convair Management Club and the Forth Worth Air Power Council.

He said that as of today U.S. forces are strong enough both to prevent war and win it. He said the Soviets lack the forces "capable of prevailing under all circumstances."

Third Policeman Hired For Industry Borough

The police committee of Industry Borough Council and Burgess Harry H. Davis have hired a third part-time policeman.

He is Jesse Kinney of the Industry-Fairview Rd. His phone number is NE. 4-8739. The borough's two other part-time officers are Marko Ratkovich at NE. 4-2251 and John (Tex) Arnold at NE. 4-6386.

Kinney was hired to help give the borough police protection after the recent resignation of Earl J. Hineman as chief.

Child Injured While Skating

Randy Dean, 2, daughter of Mrs. Philomena Dean of Mulberry St., fell down steps at home and was treated at 7:45 for a possible back injury.

Penny Wyant, 8, daughter of Robert Wyant of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., suffered a laceration of the right hand in a fall against a wire fence and was treated at 9:55 p. m.

Mrs. Roberta Pugh of St. John St. suffered an abrasion of the right shoulder and head laceration when a garage door fell on her. She was treated at 8:40.

Naomi Koteski of Indiana Ave., Chester, was treated for a possible back injury suffered in a fall down steps at home. She was treated at 7:45.

2 Wounded When Deputies, Guards Fire By Mistake

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Two sheriff's deputies and a pair of armored car service guards, each thinking the others were bandits, shot it out Friday night, wounding two of the men.

Wounded were Deputy Windle Coy Ray, 33, and James E. Hutcherson, 45, of Haltom City, a supervisor for the armored car firm. Both were in fair condition at St. Joseph Hospital.

Filipinos Give Yanks Greeting On Landing

MANILA (AP)—Six U. S. Navy landing craft hit the beach at Lingayen, Luzon — where the American liberation of the Philippines began in World War II—and got another warm welcome from Filipinos.

City Motorist Injured In Wreck On Rt. 170

An East Liverpool man remains in "fair condition" today at City Hospital with injuries received when his car wrecked on Route 170 about three and a half miles north of Route 30 Friday morning at 4:15.

2 Hurt In Blast

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A gas explosion at a new school in nearby Reynoldsburg put a husband and wife in a hospital with burns Friday. The victims of the blast, which caused slight damage, were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Crane.

EAST LIVERPOOL'S LARGEST FLORAL ESTABLISHMENT

Firm Enters Lone Land Bid

The bid was opened at noon yesterday by Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson. Attending the bid opening were Auditor Edgar S. Davidson, Councilman Donald Miller and Atty. James L. McSweeney, who is serving as local representative of the firm.

Freeport wants the land so it can proceed with plans to erect a $1¼ million liquid sulphur terminal. The ground is situated near the floodwall below 25th St. on the Ohio River and will be used for docking facilities.

Freeport has purchased land from the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for the erection of storage tanks, according to G. Edward Cotter of New Orleans, assistant vice president of the firm.

The board will act on the bid next week. When Cotter appeared before Wellsville City Council in July, he said that construction would begin as soon as title was obtained to the land.

Cotter said at the time that liquid sulphur would be brought up the Ohio by barge and pumped into storage tanks. It then would be pumped into railroad tank cars for trans-shipment.

About 12 men will be required to operate the plant.

Wellsville Motorist Among 3 Handed Fines

Three motorists, including a Wellsville man, were fined a total of $15 and costs Friday by County Judge James L. MacDonald at Lisbon and two others forfeited bonds.

Glenn T. Harding, 64, of Salem, and George E. Bratt, 37, of 513 Commerce St., Wellsville, were each fined $5 and costs for speeding, and Richard L. James, 28, of 130 Summit St., Lisbon, $5 and costs for failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

D. W. Baumgarner, 48, of Box 467, East Liverpool, and George Zora, 59, of Clairton, Pa., each forfeited $15 for speeding. They were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Retired Executive Dies

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Stuart M. Chambers, 72, retired treasurer and director of the Pulitzer Publishing Co., which publishes the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, died Thursday night of a heart attack in a hotel. He and his wife were motoring to St. Louis from New York. Chambers retired in 1955 after 38 years with the Post-Dispatch.

Child Injured While Skating

A 11-year-old Glenmoor girl was injured while skating at the Kay-Bee Rink Friday night and was treated at City Hospital, along with three other children and four adults hurt in various mishaps.

Stephany Shaw, daughter of James Shaw of Annesley Rd., received a possible fracture of the right arm in the fall at the rink and was treated at 10:40.

Randy Dean, 2, daughter of Mrs. Philomena Dean of Mulberry St., fell down steps at home and was treated at 7:45 for a possible back injury.

David Jolly II, son of Delmar Jolly of R. D. 1, fell from a bicycle and was treated at 7:55 for abrasions of the lip, left hand, wrist and right knee.

Penny Wyant, 8, daughter of Robert Wyant of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., suffered a laceration of the right hand in a fall against a wire fence and was treated at 9:55 p. m.

Arvin Coil, 23, of Almont St. received injuries to the right arm and shoulder while operating a chopping machine and was treated at 2:20.

Mrs. Roberta Pugh of St. John St. suffered an abrasion of the right shoulder and head laceration when a garage door fell on her. She was treated at 8:40.

In a fall over a tree root, Jane Prince, 20, of Logan St. received a possible fracture of the left arm and was treated at 9:20.

Linda Springer, 14, daughter of Guy Springer of Glenmoor, was treated at 12:30 this morning for laceration of the left arm suffered on storm door.

Naomi Koteski of Indiana Ave., Chester, was treated for a possible back injury suffered in a fall down steps at home. She was treated at 7:45.

2 Wounded When Deputies, Guards Fire By Mistake

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Two sheriff's deputies and a pair of armored car service guards, each thinking the others were bandits, shot it out Friday night, wounding two of the men.

"It was the worst mistake in the world," said Tarrant County Sheriff Harlon Wright, "just one of those unfortunate things."

Wounded were Deputy Windle Coy Ray, 33, and James E. Hutcherson, 45, of Haltom City, a supervisor for the armored car firm. Both were in fair condition at St. Joseph Hospital.

Wright said Ray and another deputy were part of a three-car stakeout at a supermarket after receiving word the armored car would be robbed.

The gunfight started when the deputies, wearing civilian clothes, halted the guard's car.

"Everybody was just keyed up," Hutcherson said from his hospital bed. Neither side would blame the other.

Filipinos Give Yanks Greeting On Landing

MANILA (AP)—Six U. S. Navy landing craft hit the beach at Lingayen, Luzon — where the American liberation of the Philippines began in World War II—and got another warm welcome from Filipinos.

This time the ships carried food and clothing intended for victims of disastrous floods that covered much of central Luzon.

City Motorist Injured In Wreck On Rt. 170

An East Liverpool man remains in "fair condition" today at City Hospital with injuries received when his car wrecked on Route 170 about three and a half miles north of Route 30 Friday morning at 4:15.

Earl Taylor, 33, of 703 Oakland Ave. suffered chest injuries.

2 Hurt In Blast

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A gas explosion at a new school in nearby Reynoldsburg put a husband and wife in a hospital with burns Friday. The victims of the blast, which caused slight damage, were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Crane.

Firm Enters Lone Land Bid

A lone bid of $9,111 for a 3.221-acre tract owned by the city was received by the Wellsville Board of Control Friday from the Freeport Sulphur Co. of New Orleans.

The bid was opened at noon yesterday by Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson. Attending the bid opening were Auditor Edgar S. Davidson, Councilman Donald Miller and Atty. James L. McSweeney, who is serving as local representative of the firm.

Freeport wants the land so it can proceed with plans to erect a $1¼ million liquid sulphur terminal. The ground is situated near the floodwall below 25th St. on the Ohio River and will be used for docking facilities.

Freeport has purchased land from the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for the erection of storage tanks, according to G. Edward Cotter of New Orleans, assistant vice president of the firm.

The board will act on the bid next week. When Cotter appeared before Wellsville City Council in July, he said that construction would begin as soon as title was obtained to the land.

Cotter said at the time that liquid sulphur would be brought up the Ohio by barge and pumped into storage tanks. It then would be pumped into railroad tank cars for trans-shipment.

About 12 men will be required to operate the plant.

Wellsville Motorist Among 3 Handed Fines

Three motorists, including a Wellsville man, were fined a total of $15 and costs Friday by County Judge James L. MacDonald at Lisbon and two others forfeited bonds.

Glenn T. Harding, 64, of Salem, and George E. Bratt, 37, of 513 Commerce St., Wellsville, were each fined $5 and costs for speeding, and Richard L. James, 28, of 130 Summit St., Lisbon, $5 and costs for failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

D. W. Baumgarner, 48, of Box 467, East Liverpool, and George Zora, 59, of Clairton, Pa., each forfeited $15 for speeding. They were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

What Arthur Godfrey Learned from His Bout with Cancer

How Good Is Your Police Force?

ARTHUR GODFREY'S LESSON IN LIFE

He is not the "Old Redhead" any more; the controversial star who celebrates his 57th birthday this week has been mellowed and relaxed by his ordeal with cancer

By HERBERT KAMM

AT ITS ANNUAL dinner in New York last January, the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences saluted Arthur Godfrey with a salvo of tributes and presented him with a plaque for 30 years of distinguished service to radio and television.

When the irrepressible redhead rose to acknowledge the honor, he found himself in the unusual predicament of groping for words. Finally, as he stood scratching his head in characteristic fashion, he blurted: "Golly, do I really deserve all this?"

It was a rare—and genuine—moment of humility for the battle-scarred veteran of the air waves. Even the cynics in the audience were moved.

Godfrey has long been noted as a consummate actor, a charmer who can turn on the guile—and turn it off—as any occasion demands. But it was, or so it seemed, a new and different Godfrey who stood before this audience of peers, awkwardly telling them that he was grateful for their esteem.

Since that January evening, a new and different Godfrey has indeed emerged from the tough, sometimes ruthless personality the public has come to know—the Godfrey who fired all of the "little Godfreys" of his radio and TV shows until there were none; the Godfrey who has battled and taunted network and sponsor; the Godfrey who has been something of an emperor.

The Arthur Godfrey of today is a more placid Godfrey—more gentle, more kindly, more understanding. It is a Godfrey entirely in consonance with another image—a man who, less than a year and a half ago, walked out of the shadow of death after an operation for lung cancer.

As the famed entertainer approaches his 57th birthday on August 31, he is a man happier—and at greater peace with himself—than he has ever been before.

"You know, life becomes a very simple proposition when you don't know how long you're going to be around," he told me in one of the few interviews he has granted since his cancer ordeal. "Things that used to seem important just aren't."

He is constantly aware of the "lucky break" he got through survival, and he means to make himself worthy of it.

"I got the break because of the great skill and courage of my physicians and because so many people prayed for it," he says. "I'll have to admit that I didn't pray for it, because I never ask anything for myself. Besides, I've already had too many breaks. I only ask to be worthy of whatever is granted."

Paradoxical as it may seem, Godfrey is more intent on keeping active since his operation, simply because he feels it is the best way to demonstrate his gratitude for being alive.

EACH DAY is more precious to him, and he goes about his work with an enthusiasm that awes even his closest associates. He is seen only occasionally now on television, in which he had been a fixture for 10 seasons. However, he is completely occupied in radio, the medium that launched him in October, 1929.

"I love this work. I love every minute of it," he says. "People have suggested that maybe it's time I thought of retirement. Me retire? Not till they put me away. To retire is to grow old, and I don't want to grow old ever. I do want to live a long time, because there is so much worth doing.

"My way of relaxing," he adds, "is not to do nothing, but to do something else. I find it very stimulating and restful at the same time."

Godfrey pointed out that, aside from his five-day-a-week schedule on CBS radio, he devotes many hours to his large Hereford ranch in Virginia, riding and breeding horses, piloting his airplane, and exploring progressive jazz which he has recently grown interested in.

His day usually begins at 9 in the morning and doesn't end until after 6 in the evening. He admits being a perfectionist about his radio program but describes his day as having "far less work and far more fun" than it had when he was a regular both on TV and radio. The reason: he feels closer to the audience and the people he works with.

"It takes from four to five hours a day to put the radio show together," he says. "Sometimes that easygoing sound comes hard. It's like pulling teeth if you're not in the right mood. You have to sit and noodle with the boys in the band for hours before the right feeling comes along. When it does, as it usually does, it's nothing but fun.

"The show also gives me a chance to meet a lot of people I might miss otherwise. Nearly every day an important guest drops in and we chat. No notes, no rigged questions, no rehearsal. Just an hour of getting acquainted. It's great!"

GODFREY TALKS freely about cancer, from which he has been declared "pathologically free."

"It may be some time before the researchers, with all their diligence, find the cure or, even more important, the preventive for cancer, but that doesn't mean that we should go around being afraid of it," he says. "The sooner cancer can be discovered and diagnosed, the quicker it can be removed surgically, and removal means the difference between life and death for the patient if accomplished in time. So, we must learn to live with this cancer menace. We mustn't fear it.

"The doctors have told me to go in peace," Godfrey says. "That's what I'm trying to do—in everything I do."

ARTHUR GODFREY'S LESSON IN LIFE

He is not the "Old Redhead" any more; the controversial star who celebrates his 57th birthday this week has been mellowed and relaxed by his ordeal with cancer

By HERBERT KAMM

AT ITS ANNUAL dinner in New York last January, the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences saluted Arthur Godfrey with a salvo of tributes and presented him with a plaque for 30 years of distinguished service to radio and television.

When the irrepressible redhead rose to acknowledge the honor, he found himself in the unusual predicament of groping for words. Finally, as he stood scratching his head in characteristic fashion, he blurted: "Golly, do I really deserve all this?"

It was a rare—and genuine—moment of humility for the battle-scarred veteran of the air waves. Even the cynics in the audience were moved.

Godfrey has long been noted as a consummate actor, a charmer who can turn on the guile—and turn it off—as any occasion demands. But it was, or so it seemed, a new and different Godfrey who stood before this audience of peers, awkwardly telling them that he was grateful for their esteem.

Since that January evening, a new and different Godfrey has indeed emerged from the tough, sometimes ruthless personality the public has come to know—the Godfrey who fired all of the "little Godfreys" of his radio and TV shows until there were none; the Godfrey who has battled and taunted network and sponsor; the Godfrey who has been something of an emperor.

The Arthur Godfrey of today is a more placid Godfrey—more gentle, more kindly, more understanding. It is a Godfrey entirely in consonance with another image—a man who, less than a year and a half ago, walked out of the shadow of death after an operation for lung cancer.

As the famed entertainer approaches his 57th birthday on August 31, he is a man happier—and at greater peace with himself—than he has ever been before.

"You know, life becomes a very simple proposition when you don't know how long you're going to be around," he told me in one of the few interviews he has granted since his cancer ordeal. "Things that used to seem important just aren't."

He is constantly aware of the "lucky break" he got through survival, and he means to make himself worthy of it.

"I got the break because of the great skill and courage of my physicians and because so many people prayed for it," he says. "I'll have to admit that I didn't pray for it, because I never ask anything for myself. Besides, I've already had too many breaks. I only ask to be worthy of whatever is granted."

Paradoxical as it may seem, Godfrey is more intent on keeping active since his operation, simply because he feels it is the best way to demonstrate his gratitude for being alive.

EACH DAY is more precious to him, and he goes about his work with an enthusiasm that awes even his closest associates. He is seen only occasionally now on television, in which he had been a fixture for 10 seasons. However, he is completely occupied in radio, the medium that launched him in October, 1929.

"I love this work. I love every minute of it," he says. "People have suggested that maybe it's time I thought of retirement. Me retire? Not till they put me away. To retire is to grow old, and I don't want to grow old ever. I do want to live a long time, because there is so much worth doing.

"My way of relaxing," he adds, "is not to do nothing, but to do something else. I find it very stimulating and restful at the same time."

Godfrey pointed out that, aside from his five-day-a-week schedule on CBS radio, he devotes many hours to his large Hereford ranch in Virginia, riding and breeding horses, piloting his airplane, and exploring progressive jazz which he has recently grown interested in.

His day usually begins at 9 in the morning and doesn't end until after 6 in the evening. He admits being a perfectionist about his radio program but describes his day as having "far less work and far more fun" than it had when he was a regular both on TV and radio. The reason: he feels closer to the audience and the people he works with.

"It takes from four to five hours a day to put the radio show together," he says. "Sometimes that easygoing sound comes hard. It's like pulling teeth if you're not in the right mood. CAN YOU TRUST YOUR COPS?

After reading about the Chicago police scandal, some citizens said, "It can't happen in my town!" But can they be sure? Hadn't they better take a hard look at local law enforcement – and themselves?

By JOSEPH N. BELL

A SALESMAN caught speeding on Chicago's Lake Shore Drive recently wasn't particularly concerned. He folded a $5 bill confidently inside his driver's license and passed it unhesitatingly to the arresting officer.

The policeman looked at the money and asked belligerently: "What's this?"

Puzzled, the salesman answered: "For you. Isn't that the way it works?"

A few hours later, the salesman was released after posting bond on a charge of attempted bribery of a police officer. He was indignant and confused. He'd been fixing speeding tickets in Chicago this way for years, he said, and he didn't understand the sudden show of morality.

This particular salesman hadn't been in Chicago for six months, nor had he been reading Chicago newspapers. Otherwise he would have known better. The lid is on in Chicago; how long it stays on depends to a very large extent on Chicago's new superintendent of police—a gaunt, incisive teacher and criminologist named Orlando Wilson, who was brought in to clean up the police force after even hardened Chicagoans were forced to swallow a dose of corruption they couldn't digest.

The event that triggered the current police reform in Chicago was the arrest of a 23-year-old burglar named Richard Morrison. Facing a stiff sentence for a lucrative series of thefts, Morrison decided to implicate his confederates. They turned out to be 13 Chicago police officers.

For more than a year, the cops had placed orders with Morrison for merchandise, then stood guard outside while he burgled stores the policemen were supposed to be protecting. He got them television sets, antifreeze, golf clubs, and shoes—among other things. Much of the loot was recovered from the homes of some of the accused policemen, where it had been hidden.

Morrison's disclosures encouraged other Chicagoans who had been victimized by cops to come forward. The inventory of venality grew daily; cops were accused of planning a kidnap-robbery, shaking down numerous criminal suspects, looting warehouses, accepting bribes for perjured testimony, fixing tickets, and a broad and imaginative range of other criminal activities.

The list is still growing.

Reform Movement Begins

Chicago citizens—moribund through decades of growing police corruption—demanded action, and kept the pressure on Mayor Richard Daley to appoint a new police superintendent. Last spring, Orlando Wilson—who had served as chairman of the committee selected by Daley to find a new superintendent—severed his ties with the University of California, where he was dean of the school of criminology, and took on the job himself. Committee members insisted he was the best-qualified man available for the job, and Chicago citizens are willing to accept this verdict.

What Orlando Wilson found in the first weeks of his new job, and how he plans to bring order back into Chicago's chaotic police situation, are matters of interest to every community throughout the nation.

Why is this true?

"The factors responsible for the moral breakdown that spread through parts of the Chicago Police Department are not peculiar to Chicago," says Superintendent Wilson. "They exist in varying degrees in many communities."

What kind of moral climate permitted police corruption to flourish in Chicago—and could well nurture the same disease in your town? Three rather broad areas of moral blight emerge from a hindsight examination of the Chicago scandals:

1. The Built-In System.

Here's a rookie policeman, young, eager, reasonably idealistic, proud of the badge he's wearing. All his life he's dreamed about being a police officer. He sees himself on the threshold of an admirable career in public service, with unlimited opportunity for advancement if he does his job well—which he intends to do. Then he bumps headlong into "the system."

He's assigned to an outlying district and paired with an old-time cop who talks out of the side of his mouth and wears dirty shirts.

Their conversations turn more and more frequently to the plight of the policemen—the low pay in relation to the danger and long years of unrecognized public service.

One night they curb a drunken driver in a Cadillac. The old-timer gets in the car with the drunk and drives him home; the rookie follows in the squad car.

He sees money exchange hands as the older cop helps the drunk into his house. When the old-timer comes out, he slips a $10 bill into the rookie's hand and says: "This is your cut."

The rookie refuses the money, and the old-timer looks at him pityingly. "Don't fight it," he says. "It won't do you any good. It's the system. Everybody does it. It's the only way we've got of building our pay up to what it should be."

If the rookie does fight it, word gets around and he is warned to "go along with the system."

This leaves him three choices: he can throw in with the corrupt policemen; he can quit; or he can live an uneasy existence trying to be honest in the midst of corruption. Many of those who choose the latter course become cynical and disillusioned enough that they go "on the take" themselves. This is the built-in system; it had been operating in Chicago for years.

Destroy "the System"

Wilson is attacking it in several ways. He is a strong advocate of patrolmen working alone because he feels there is much less temptation for a lone cop to become involved in small delinquencies. He also has stopped the sale of tickets to charity affairs by Chicago policemen, a task that has now been taken over by local newspapers.

"I believe," says Wilson, "that a policeman should not, at any time, at any place, for any purpose, nor under any circumstances, accept money from a citizen."

2. Public Laxness.

A northwest-side social organization consists mainly of white-collar workers who enjoy an evening of poker and a handball session once a week. They're generally decent, well-meaning men who provide a small college scholarship for the son of one of their members.

They found expenses were outstripping income, and didn't want to raise membership dues. In this dilemma, one of the members came up with a solid idea. He had some "connections" through which he could get a slot machine. The owners of the machine would take a small cut off the top; the rest of the profits would belong to the social club.

The machine was installed, and the club's debts disappeared. A second machine was brought in, and dues were reduced. A few weeks behind the second machine came a pair of police officers on whose beat the club was located.

"Those machines are illegal, you know that," they said.

"Sure," answered the club president, "but it's for a good cause—kids and all that. Why don't you guys drop in for a drink and a sandwich on the house once in a while?"

This sort of thing goes on hundreds of thousands of times every year all over America. The public gets just about what it demands in a police force. Policemen, says Wilson, are "subject to the usual frailties of mankind."

Stop "Influencing" Policemen

Another nail is driven inexorably into the coffin of public morality every time a motorist tries to buy off a traffic cop, a businessman seeks special privileges by slipping money to the policeman on the beat, an officeholder tries to help a constituent circumvent the law, or a parent attempts to buy his child's way out of trouble.

3. Outside Influence on the Police Department.

A local politician serves on the board of directors of a harness-racing track licensed by the state to operate for three weeks each summer. The politician is able to arrange it so that a dozen off-duty policemen can make some extra money directing traffic at the track. They're grateful to him, and he sees to it that when there are openings for promotions on the force, "his boys" get their proper share.

Al Capone once boasted that he gave $30 million a year as payoff money to politicians and public officials. Obviously, as long as these politicians controlled police appointees and promotions, as they did in Chicago, they could guarantee immunity to anyone who paid the price. This system is so deeply rooted in Chicago that it will be a long and arduous job to dig it out. And Wilson is aware of this.

Has Attack Plan

How does Wilson plan to go about the massive task of cleaning out the deep-set dry rot in Chicago law enforcement?

His program encompasses six major steps, all of which he considers essential in building and maintaining an effective, incorruptible police force in any community—including yours:

—Establishment of an undercover intelligence unit within the police department to investigate in complete confidence the activities of known criminals and complaints against police officers. (Do you know what happens to police complaints in your town?)

—Requirement of regular reports from patrolmen to "force them to recognize and bring into the open any doubtful activities on their beats." (Is it easy for your police to overlook "friendly" violations—and are you ever a party to them?)

—Removal of police from political influence. "There should be no unwholesome sponsorship to get on the force nor help to get promotions," says Wilson. "The entire department must be operated strictly on a merit basis." (How are your police selected and promoted?)

—Establishment of an effective training program to educate rookie policemen to their responsibilities and instruct them on how to go about their work. (Are your local cops adequately trained in law enforcement?)

—Hiring of responsible and experienced police administrators, in whom there is no question of integrity or leadership qualities. (Are you aware of the qualifications of your local police officials?)

Build a Tradition

—Building a tradition of pride in the police force. Wilson considers this the single most important element in a strong, honest, effective police department. To achieve it, he suggests high police standards, a thorough investigation of every police applicant, adequate salaries ("but you can't buy honesty and integrity"), merit promotions, and a general upgrading of the prestige of law-enforcement officers.

"Policemen," Wilson insists, "must be neat spiritually and morally. And above all, they should be gentlemen. A tough man is an insecure man."

Armed with this blueprint, the citizens of a community must do the rest. They can expect effective, incorruptible police protection only if they supply the moral climate and necessary tax money to make it possible. And this isn't being done in far too many American towns.

Complacency isn't the answer in your town—or any town. Those Americans who read about the Chicago police scandals and say placidly, "It can't happen here," should take another tack. They should have a hard look at their own law-enforcement agencies and their own moral climate in the light of Superintendent Wilson's analysis of the causes of Chicago's shame.

THE LETTER you didn't write dims the light for a lonely friend.

The phone call you didn't make is a soundless void for someone who loves you.

The flowers you didn't send are immortal, but death came to the woman who never received them.

For the crime of thoughtlessness, remorse seems a mild penalty.

I didn't write the letter. I didn't make the phone call. I didn't send the flowers. The friend is lonely still. The loved one is far away. My flowers mark a grave.

Perhaps all this would not be so poignant except for a letter which came to me today. I had managed to send a brief note to a girl in a hospital. It was a mere acknowledgment of her misfortune, written in the time it would take me to change my nail polish.

But this is what she wrote to me:

"Your letter came on my very lowest day. It's surprising what a kind word from another person can do for one's morale. You go along from day to day thinking that sometimes life isn't very rewarding, and then someone lets you know that you are appreciated. I think we all need that once in a while."

I think I needed her letter more than she needed mine. I needed to be reminded that I am well and that my life is filled with happiness and contentment and love and, often, joy. I needed to be reminded that, in these riches of my heart, there is ample room for the lonely and the ill and the tired. Only by remembering that are my riches truly mine.

The letter from the girl in the hospital had one last paragraph. I hope I never forget it.

"God put us on earth to love and care for one another. How wonderful it would be if only everyone could realize that life is so terribly short and that we could gain so much by helping each other."

I was just thinking...

THE LETTER you didn't write dims the light for a lonely friend.

The phone call you didn't make is a soundless void for someone who loves you.

The flowers you didn't send are immortal, but death came to the woman who never received them.

For the crime of thoughtlessness, remorse seems a mild penalty.

I didn't write the letter. I didn't make the phone call. I didn't send the flowers. The friend is lonely still. The loved one is far away. My flowers mark a grave.

Perhaps all this would not be so poignant except for a letter which came to me today. I had managed to send a brief note to a girl in a hospital. It was a mere acknowledgment of her misfortune, written in the time it would take me to change my nail polish.

But this is what she wrote to me:

Enjoy Your Boat But Play It Safe

1. Learn to swim. Be sure all passengers can swim or have life preservers handy.

2. Carry an approved life vest, cushion, or jacket for each person. Children should wear theirs while aboard.

3. Have all required equipment — lights, horn, life preservers, and approved fire extinguisher — plus spare parts and tools, first-aid kit, anchor and line, bilge pump, compass, and distress flares.

4. Step into the middle of a small boat and keep all weight low and well balanced. Never stand up suddenly.

5. Gas up only in approved manner. Smell bilges for gas vapor before starting engine.

6. Never overload the boat.

7. Don't overpower craft by using too large an engine. Travel through harbor areas slowly so your wake does not disturb other boats. You are legally responsible for your wake.

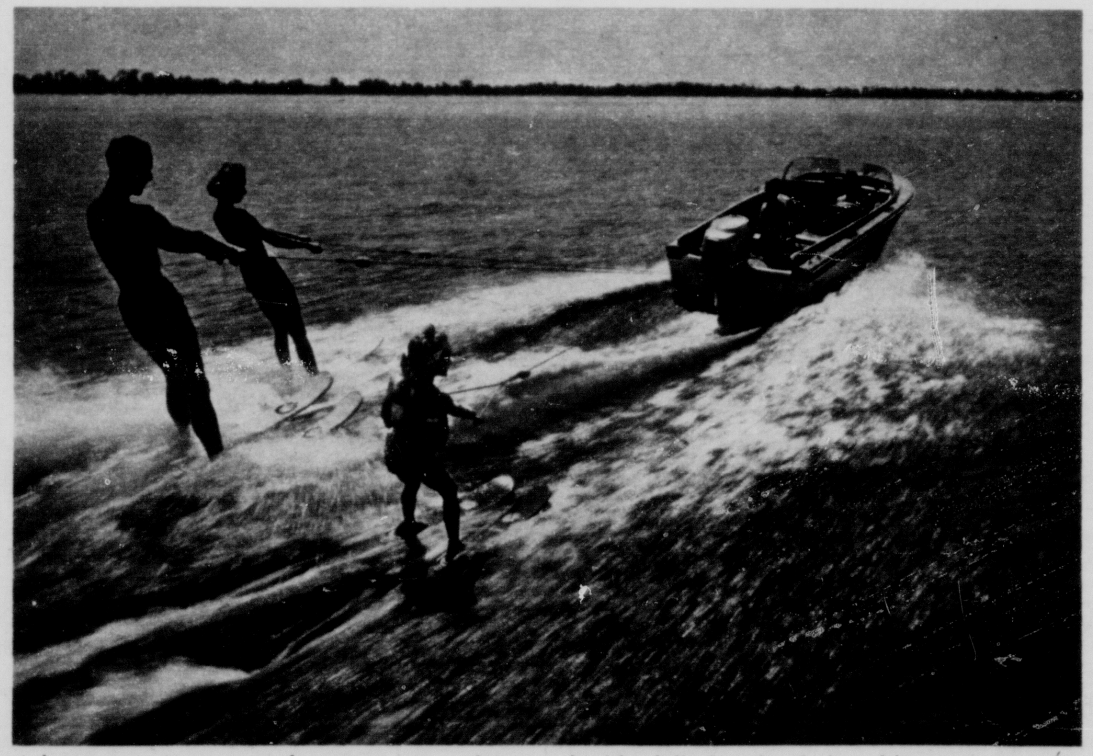
8. Don't challenge threatening weather. Stay in port.

9. Remain with the boat if it capsizes. Shore may be much farther away than it appears.

10. Learn seamanship. Obey piloting rules of the road.

10 WAYS TO MAKE BOATING MORE FUN

Here's a fast-growing sport without limits of enjoyment—if you know how to get the most out of your boat and your budget



A boat can give you a chance at water-skiing, a highly skilled and unbelievably exciting sport.

EDITOR, POPULAR BOATING

WITH THE BIG BOOM in boating, both experienced hands and beginning sailors are finding new ways to enjoy America's waterways. Literally millions of families are taking to the water, and there's no reason why you can't be among them.

The pleasures of boating, of course, are no longer the private property of wealthy yachtsmen in large cruisers or of hardy fishermen in small skiffs. Now Dad and Mom and the youngsters all go afloat and share the inexpensive pleasures of this happy pastime. And there's no end to the wonderful adventures they can find.

If you haven't taken up boating, you're missing a lot. And if you have, make sure you're getting all the fun you can. Here's a check list on how to get the most out of your present or future boat.

Whether you want to fish or loaf, a boat and calm weather are unbeatable allies.

1 Start Boating on a Budget —It now costs less to do more on the water than ever before. Boats, like everything else, are more expensive than 20 years ago. But the average small boat is now better, faster, safer, and easier to maintain.

Time was when you needed to figure 25 percent of your purchase cost would be spent each year in upkeep. You can still pay that much, and more, if you want to. But new methods in fiber glass, metal, and wood make boats last longer for less.

Buy a runabout or small cruiser and you'll find your yearly dollars will go for summer parties and picnics aboard, instead of big bills for winter upkeep. Put camping and sleeping equipment aboard and you can really save money on an extended cruise.

2 Go Farther Afield Afloat —You no longer need to stay this side of the breakwater. Today's pleasure craft are designed to find if the water and skies are really bluer beyond the bend in the river, and they will safely take your family out to new waterways inshore or offshore. Now you can explore far from home and still get back quickly if weather threatens.

3 Don't Forget Your Friends — Large cockpits in small boats provide room to bring along a party. And if you're crowded, you can pull up for a picnic on a stretch of deserted shore. Your youngsters won't get restless if they can invite playmates along, and you'll find your own fun heightened by entertaining aboard.

4 Try a Trailer — If you're an exception to the 1,750,000 boatmen who roll down highways to the water, you're missing a lot. Towing your boat behind your car can open up the whole continent.

The new boatman will find that hauling his craft on a trailer means he can be on the water within 24 hours or less, no matter where he lives in the U.S. In the same way, wheels enable the old salt on the seacoast to discover the wonders of inland waters and the fresh-water man to explore the ocean's grandeur for variety.

5 Get Away from It All for Swimming — Bathing from a crowded beach will be a thing of the past once you take to the water by boat. You can choose your own private swimming hole in deep or shallow water, and youngsters can be safely supervised by parents partying aboard the anchored boat. Put the smallest one in a life jacket and tether him to the end of a floating ski towline. If he gets too far away, he can be hauled back in.

6 Go Camping by Boat — No craft today is too small to carry sleeping bags and air mattresses. If you don't have room to stretch them out aboard, you can pull up on a beach and camp ashore.

Convertible tops and seats that fold down into bunks make many a modern runabout into a miniature cruiser. It may not be the height of luxury, but calculate the money you can save over several nights ashore at a resort.

If cooking afloat sounds like a problem, precook some meals at home for simple warming up aboard, or plan your trip for mealtime stop-offs ashore.

7 Speed Up with Skis—There's no limit to this swift sport, and any runabout or cruiser which can do 15 miles an hour or more can take a group of happy water skiers in tow. You need only a little instruction to get started, and soon you may be teaching it yourself. You'll find a rearview mirror handy for the driver, and you also should have an observer along facing aft to keep an eye on the skier. Don't ski near swimmers or through crowded anchorages — and don't ski at night.

8 Get Started Skin-Diving —With your boat anchored in clear water as a diving platform, your whole family can start out with face masks and flippers to explore the underwater world. Next, move up to experiments with a snorkel, and then self-contained underwater breathing apparatus. Later, you'll want to try some underwater photography.

9 Racing for Slow Boats — In the "predicted-log contest," navigational skill and seamanship rather than speed win the prizes. Each skipper estimates his time to various check points, and then runs them without reference to a watch while an observer records how well he did. Accuracy counts rather than fast running, and each contestant selects in advance a comfortable cruising speed. As a result, the predicted-log contest can include a large variety of power craft, and the whole family can be aboard to take part in the event.

10 Bring Your Hobbies Afloat—One more happy advantage of boating is the ability of the sport to combine with many other interests. Hunting, fishing, sketching, geology, bird-watching, photography — whatever your hobby is, boating may come closest to letting you and your family have your cake and eat it, too.

If you haven't yet joined the estimated seven million boatowners around the country, chances are that for one or all of the 10 reasons mentioned here you'll want to give pleasure-boating a try soon.

TO PREPARE: 20 MIN. (ALLOW 30 MIN. FOR MARINATING)

1½ tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 tablespoons cooking oil
½ clove garlic, crushed
6 slices bacon, cut in thirds
1 5-oz. can water chestnuts, drained

1. Rinse chicken livers with cold water; drain on absorbent paper. Cut into halves into a bowl. Pour a mixture of the honey, soy sauce, cooking oil, and garlic over livers; cover. Let stand about 30 min., turning occasionally. Remove livers from marinade and drain on absorbent paper.

2. Wrap a piece of bacon around a piece of chicken liver; secure on small skewer. Insert a water chestnut on skewer; repeat with another chicken liver and water chestnut.

3. Grill until bacon is cooked, carefully turning and brushing with marinade. Remove appetizers to a warm platter and serve immediately.

About 1½ doz. appetizers

Savory Barbecued Chicken

TO PREPARE: 20 MIN.

Savory Barbecue Sauce

3 broiler chickens, each 1½ lbs. ready-to-cook weight, cut in halves

1. Clean, rinse, and pat chicken dry with absorbent paper.

2. Place chicken, cut side down, on greased grill about 6 in. from coals. Grill, turning and brushing frequently with the sauce, until chicken is tender.

6 servings

For Savory Barbecue Sauce (about 2½ cups)—Heat 1 tablespoon butter in a heavy saucepan. Add ½ cup chopped onion and cook until onion is soft. Add 1 cup catsup, ¾ cup cider vinegar, ½ cup water, ½ cup light molasses, 1 env. garlic salad-dressing mix, and 2 beef bouillon cubes. Bring to boiling, stirring gently. Reduce heat and simmer 15 min., or until sauce is slightly thickened.

Vegetable-Salad Platter

In separate saucepans, cook green beans, carrot halves, and 3-in. celery pieces until crisp-tender. Drain and chill. Cook cauliflowerets until just tender. Drain and chill. Meanwhile, prepare 1 env. onion salad-dressing mix according to directions on package. When ready to serve, line a serving platter with crisp lettuce and arrange chilled vegetables and tomato slices on lettuce. Serve with the salad dressing.

Appetites are heartier when food is served out on the lawn. Rumaki, barbecued chicken, chilled vegetables with an onion salad dressing, rye bread, and a tangerine-flavored beverage will appeal to everyone.

Potato Loaf

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO HEAT: 45 MIN.

(Prepare one day in advance of serving)

5 cups cubed cooked potatoes (about 6 medium-size potatoes)
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 cup (about 4 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

1. Line bottom and sides of a 9½x5½x2¾-in. loaf pan with waxed paper. Set aside.

2. Melt butter in a saucepan. Blend in a mixture of the flour, salt, and pepper. Heat until mixture bubbles, stirring constantly; remove from heat. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Bring rapidly to boiling; cook 1 to 2 min. longer. Stir in the parsley, pimiento, and onion. Pour over cubed potatoes and toss lightly to mix thoroughly. Turn into prepared pan. Chill in refrigerator overnight.

3. Unmold potato loaf onto a buttered heatproof platter; remove waxed paper.

4. Heat in a 350°F oven 30 min. Remove from oven; sprinkle cheese evenly on top of loaf. Return to oven and heat 15 min. longer, or until cheese is melted. Serve immediately.

Fresh Peach Ice Cream

TO PREPARE: 40 MIN. TO RIPEN: 2-3 HRS.

12 medium-size (about 3 lbs.) ripe peaches
2¾ cups sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ qts. cream, chilled
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon almond extract
¼ teaspoon salt

1. Wash and scald cover, container, and dasher of a 4-qt. ice cream freezer. Chill thoroughly before using. Crushed ice and rock salt will be needed.

2. Dip peaches into boiling water; plunge into cold water. Gently slip off skins; cut into halves and remove pits. Force peaches through a sieve or food mill into a bowl. Stir sugar and lemon juice into peaches. Let stand 15 to 20 min.

3. Blend together the cream, vanilla and almond extracts, and salt. Blend into peach mixture.

4. Fill freezer container two-thirds full with ice-cream mixture. Cover tightly. Set in freezer tub. (For electric freezer, follow manufacturer's directions.) Fill tub with alternate layers of crushed ice and rock salt, using 8 parts crushed ice and 1 part rock salt. Turn handle slowly 5 min. Turn rapidly until handle becomes difficult to turn (about 15 min.). Add ice and salt as necessary.

5. Carefully wipe cover and remove dasher. Pack down ice cream and cover with waxed paper, aluminum foil, or moisture-vaporproof material. Replace cover and fill opening for dasher with cork. Repack freezer with alternate layers of ice and salt, using 4 parts ice and 1 part rock salt. Cover with heavy paper or cloth. Allow to stand 2 to 3 hrs. to ripen. About 3 qts. ice cream

Chocolate-Pecan Cookies

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO BAKE: 20-25 MIN.

2 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar
⅔ cup (about 4 oz.) semisweet chocolate pieces
⅔ cup pecans, coarsely chopped
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

1. Line cookie sheets with unglazed paper. Set aside.

2. Beat egg whites, salt, and cream of tartar until frothy. Add sugar gradually, beating until stiff peaks are formed and egg whites do not slide when bowl is partially inverted. Fold in the chocolate pieces, nuts, and vanilla extract.

3. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls about 2 in. apart onto prepared cookie sheets.

4. Bake at 300°F 20 to 25 min.

5. Remove from oven. Transfer cookies to cooling racks. Store in a cool place in a tightly covered container. About 2 doz. cookies

Appetites are heartier when food is served out on the lawn. Rumaki, barbecued chicken, chilled vegetables with an onion salad dressing, rye bread, and a tangerine-flavored beverage will appeal to everyone.

Potato Loaf

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO HEAT: 45 MIN.

(Prepare one day in advance of serving)

- 3 cups cubed cooked potatoes (about 6 medium-size potatoes)
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 2 tablespoons grated onion
- 1 cup (about 4 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

1. Line bottom and sides of a 9½x5½x2¾-in. loaf pan with waxed paper. Set aside.

2. Melt butter in a saucepan. Blend in a mixture of the flour, salt, and pepper. Heat until mixture bubbles, stirring constantly; remove from heat. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Bring rapidly to boiling; cook 1 to 2 min. longer. Stir in the parsley, pimiento, and onion. Pour over cubed potatoes and toss lightly to mix thoroughly. Turn into prepared pan. Chill in refrigerator overnight.

3. Unmold potato loaf onto a buttered heatproof platter; remove waxed paper.

4. Heat in a 350°F oven 30 min. Remove from oven; sprinkle cheese evenly on top of loaf. Return to oven and heat 15 min. longer, or until cheese is melted. Serve immediately.

6 servings

Fresh Peach Ice Cream

TO PREPARE: 40 MIN. TO RIPEN: 2-3 HRS.

- 12 medium-size (about 3 lbs.) ripe peaches
- 2¼ cups sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1½ qts. cream, chilled
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- ¼ teaspoon salt

1. Wash and scald cover, container, and dasher of a 4-qt. ice cream freezer. Chill thoroughly before using. Crushed ice and rock salt will be needed.

2. Dip peaches into boiling water; plunge into cold water. Gently slip off skins; cut into halves and remove pits. Force peaches through a sieve or food mill into a bowl. Stir sugar and lemon juice into peaches. Let stand 15 to 20 min.

3. Blend together the cream, vanilla and almond extracts, and salt. Blend into peach mixture.

4. Fill freezer container two-thirds full with ice-cream mixture. Cover tightly. Set in freezer tub. (For electric freezer, follow manufacturer's directions.) Fill tub with alternate layers of crushed ice and rock salt, using 8 parts crushed ice and 1 part rock salt. Turn handle slowly 5 min. Turn rapidly until handle becomes difficult to turn (about 15 min.). Add ice and salt as necessary.

5. Carefully wipe cover and remove dasher. Pack down ice cream and cover with waxed paper, aluminum foil, or moisture-vaporproof material. Replace cover and fill opening for dasher with cork. Repack freezer with alternate layers of ice and salt, using 4 parts ice and 1 part rock salt. Cover with heavy paper or cloth. Allow to stand 2 to 3 hrs. to ripen.

WAKE UP RARIN' TO GO

Without Nagging Backache

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains, 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation, 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. New, large size saves money. Get Doan's Pills today!

So You Think You Can't Save Money?

It's all a matter of finding a way to spend less than you earn. Millions of people have discovered a good way to do just that. They use the Payroll Savings Plan to buy U. S. Savings Bonds. Under the Plan any amount they choose is set aside from their pay for Bonds. This makes saving very easy because they've found that the money they don't touch is money they're sure to save—and can't dribble away.

My Mother Saved My Life

A near-miracle

teaches a boy the meaning and strength of love

By CHARLES TROTTER as told to John M. Ross

IT WAS A quiet but busy Sunday at our home in Tampa, Fla. Mom was helping my stepfather, Maxwell Rogers, with the heavy bookkeeping involved in his work as a newspaper circulation manager. My sister, Patricia, who's 10, was playing with her friends next door, and I was working on our station wagon in the back yard.

When I became old enough to apply for my junior driver's license, I made an agreement with my parents. For permission to drive the family car, I promised to wash and lubricate it regularly and do other maintenance jobs. It was a good deal. Like most 16-year-old fellows, I really love to putter around a car.

That afternoon we were planning to do some fishing off the Skyway Bridge, where trout and sheepshead were running big. While I waited for my parents to finish their work, I decided to grease the car. To work on the universal joints, I had blocked the front wheels and jacked up the rear. My job was going along nicely until I jerked the wrench while trying to tighten a nut. The sudden jolt caused the jack to slip from under the bumper, and in the next instant the car pinned my right leg to the ground. Pain shot through my body like a bolt of lightning, and I cried out for help.

Little Patricia and her friends, who were nearby, ran into the house, screaming. Mom and Dad came on the double. Dad, sizing up the situation quickly, did what any average man would do—he went for the jack, knowing it was the only way to lift the car. Mom is a licensed practical nurse, hardened to crises, but now she was almost hysterical. Hearing my screams, she reacted desperately. Without waiting for Dad to reset the jack, Mom simply grabbed the bumper with both hands and lifted. The car rose! I pulled out my leg and scrambled from under the car to safety.

"Are you all right, son?" Mom gasped, her face strained with pain.

I started to answer, but Mom collapsed.

At the hospital, X rays disclosed that Mom had broken her back in saving me. The tremendous strain of lifting the car had caused a compression fracture, with one vertebra crushed. Luckily, there was no paralysis, and the doctors said that after six months in a brace Mom would be as good as new. Strangely enough, I received only a few minor cuts and bruises.

Of course, it's a well-known fact that the body is capable of superhuman feats in an emergency. But in lifting a 3,300-pound car, Mom amazed even the medical experts. For one thing, Mom, who stands about 5-feet-7, weighs only 123 pounds. She's not only slim, she's not particularly strong. In fact, for two weeks just prior to the accident, Mom had been ill at home, recovering from a rheumatic disorder of the left knee.

I suppose people will go on wondering just how Mom did lift that car. But I think she has the best explanation for it.

"God, the most powerful force of all," she says, "gave me the strength."

This wasn't the first time Mom came to my rescue. But it was the first time I understood what her courage and strength have done for me, not just that day but while I was growing up. Why, she saved my life when I was four years old. I'd been walking along the edge of a pond, playing carelessly. Suddenly I lost my footing and fell into the water, going completely under. Luckily, Mom was only a few steps away. She plunged into the pond, pulled me from the bottom, and quickly surfaced. Then she gave me artificial respiration until I was able to breathe again.

LIKE ALL CHILDREN, I also remember the times when I became ill and Mom would sit at my bedside through the night, giving up her own sleep to keep careful check on my progress. And, of course, she's always been ready to lend a patient ear and a comforting word to my problems. As I've said, like most boys I've always taken Mom for granted. But I sure won't any more.

In grammar school we were asked to learn a poem or famous saying that would be appropriate for Mother's Day. I especially remember one that went:

He invented Mothers."

I don't know who wrote it or when it was written, but I'm sure the author must have meant it especially for Florence Rogers—my Mom.

Concentration!

By Jane McHenry

This is a family game for all but the littlest ones. Seat everyone around a table and spread a deck of cards face down so they don't overlap. The first player picks a card, turns it right side up, and selects a second one, hoping it will have the same number. If they don't match, he turns them face down again in the exact former location, and the turn passes to the next player. Everyone tries to remember each number that turns up and where it is on the table in case he needs it for matching later on. This is where the concentration comes in. If a lucky player turns up a matching card, he removes the pair to his side and takes another turn. When all the cards are gone, the player with the most pairs wins.

Button Ticktacktoe

By Donovan A. Moore

You can make a permanent ticktacktoe board that can be used over and over. Get a piece of cardboard about the size of a sheet of typewriter paper. Take a piece of black crayon and, using a ruler, draw a large ticktacktoe diagram on the board. When you are ready to play, use buttons instead of making circles and crosses with pencil. This saves paper. One person can use black buttons and the other white. The winner is the one who can get three buttons of his color in a row. Keep score of the number of games won by each player.

A Corny Problem

By Maude E. Hallmer

Can you help this little squirrel solve a problem? There were six ears of corn in a hollow stump. If he took out three ears a day, how long do you think it took the squirrel to carry them all out?

Answer: Six days. The catch is the word ears. The squirrel takes out two ears on his head and one ear of corn each day; therefore it takes him six days.

By Jane McHenry

This is a family game for all but the littlest ones. Seat everyone around a table and spread a deck of cards face down so they don't overlap. The first player picks a card, turns it right side up, and selects a second one, hoping it will have the same number. If they don't match, he turns them face down again in the exact former location, and the turn passes to the next player. Everyone tries to remember each number that turns up and where it is on the table in case he needs it for matching later on. This is where the concentration comes in. If a lucky player turns up a matching card, he removes the pair to his side and takes another turn. When all the cards are gone, the player with the most pairs wins.

Shadow Fun
